STUART R. PADDOCK

Our files show there is a lot of difference in the thinking of municipalities today and 10 years ago. This "expansion fever" has confused the need for dedicating land for future schools or other public purposes as well as the demand for specific building fees to provide new schoolhouses.

There is too much of a race on the part of municipalities to annex the land before a neighboring municipality adds it to its boundaries to worry about the annexation fee which was thought right and proper a few years ago. However, a dedication of land for future schools or other public purpose is still negotiable. Also gone is the demand of a stated building fee to provide new school buildings.

There is something else for our villages to worry about and to which some of the municipalities in Cook County have given little thought—annexation of "twilight areas."

They are annexing a lot of land that they know they will not be able to service today and for many years in the future—they want to get ahead of a neighboring town and beat them to the growth punch. This is usually being done at the request of developers.

It really means they are saddling the original municipal taxpayers with the cost of police, fire protection and other kindred services.

It is easy for the developer to find the money to pay for water and sewer installations today. He knows that sooner or later the municipality will buy him out. When the time comes, it is our taxpayers who will pick up the tab.

It looks to us that some of the municipalities in DuPage County are getting wise to themselves. They are agreeing upon demarcation lines which will serve as the future boundaries in today's adjacent unincorporated areas. If the agreement holds, no developer will be able to pit one village or city against another. He will be forced to do his developing along lines determined by the one municipality and this will put the village—our taxpayers—in the driver's seat.

We do not expect anybody to "cry over spilt milk," but the above paragraphs give added impetus to the need for joint planning by all Cook County municipalities. They all share the same problems; they must share in the sensible solutions.

All is not gold that glitters. The sales tax from Randhurst will be far from all profit for Mount Prospect. Randhurst and Mount Prospect Plaza will be asking for service—and they are entitled to traffic control, police protection and a full time fire department.

Any person who experienced the bumper-to-bumper traffic on Saturday and Sunday on the way to Randhurst knows whereof we are writing. There were no state or local traffic officers on duty.

Paddock Publications was criticized last week because the newspaper had not done something about the weeds on vacant lots within a few blocks of the center of Arlington Heights business district.

The man speaking did not claim that we personally should do the weed cutting. He thought we should do a better job instilling a community spirit that would bring about the end of all weed patches around town.

We do not know how it can be done. We know one owner has placed a value of $80,000 upon one weed patch.

A village can condemn an unsightly building, but how about the weed patch?

There is a big labor shortage in the northwest suburbs—we mean capable persons to perform the everyday jobs in housework, lawn, garden work etc. Again we do not know what can be done about it, but the time is not far distant when that labor will not be content to travel long distances to get to the job.

A PADDOCK EXCLUSIVE

OVERHAUL SLATED FOR STATE ROAD

Improvement Next Spring

The heavily-traveled 2.7 miles of Arlington Heights Road between Central and Higgins is to be resurfaced this fall and then replaced with a $1 million four-lane job next spring.

Marshall Suloway, state highway engineer, announced this week that specifications had been submitted to bidders for resurfacing the bumpy road with asphalt this fall.

"The work will be completed early in the fall and this will put State Road (known also as Arlington Heights Road) in shape for the winter or until the county can rebuild the 2.7 miles," Suloway said.

"THE COUNTY thought it would be able to rebuild the road this year but priorities forced alterations of the plans," Suloway added.

Meanwhile, the Cook County Highway Department, which has the responsibility of replacing worn out roads, announced it was continuing with right-of-way acquisition between Arlington Heights and Elk Grove and that "the way things look now we will be able to start the $1 million rebuilding job next spring."

"At least it is programmed now for a spring start," a county highway spokesman said.

The $1 million project will change the 2.7 miles into a modern four-lane concrete road with a median strip.

THE ROAD HAS been scheduled for improvements or replacement many times in the past few years but has been delayed by many unexplained conditions. The highway engineers blamed "changing priorities" for altering their plans.

In the meantime, the winding, narrow roadway which carries a heavy volume of traffic, has deteriorated to a point where large holes have jarred motorists into demanding that corrective action be taken.

Elk Grove and Arlington Heights civic groups have sought action on the road and in addition, have asked the Tollway Commission to build access ramps to the tollway. But their efforts have been in vain.

MEANWHILE, holes caused by winter erosion have been patched each spring.

Lou Quinlan, highway construction programming engineer for Cook County, gave this statement to Paddock Publications:

"Situations such as these are hard for some to understand. Maintenance of such roads is the state's responsibility. We (the county) build them and the state maintains them.

"Just because the road becomes bumpy is no reason for capital improvements. The bumps are the state's responsibility. In fact, we (the county) can't do anything about the bumps.

"And, another thing. Just because the road is uncomfortable to the public is no reason for rebuilding.

"WE HAVE A budget to work under and such improvements as the $1 million Arlington Heights Road project depend on surveys as to usage. Oakton Street, running through the northern suburbs carries many more cars daily than Arlington Heights road and certainly will get widened at the earliest possible time."

Suloway, the state highway engineer, called Quinlan's statement "rather harsh" and said the definition of responsibility for maintenance varies as to the type of roads.

"However," Suloway added, "we do know the County can't get the work done this summer so that's why we are going to give it the temporary resurfacing."

ANOTHER OFFICIAL in the county highway office — not Quinlan — told Paddock Publications just last weekend that "it would be highly unlikely that the programmed 1963 spring start on the $1 million job would be delayed again."

"We've gone farther than before in making preparations. We have devoted our time in completing the plans. The state has approved them and the money will come from motor vehicle fuel tax funds. Right-of-way acquisition will be completed this year.

"Yes, it's highly unlikely there will be another delay.

"Of course, if the superintendent of highways changes our plans that's something else."

Forest View Opening Is In Doubt

Forest View High School students are being asked to check radio announcements Tuesday morning, Sept. 4, to verify the opening of the new school.

Announcements of possible "vacation" for Forest View students will be carried on radio stations WGN, WMAQ, WIND and WLS. Arlington Heights FM radio station WNWC also will carry announcements.

THE POSSIBLE postponement of opening day will come in spite of completion of the interior of the buildings and necessary outdoor work. School officials decided on the "check" this week when sanitary sewer lines remained disconnected.

The possible delay in opening will affect only Forest View. Students attending Arlington and Prospect High Schools will report on Sept. 4.

Not Worth Much

STATE ROAD IS HEAVILY TRAVELED daily despite its patchwork condition. (See foreground.) County highway department officials promised this week that full repair is "on the way."

Jack Walsh Named To Zoning Board

John J. "Jack" Walsh has moved to membership on the Arlington Heights Zoning Board of Appeals from the village plan commission.

JACK WALSH

The appointment was announced Monday by Village President John G. Woods and concurred in by trustees.

Walsh is 35 years old. He is the owner and manager of Northwest Firestone Inc., 630 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

WALSH IS A director of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, and a member of many local organizations.

He and his wife are the parents of five children.

Walsh served on the plan commission for more than a year. There has been a desire on the village board to have a member with plan commission experience on the zoning board.

Walsh narrowly missed nomination as a candidate for village trustee by the Village Caucus Party prior to the 1961 election.

Builders Submit Comeback Proposal

"If at first you don't succeed. . ."

This ancient adage is being followed by Morris and Henry Green, builders, who were turned down on a proposed subdivision by the Arlington Heights Village Board earlier this month.

Their proposal for a 20-lot subdivision between Campbell and Miner Streets west of Stratford Avenue was rejected because of shallow lots and a narrow street.

BUT VILLAGE officials said they were happy that the Green brothers were trying to develop the area for single-family residence use and urged them to keep trying.

Now the brothers have acquired additional land to the west. Last Wednesday they presented a new plat of subdivision to the plan commission. The new plan calls for 49 lots instead of 20, and no variations from the ordinance will be required, Morris Green said.

The tentative plat was referred to the plat and subdivision subcommittee for its study and a recommendation.

Zoners to Hear Knaack Request

The Arlington Heights Zoning Board has been asked to permit the building at 16 N. Vail St. to be used for the assembly of small ice-making units for soft-drink machines.

The building is the former home of Bill Cook Buick agency, and before that of the Harry Knaack Buick agency. Knaack is the owner of the property.

A public hearing will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, Sept. 10 in the temporary municipal building, 315 N. Highland Ave.

IN HIS LETTER to the zoning board, Knaack said he wished to enter into a long-term lease with the firm which assembles ice-making units.

He said the lessee would require a business office, sales department and engineering department, as well as the space for assembly and testing.

Knaack said all parts would be purchased and no manufacturing would take place.

Close Doors Labor Day

The offices of Paddock Publications, Inc., will be closed all day Monday, Labor Day.

Because of the holiday, all Monday deadlines have been pushed ahead two days to Saturday. Questions regarding the early deadlines may be directed to the Paddock office, CL 3-1520.

All 14 Paddock newspapers will be distributed as usual on Thursday next week.

Loss at $500,000

Polk Fire Is Blamed On Electrical Short

Faulty electrical control boxes probably led to the $500,000 fire that destroyed the Polk Brothers' Palatine appliance store early Monday morning. Investigating fire officials have ruled out arson.

Investigators theorize that intense heat from shorted fuse boxes apparently exploded a safety valve on a propane space heater suspended from the ceiling near the front of the metal building situated on Northwest Highway west of Wilke Road.

The blast ripped a hole in the roof and blew out front display windows, permitting the gas-fed flames to be fanned by 10 mph south winds.

Flames quickly ignited plastic electronic devices on display shelves and spread to a cluster of mezzanine-level offices constructed of wood and other highly combustible materials.

TWO NIGHT watchmen on the premises were not hurt. One Palatine fireman, Mike Bellanca, escaped serious injury when heat-warped roof girders toppled a side wall

Bellanca, playing a stream of water on an office safe, was stunned by two falling cement blocks, one of which struck his helmet, careening off his back.

A large tent 10 feet east of the fire-ravaged structure was miraculously saved in a combined effort of the Palatine and Arlington Heights fire departments. An unestimated amount of appliances were stored in the tent, according to a Polk spokesman.

SAVING OF THE tent—only about seven feet of the canvass was seared—was described by Palatine Fire Chief Orville Helms as a "miracle."

Front of the 75-by-220-foot structure was engulfed in flames when the first Palatine fire trucks arrived, just minutes after the alarm was turned in at 4:47 a. m.

James Conway, 25, of 1206 Forest Trailer Park, Park Ridge, inside watchman, told authorities he was at the rear of the building when he heard a muffled explosion.

CONWAY RAN to the front of the store, saw "thick, black smoke," and fled the building by a side door. As Conway ran from the building, a second watchman came running up with intention of alerting Conway.

The outside watchman, Dewey Giles, 62, of 668 Pearson St., Des Plaines, had gone to the front of the Polk property to pick up a newspaper. Giles told fire officials a muffled blast opened the roof and splintered the windows.

Conway said he did not attempt to fight the fire, although he did take a fire extinguisher off the wall. He phoned in the alarm from the adjacent tent. "I wasn't going back into that building," Conway said later.

AN UNKNOWN semi-trailer truck driver dropped his cargo-loaded trailer and went to the rear of the building where he towed away an empty trailer that was parked at a loading dock. The driver also pulled a panel delivery truck from near the building.

The driver hitched up his own cargo and was gone before anybody could stop to get his name.

Firemen had to stretch 500 feet of hose to reach the nearest fire hydrant, which was on the adjacent CMA property. Arlington Heights had dispatched a tanker and a pumper to the fire scene.

One of the numerous fire trucks sucked the water from a model swimming pool displayed on the east side of the building.

FIREMEN SAID hundreds of phonograph records were melted in big heaps, as were other plastic appliances. The remains of the twisted tin and metal were to have been razed this week, according to store officials.

The Polks were planning to construct an addition to the Palatine store, with work to start as soon as relocated Illinois 53 right-of-way is surveyed.

Loss of merchandise was estimated at $350,000, with the store loss pegged at $150,000.

DAVID YEATS, Palatine trustee and chairman of the financial committee said loss of the Polk sales tax over a 60-day period probably would mean a loss of between $1,500 and $2,000 to Palatine. The Polk Brothers store was recently annexed to Palatine.

Rapisardi said Tuesday that arson "is ruled out unless further routine investigations should turn up information that would suggest the fire was not accidental."

If Strike Comes Off

Alternate Transport Means for Commuters

by JIM CARNS

Over 6,000 Chicago and North Western Railway commuters in the Paddock circulation area, and 70,000 around Chicago, will probably choke other transportation arteries beginning today, Thursday, as the Order of Railroad Telegraphers meets its Thursday morning strike deadline.

There have been three previous postponements on the same issue.

Both union and railway spokesmen Tuesday called the strike highly probable because of the wide gap between bargaining positions, but negotiations, supervised by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, began again Wednesday morning after a telegraphed request to both parties by President John F. Kennedy.

AT PRESS TIME Wednesday negotiations continued, but ORT President George Leighty stressed that nothing short of a signed agreement could stop the strike now.

During the strike, northwest suburban commuters will face the problem of increased traffic loads on transportation channels already operating near or over the recommended capacity.

Chicago and county traffic engineers recommend that North Western commuters switching to auto transportation find alternate routes downtown.

SOME OF THOSE recommended to take the load off of Northwest and Congress Expressways are Rand Road, Northwest Highway, Algonquin and Higgins Roads and the Northwest Tollway.

The Milwaukee Road commuter track, running through Itasca, Wood Dale and Bensenville directly between North Western's Wisconsin and Galena division, is expected to take a heavily increased load.

The United Motor Coach Co., extending only as far as Des Plaines, is also expected to take an increased share of commuter traffic from the Paddock area.

BUT THE commuter dilemma is only one of the problems which stem from such a strike. Stoppage of rail freight service to Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Palatine will mean eventual supply problems to area industry, depending on duration of the strike.

Robert Lowry, Leighty's assistant, said recently pickets would cover North Western buildings and yards "like a blanket"—preventing any train activity, freight or passenger.

The big subdivision proposed northwest of the intersection of Arlington Heights and Hintz Roads finally got approval of the Arlington Heights Village Board at Monday's meeting.

Called Kenroy's Arlington Meadows, the subdivision will have 381 single-family homes.

Questions which had troubled trustees at two previous meetings were answered by Harold E. Carlson, chairman of the plan commission, and Gene Baughman, planning consultant, both of whom had returned from vacations.

THE MAIN question was why the planners had favored the "integration" of R-2 and R-3 zoning for 80 acres of the subdivision.

The "integration" or "averaging" will work like this: the subdivision will be zoned R-3 and will have average lot sizes between the R-2 and R-3 requirements. The sizes will be frozen by restrictive covenant.

The alternative was separate R-2 and R-3 districts.

Baughman said the 80 acres were difficult to lay out. He stated that the "integration" permitted a full street instead of a half street for Hintz Road. Also, it resulted in less of a grid pattern of streets, he declared.

"IT PERMITS heterogeneous development rather than homogeneous," he said, indicating that this was desirable.

He summed up by saying, "I think this is a much better plan than keeping it in two classifications."

The vote was 5-1 with Trustee Eugene Schlickman dissenting.

In previous discussions, Schlickman had criticized the use of restrictive covenants in zoning the property.

HE SAID THEIR use indicated that something is lacking in the zoning ordinance. He also said that a person couldn't tell what rules apply to the property by looking at the zoning map.

The developers are Kenroy Realtors in Lincolnwood. Construction is expected to begin soon and proceed in stages because of the size of the project. The board granted a two-year approval of the tentative plat instead of one year because of the size of the subdivision.

The big majority of the homes will be in the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove elementary school district.

Arlington to Host Demonstration Class

Arlington Heights will be host for a special, free "Kick Off" demonstration of the Gabriel Richard Leadership Course and what it offers Friday, Aug. 31, at 8 p.m. in St. Viator's High School, 1213 E. Oakton.

"The demonstration will be a highly enjoyable experience in the technique of self-expression, confidence-building and personality development," said Class Promoter Matthew F. Teolis, 615 W. Park, Arlington Heights, in announcing details of the course, scheduled to begin Friday, Sept. 21, at St. Viators, and continue for nine successive Friday evenings.

"It is not a lecture session," said Teolis, who also is an assistant class instructor, "but a lively demonstration guaranteed to be fun for all. It will be conducted by Tom Wright of Maywood, and Barney Dahl of Elgin, as well as myself.

"At the conclusion of the demonstration, registrations will be taken for the nine week course. Classes are limited to 35 people, consisting of men and women, and high school and college students. Classes are limited in size so as to assure individual attention, and early registration is extremely important, as classes fill up rapidly. Last spring, for example, the class enrollment was over-subscribed a full 3-weeks before the first session," he said.

Facilities of St. Viators High School are being made possible through the co-operation of the Rev. Charles Williams, and were selected to make the class convenient to registrants from Mount Prospect, Wheeling and Rolling Meadows, as well as Arlington Heights.

The GRI Leadership Course is a non-profit organization. Instructors, assistants and hostesses are professionals and serve without pay. Total cost for the nine week course is $22.50 per person on the individual plan and $8 per additional person on the family or student plans. Tuition covers the cost of session and text books and to carry on the work of the Gabriel Richard Institute, and can be paid in installments if it is more convenient for the enrollees.

"Anyone interested in taking the course should cross out of his mind any pre-conceived ideas of what it is about," said Teolis. "The course is absolutely absorbing and fascinating. Thousands of people have taken it, some of whom were too embarrassed to stand up and say their names. It has made them into competent speakers — eager to participate and able to express their ideas."

Teolis invited anybody interested in registering prior to the demonstration to telephone him or his wife, Arlene, 392-3069.

Standard Spacing Proposed

Several detailed proposals for regulating spacing between buildings in planned developments were presented to the Arlington Heights Plan Commission last week.

The report was one of a series being made by a subcommittee which has studied changes in the zoning ordinance.

Its first report, made Aug. 8, recommended higher standards, chiefly increased lot area requirements, in all residential zoning categories.

Tells of Molesting 7-Year-Old

A 14-year-old Rolling Meadows boy has confessed to Arlington Heights police that he sexually molested a seven-year-old girl in the Westgate area Aug. 14.

He has been bound over to Cook County Family Court.

Arlington Heights police obtained the confession only after much hard work and following several false leads.

The boy confessed after the girl made a positive identification of him in the police station.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of first unit in Lutheran Church of the Cross building program shows building facing south from Goebbert Road site, toward new Forest View High School in southern Arlington Heights. The church, designed by Arlington Heights architect Walter Kroeber, will seat 154 to 180 persons for worship services and will provide space for Sunday school. Congregation hopes to break ground about Nov. 1 and occupy the building next March. (A

Preliminary Plans Satisfy Lutherans

Lutheran Church of the Cross has approved preliminary plans for its first building, a $60,000 multi-purpose unit which will be built at the south edge of Arlington Heights.

The Congregation approved the design and authorized completion of final plans at a special meeting last Sunday, the Rev. Bruce K. Benander, pastor, announced.

Designed by Arlington Heights Architect Walter Kroeber, the building will seat 154 to 180 persons for worship services. It will be built on a four-acre site on Goebbert Road immediately north of the new Forest View High School.

"WE NOW CAN proceed with the detailed plans so that bids can be accepted this fall," the Rev. Mr. Benander said. "Our goal is to break ground about Nov. 1 and to celebrate our second anniversary in our new church next March 26."

The rectangular brick building, 95 feet long and 37 feet wide, will face south, toward the high school. It is the first building in a projected four-unit plan which eventually would include a large sanctuary, a Christian education building, and an office area.

The nave, or worship area, of the first unit will be in the east end of the building, with the Sunday school area in the west end. The vestibule, pastor's office, overhead storage room, wash rooms, and heating plant will be in a "center core" dividing the nave and Sunday school.

CHURCH OF the Cross was organized on Palm Sunday, 1961, as a mission of the Augustana Lutheran Church and now is part of the new Lutheran Church in America. The congregation has held services in Pioneer Park fieldhouse for the past 16 months.

Chairman of the church's building committee is Robert Tesmer. Committee members are Mrs. Philip Ellefson, Carl Baardsen, Richard Dewar, and Walter Erickson. (A

School Levy $2 Million

The Arlington Heights District 25 Board of Education Monday adopted a 1962-63 school budget and passed a tax levy for over $2 million.

The levy to be filed with county tax officials calls for a tax of $1,625,000 for educational purposes, $325,000 for building purposes, $26,000 for transportation purposes, and $32,500 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund.

Q. I've been told it is not good manners to sip water while there is food in the mouth. Is this true?

A. Generally speaking, yes. The only time it is permissible is when one has inadvertently taken a morsel into the mouth that is "too hot to handle." Otherwise, water should never be used as a "washer-downer."

Q. My bridegroom's parents, who live in a distant city, are giving a reception in our honor about a week after our wedding. May I properly wear my wedding gown at that time?

A. You may wear your wedding gown, but not your veil.

OK Purchase Of Land for New School

After an executive meeting of the elementary school board of education of Arlington Heights Monday night, the president and secretary of the board have been authorized to enter into an option agreement for the purchase of approximately 20 acres of land for a new junior high school.

The proposed site is located to the west of Arlington Heights Road between Hintz and Techny Roads.

CHARLES WILSON, Realtor, who made the preliminary survey of the area on behalf of the board, seemed confident that the land would be available at a mutually agreeable price.

The board hopes that details of the purchase can be worked out shortly and the land acquisition will be included in the school bond referendum scheduled for Oct. 20.

Two Suburbs Join for 'Family Fair'

Fete Slated For Weekend

Inter-community competition is the unwritten rule, and profit is usually a guiding motivation behind men's activities.

But Wheeling and Buffalo Grove have slammed the door shut on custom and habit in planning for an end-of-summer festival, slated for Sunday and Monday of Labor Day weekend.

Titled Family Fair, it is to be a fun frolic for all ages and an exhibition of individual and community endeavors and achievements.

IT IS NOVEL in that it is a joint effort of two neighboring communities in an era of northwest suburban development typified by extreme competition and little cooperation.

But probably the fair's most salient and differentiating aspect is that it is to be completely non-profit and non-commercial.

Moreover, it is not the endeavor of any one organization, or of even the municipalities themselves, but of the majority of the organizations, and of the "community" in the sense of the Wheeling - Buffalo Grove area irrespective of boundary lines—of people working and playing together simply for the sake of doing so.

MONEY making—even fund raising for charitable or civic purposes—has been thrown out the window for the festivities. There will be food concessions, even a steer and corn roast, but they will be operated at cost. That is, prices will be set, as nearly as possible, so that the sponsoring organization will only recoup its investment. If any profit is realized, it is asked that it be applied to the organization's fair activity the following year.

Many of the organizations sponsoring activities are doing so on a donation basis. As a result there will be free pony rides, dances, displays, band concert, art show, and a flower show.

The fair is a project of the Wheeling - Buffalo Grove Community Council. The council is an "organization of organizations," that is, composed of one representative of each member organization and Members-at-large, with only the organizational representatives having a vote. The suggestion for the fair came from the council's Projects Committee.

However, participation in the fair was not limited to organizations participating in the council. It was immediately thrown open to all organizations and business concerns, and theoretically, to any person who might wish to sponsor an activity individually.

Attendance wise, it is open to whoever may wish to attend.

A suggested list of activities was compiled, but the choice of what any group wished to sponsor was left up to it. on a first come, first served basis.

There were conservative estimates of its success when the fair was first conceived about June 1. But now one of the major problems is how to handle the anticipated crowds.

The response has been such that already the council intends to utilize the full three days of Labor Day weekend next year rather than only two days as it is doing this year.

FOR WHEELING, the fair is becoming a cohesive, stimulating factor in the community. It is also bringing closer together the villages of Buffalo Grove and Wheeling, whose residents have many common and closely joined problems and aspirations.

It is hoped the fair will grow through the years and become an annual tradition. (B-8

ONE OF THE exhibitors in the arts and crafts show of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Family Fair Sunday and Monday of Labor Day weekend will be Juan Ricardo, who has a studio at 445 E. Dundee, Wheeling. He is shown above at work in his studio. The show is open to all northwest suburban residents. Exhibits will not be judged. B8

Wig Thefts On Rise at Noted Salon

CHICAGO, (UPI) — The House de Guccion, a fashionable Lake Shore Drive beauty salon, was displaying bald mannequins during the weekend—thieves stole an estimated $4,000 worth of wigs.

Charles Guccion, shop owner, told police burglars stole about 40 wigs from the heads of his mannequins and shipping cartons.

Five weeks ago, Guccion was robbed of eight wigs valued at $1,500 by burglars who cut their way through a wall from a adjoining delicatessen.

Authorities said the wigs are popular with the burglars because they are currently in great demand and they are easy to dispose of to "fences."

Transistorized Whales

by ED LANDWEHR

I see that the navy air force is shooting small battery powered transistors into whales. These receiving and transmitting units are attached to darts that stick in the thick blubber and ride along to the depths of the ocean as the whale goes about its business. Sounds are picked up that ordinarily never could be heard and sent to nearby cruisers and submarines for analysis. What will they think of next?

Why couldn't some manufacturer market an inexpensive gadget on this order so mothers could attach it to their roaming youngsters? If the home receiving unit suddenly became quiet, it would be a warning that something is amiss with Junior.

This would be a good source of repair business for LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights too. Every time Junior would take it apart, that TV number CLearbrook 5-0700 would be called, and we could reassemble the thing. You'll like our other services, anyway.

Entries Are Sought In Arts, Crafts Show

Entries are being sought from throughout the northwest suburbs in the arts and crafts show and the flower and vegetable show of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Family Fair Labor Day weekend.

Any parade entries will also be welcome, it is announced.

The fair, slated for Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2 and 3, is to be conducted entirely on a non-profit, non-commercial basis. Its various activities are being sponsored by Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area organizations.

UNDERTAKING the arts and crafts show is the Wheeling Junior Woman's Club. They will accept exhibits from 1-4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 1, at Whitman School in Wheeling, and until 2 p.m. Sunday. For further information call show chairman, Mrs. Arthur Zrimsek of Prairie View, NE 4-3842.

Entries in the flower and vegetable show, sponsored by the Wheeling Rotary Club, will be judged, and there will be children and adult categories. Entries must be in by 11 a.m. Sunday. Chairman of the flower show is Louis Schumm, LE 7 1100.

Heading the parade is Daniel Crowley, LE 7-1012. In connection with the parade, there will be a bicycle decorating contest and a costume contest. Five drum and bugle corps are to participate and four color guards, and also a Barrington baton twirling contingent and a magician.

THE ART show and flower show will be held in the Whitman School gymnasium Sunday through Monday. Other activities will be on the Whitman School playground and in the Buffalo Grove park.

The parade will kick off the Family Fair at noon Sunday, beginning at Milwauke Avenue and Wolf Road in Wheeling.

Next there will be a parade in Buffalo Grove leading residents to their new park, which will then be dedicated.

Afternoon activities will include Junior Olympic preliminaries and an all-star softball game at Buffalo Grove.

From 7 - 8:30 p.m. there will be a concert by the 5th Army band in the Buffalo Grove park, followed by fireworks and a record dance.

Monday's highlights include finals in the Junior Olympics and in the horseshoe contest, a swimming and diving exhibition, a dance exhibition, and a community-wide dance under-the-stars in Wheeling with live music.

THE MIDWAY will be located at Whitman School grounds, and will feature display and game booths, and also free pony rides.

Throughout the two days there will be a steer and corn roast, Sunday at Buffalo Grove's park and Monday at Whitman School. (B8

Auditors Request

Third Straight Cut In Appropriations

By HELENE BRISTOL

The Illinois Legislative Audit Commission for the third straight biennium reduced its appropriation request.

The state watchdog group, organized in 1957 after the Orville Hodge scandal, met last week to adopt their appropriation request for the 1963-65 biennium and to review the audit reports of several state agencies.

The meeting was held at the home of the audit commission chairman, State Senator W. Russell Arrington (R. Evanston).

THE NEW appropriation adopted by the audit commission was $85,650 compared to $96,500 for the 1961-63 biennium. In 1959-61 the appropriation request was $107,600 while the first biennium request of the commission was $117,000.

In spite of the appropriations requested, the commission has consistently allowed a large portion of the appropriation to lapse, returning $186,105.78 to the state over the past three biennniums. The total expenditures amounted to only $134,994.22.

Through its job of checking audits, revenues and expenditures the audit commission has directly brought more than $924,000 to the state since its start in 1957, according to the 1962 annual report of the group. The report points out that some of the items are of a recurring nature, and will continue to add savings to the state. New recommendations of the audit commission, if adopted by the legislature, could increase state general revenue funds by $50,000 more each year.

In addition to their own budget programs, the audit commission approved the reviews of audit for the Illinois Liquor Control Commission, First District Appellate Court (Chicago), School Building Commission, Division of Unemployment Compensation of the Department of Labor, Illinois Harness Racing Commission and other groups.

IN CHECKING the audits, the commisssion did its own review and personally questioned officials from the various groups at the meeting.

Arrington and his wife held a luncheon for the commission members, their wives and meeting spectators at the close of the business session.

The audit commission has the duty of checking audits, revenues and expenditures of the state, its departments and agencies. Through the reports of the Auditor General and other financial statements the commission determines whether special studies or investigations are required. The commission has the power to conduct studies and hearings and may summon persons to testify under oath.

THE MAJOR WORK of the group is in the field of evaluating recommendations of auditors, to determine from various departments whether these recommendations are being put into effect if approved, and to recommend remedial action by the General Assembly if needed.

Five state representatives and five state senators are members of the commission. In addition to Sen. Arrington, the senators are Arthur W. Sprague Robert E. Cherry, Richard R. Larson and Fred J. Smith. Representatives on the commission are George W. Dunne, James P. Loukas, Dean McCully, Paul Powell and George F. Stastny. (B8

Better Government Group Backs 5 Dems

Five Democrats and three Republicans have been recommended today for election November 6, by the Better Government Association.

The five Democrats recommended by the BGA to date are: Edward J. Barrett for re-election as County Clerk, Bernard J. Korzen for election as County Treasurer, John J. Altman for election as Clerk of the Criminal Court, Robert Jerome Dunne for re-election as Judge of the Probate Court, and James C. Spangler for re-election as a member of the Board of Tax Appeals.

RICHARD Ogilvie is recommended by the BGA for election as County Sheriff, Elroy C. Sandquist, Jr., is recommended as County Judge. The third Republican recommended by the BGA is Seymour S. Price for election as a member of the Board of Tax Appeals.

"This action by the board of directors of the Better Government Association doesn't sound much like an arm of the Republican party," George E. Mahin, executive director of the BGA, said.

"Actually, this canard has been used as a red herring to try to discredit BGA disclosures of loafing by public employees and waste of the taxpayers money. Now that this red herring can no longer be used in view of this latest proof that the BGA in fact supports the best men for office regardless of party, Sid Holzman of the Board of Election Commissioners and the others will have to find some new basis on which to attack the BGA in order to confuse the public."

Mahin said that the BGA would be announcing additional recommendations approximately once a week until all offices have been covered. (B8

Volunteer Marchers Ready for Campaign

Local City of Hope volunteer marchers will call on their neighbors from Sept. 9 through 15 during a week-long canvass for contributions to support the work of the pilot National Medical Center. The period has been proclaimed City of Hope Week.

Directing current fund-raising efforts locally for the free nonsectarian medical facility is Mrs. Richard Kroll, 2035 W. Jarvis, Chicago, chairman of the marchers in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove.

THE CENTER must depend entirely on public donations to further its specialized programs in free patient care, research and education. In almost 50 years of service to the afflicted, regardless of race, creed or national origin, the City of Hope has never rendered a bill to a patient.

Proceeds from the door-to-door march will help advance the City of Hope's fight against the physically, financially and emotionally catastrophic diseases — cancer, the leukemias, hereditary diseases, blood, chest and operable heart disorders. (A&E

Republicans Confident

GOP State Convention Is Exercise in Togetherness

by BRUCE LADD

Springfield's Orpheum Theatre was decked with gay banners extolling the motion picture "Hatari," starring John Wayne and an ugly-looking rhinoceros.

But on the inside, amidst red, white and blue buntings and pretty girls handling out campaign buttons, the 103rd Illinois Republican State Convention was being held.

And quite a show it was.

The session opened unofficially last Thursday evening when the more sophisticated of 5,000 delegates began to arrive in time for cocktails. "Working class" Republicans poured into town Friday morning, the day officially set aside for listening to speeches, shaking hands and rapping Democrats.

The speech-making contest was handily won by U. S. Rep. William H. Robinson, a Negro congressman from Chicago's 20th District, who gave an excellent address concerning the GOP's heritage and its relation to the Negro voter.

Sharing with Robinson in a standing ovation was Hayes Robertson, chairman of the Republican Central Committee in Cook County. He predicted that Republican candidates will win every office at stake in the Nov. 6 General Election.

THE BEST JOKE of the day was told by a for-profit comedian, billed as "The Man with the Landon Button." He prophesied, "He who collects Green Stamps is bound to meet his redeemer."

Delegates left the smoke-filled theatre lobby and jammed the house to hear U. S. Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen, Senate Minority Leader from Pekin, who said the Democrats have faulted in their promises to bring peace to the world.

"They are shooting along the Berlin wall today," Dirksen pointed out. "There was no wall under Eisenhower. Our prestige is at an all-time low, and our progress is in the wrong direction."

THE CONVENTION chairman found it necessary to individually introduce every big-wig seated on the Orpheum's wide stage. Among the "celebrities" were former Gov. William G. Stratton (who didn't say a word throughout the goings-on), 13th District Congressional Candidate Donald Rumsfeld, and Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier.

Not officially introduced, but conspicuous by their wide grins and heavy hand shaking, were up-and-coming Republicans William H. Rentschler of Lake Forest and Charles H. Percy of Kenilworth. Off the stage, they drew prime attention.

Delegates loved it when speakers blasted the Democratic leadership in the state and nation. Most impressive Democrat-knockers were the GOP leader in Edgar County and Timothy P. Sheehan, former congressman from Chicago.

THEY PRESENTED a long, unwieldy series of resolutions which tore into Democratic "socialism" and praised Republican "revitalization."

Before adjourning to the Leland Hotel and State House Inn for more "hospitality," delegates parroted a committee to approve three candidates for the University of Illinois Board of Trustees.

(A planned resolution of the Wheeling Township delegation—to provide that University of Illinois trustees need not have graduated from the Champaign-Urbana campus—never came off.)

The convention adjourned to meet again in Chicago sometime in September. At that time a state platform will be adopted. Many delegrates privatly expressed the opinion "sometime in September" is going to be a little late.

Prosecutes Builder

Palatine Lawyer Gets 'Santa Claus' Jailed

The career of a buildr who earned the reputation of being the "Santa Claus of Fordan Park," a subdivision in Aurora, has ended.

Two weeks ago, Herbert Karp, alias William Ruth, entered a New York penetentiary in violation of probation.

He was successfully prosecuted by a Palatine attorney and special assistant Attorney General of Illinois, David E. Bradshaw.

Karp, who operated under the name of William Ruth in the Chicago area, had developed 10 subdivisions throughout the northern counties of Illinois, including one called Joan's Gardens (now known as Palatine Park), located off Northwest Highway west of Quentin Road.

THE SUBDIVISION was a typical Ruth enterprise. Of 89 homes to be constructed, only six were ever built and none of them completed.

Bradshaw's investigation of Ruth's financial manipulations began after a group of home owners from Fordan Park complained to Attorney General William Clark in April, 1961, that they had never received deeds to their homes and that hundreds of thousands of dollars in mechanic's liens were filed against their homes.

Bradshaw said his investigation disclosed that Ruth created fifteen companies for use in financial maneuvering. By signing affidavits and mechanic lien waivers in the name of these companies, alleging that the firms had performed work on the homes, Ruth was paid almost $2 million for work actually performed by other companies.

Almost all of the money had been disbursed through the now defunct Land Title Company, acting as an escrow agent for the deposit of mortgage money. Improper inspections or no inspections had been made by Land Title Company to determine who had actually done the work or whether it was completed, Bradshaw reported.

RECOUNTING Ruth's activities, Bradshaw said, "(He) sold homes in Fordan Park for a down payment of $5, took two per cent notes for the balance of the down payment which had no due dates, payable at $10 per month so they would not be paid for 75 years, took homes in on trade-in without even looking at them, and even took in used trailers. This course of action gained him the reputation of being known as the Santa Claus of Fordan Park."

Ruth's first encounter with the law was in 1946 when he was indicted on three counts of grand larceny for "selling certain antique furniture and forgetting to give the money to the owner," Bradshaw explained.

Ruth (Karp) jumped bail. In May, 1960, he was arrested by New York authorities in Aurora after a check he issued bounced and FBI records revealed he was Karp. He was given three years' probation for jumping bail.

NEW YORK'S probation department requested Bradshaw to advise them of Ruth's activities in Illinois. Originally, Bradshaw was to testify in the case, but there was no one in New York familiar enough with Ruth's Illinois operations. As a result, Bradshaw prosecuted the case on behalf of the people of Illinois and New York, and the court ruled that Ruth's actions were in violation of his probation. (B8

New Air Conditioning System for Hospital

Hot weather and humidity for the balance of the summer weather will not affect patients at the 205-bed Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines. A new hospital-wide air conditioning system was completed this week, bringing complete temperature and humidity control.

The system was installed at a cost of $250,000. Funds for the improvement were pledged by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital, headed by Mrs. Edward Villadonga of Mount Prospect.

THE 436-MEMBER organization will be holding their first benefit to raise money on the pledge Saturday, Sept. 8. The Premiere dinner-dance will be held at Carson Pirie Scott in the new Randhurst Shopping Center. Time for the event lists cocktails at 8 p.m. and dinner at 9 p.m. Music will be furnished by Frankie Masters and a fashion show will be presented by the store.

The new system will provide a constant regulated temperature of 70 degrees and a relative humidity of 40 per cent, according to Joseph Davis, administrator of the hospital.

To achieve the hospital-wide cooling, the system circulates 5,000 gallons of 44 degree water through an artery of piping one mile long every two minutes.

DAVIS stressed another major feature of the new system is the filtering of all air brought into the building. This reduces transmission of various airborn impurities and germs, he noted.

Direct benefits of the hospital filtering and cooling system, Davis said, would be promotion of speedier recovery, reduction in body fatigue of patients confined to bed, reduction in housekeeping and maintenance costs and a cut in linen costs from extra changes of bedding needed during periods of high temperatures.

ANOTHER major benefit of the new system, Davis noted, would be better working conditions for hospital personnel. This would promote good employee morale and quality patient care, he added.

The Des Plaines hospital is located on a 66-acre site at River and Golf Roads. The institution is operated by the Sisters of the Holy Family of Nazareth, Sacred Heart Province.

STREAMS OF COOL air are the result of a $250,000 air-conditioning program just completed at Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines. Sister M. Modesta, C.S.F.N., director of nursing service, points out the force of cold air billowing her habit to Francis L. Bashaw of Park Ridge. (B-8

Q. When one is eating a steak or roast, or something similar, isn't it all right and more convenient to cut the meat up into several mouthfuls at a time before eating it?

A. Although it may seem more convenient to do your "cutting up" all at one time, it certainly is not considered good form. One should cut off a single bite at a time.

Mental Health Clinic Planning Open House

Doors to be Open To Public Sept. 9

One new diagnostic or treatment case opens each working day for the staff of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Clinic.

This is the present average caseload being maintained at the clinic, located at 1711 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, according to Jack Julien of Mount Prospect, president of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association.

The clinic, which serves the communities and surrounding areas of Elk Grove Village, Hoffman-Schaumburg, Mount Prospect, Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Wheeling in addition to Arlington Heights, will be the scene of an open house Sunday, Sept. 9.

The open house has been scheduled for 3 to 5 p.m., and will afford the public an opportunity to inspect clinic facilities, meet its staff and generally acquaint themselves with its operation, Julien pointed out.

CHILDREN have been the largest group of patients seen by the clinic's staff, Julien observed, and have been referred mainly by the schools of the participating communities.

"Statistics through the month of July show that of 75 cases begun, 40 — or 36 per cent — were children," the mental health association president noted.

The clinic is sponsored by the mental health association in cooperation with the state of Illinois which subsidizes approved out-patient and mental health clinics by matching local donations in a 2-1 ratio.

Out of the total of 75 cases, Julien added, 21 per cent represents persons applying for assistance of their own volition. Thirteen per cent were referred to the clinic by private physicians or psychiatrists.

"The remainder of cases were referred by public health nurses, the courts or police, social agencies, family and friends, the clergy, and state mental institutions," Julien explained.

MODELED after successfully-operated mental health clinics in Illinois and other states, the northwest clinic opened March 28. It is staffed by a psychiatrist, who serves as medical director, a psychologist, and a psychiatric social worker.

Although the association sponsors the clinic, it operates separately as a medical institution under the supervision of the medical director-psychiatrist who is a diplomat of the American Board of Neurology and Psychiatry.

According to Julien, a patient or family applying to the clinic for treatment speaks first to the psychiatric social worker, who obtains information about the patient to aid the clinic's staff; he also gives the patient or his family needed information about the clinic.

THE NEXT steps include interviews and testing by the psychologist, followed by an examination by the psychiatrist (a medical doctor who has specialized in behaviorial problems).

After an evaluation of the patient is completed, the social worker, psychologist and psychiatrist discuss their findings and impressions. "From this discussion," Julien commented, "a final diagnosis of the factors causing the problem is made. If indicated, a plan to help modify the problem is formulated."

To insure confidentiality, no information given to the clinic's staff can ever be disclosed without the patient's written authorization, Julien emphasized.

Fees, based on the ability to pay, are charged by the clinic for diagnostic evaluations as well as treatment. No one is ever denied service, however, because of an inability to pay. Patients whose income exceeds a prescribed amount are referred to family physicians or to local psychiatrists whose names are taken from a list provided by the association's medical advisory committee.

Referrals for service are made by the medical profession, public and parochial schools, churches, courts, and public and private social agencies in addition to those persons applying directly for treatment.

THE MENTAL health association also provides educational information on emotional problems and mental illness to clubs and organizations, schools and churches in the northwest suburban area.

The association was chartered in June 1961 by groups of interested citizens of the seven communities served. Each community maintains its local chapter as well as furnishing representatives to the association's board of directors and working committees. Officers for the year, in addition to Julien, are: Mrs. Leonard Kijak, Mount Prospect, vice-president; Mrs. Louis Taitel, Elk Grove Village, secretary, and James Bowen, Hoffman Estates, treasurer.

By the clinic's presence, Julien said, "It is hoped that cases of emotional and mental illness can be treated before they become so severe as to require long and expensive hospitalization. Equally important is the treatment of minor or in-between emotional problems which can result in depressed or confused people, problem children and parents, broken homes and alcoholism." (B8

Palatine Teacher

Showers Presides at State Student Confab

A Palatine High teacher was director of the eleventh annual Illinois Association of Student Councils summer workshop last week.

The workshop, held at Illinois State Normal University, was attended by 327 students and faculty advisors representing 92 schools in the state. Among the delegates were students from Arlington, Prospect and Palatine - Schaumburg High Schools.

Burton L. Showers, Palatine High student council advisor and senior advisor-at-large of the IASC board, planned and conducted the three-day session at the Normal, Ill. university.

MAJOR SPEAKER of the workshop was Richard E. Hulet, Dean of Men at the university. Topic of the address was "Get the 'Lead' Out of Leadership."

Theme of the workshop was "Leadership."

Among area students who led discussion groups were Jack Lindstrom of Arlington High and Sue Copple of Palatine High. The two conducted meetings on "How a Good Council Meeting Should Be Conducted."

A WORKSHOP session on "How Committees Can Function Better" had Bob Gewecke of Prospect High and Dick Fiddes of Palatine High as discussion leaders.

Speaking to two general sessions of the meet was Dr. Stanley K. Norton of the university Department of Education and Psychology.

In addition to the work and discussion programs, an evening "mixer" and a picnic-fun night were held for the delegates.

Saving Letter From Kennedy

MELISSA AND HER LETTER

Eight-year-old Melissa Opela of 636 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, is treasuring a letter she got with the simple return address: The White House.

Although Melissa didn't have anything special to ask or tell President Kennedy, she felt like writing to him one day early this summer, so she did.

SHE TOLD HIM a little about herself and that she and her brother had new bikes; she also informed the President that she thought he was doing a pretty good job and that she liked his hair-do very much.

She mentioned, too, that neither her mother nor father voted for him.

Special assistant to the President Ralph Dungan replied for the Chief Executive:

"Dear Melissa, The President asked me to thank you for the nice letter you sent him. He certainly appreciates your friendly thought in writing, and extends his best wishes to you." (A

Vacationers Continue to Enliven Pre-School Week

According to late-August rumors there will be gay, mad parties and wild celebrations "as soon as the kids are back in school." Translated from the original Mother-ese in which the rumors were voiced, this means next week will bring a few morning coffees followed by afternoons spent listening to the quiet. Meanwhile, vacations and visitors continue to enliven the social schedule.

Especially well-received visitors from the West Coast are Mr. and Mrs. Nick Herff and their family, who arrived from Los Angeles last Monday for two weeks with relatives in the area. Sunday they were guests of honor at a party in the home, garage, backyard and driveway of Herff's sister and her husband, the Joe Murans, 1319 N. Dunton, where 90 friends and relatives gathered to greet the visitors.

Supper, dancing and a long-time-no-see cousin from Seattle added up to a fine evening for everyone. The cousin, Miss Louise Modaff, has not been here for several years and her presence Sunday made a real family reunion of the party.

The Californians are staying at the Long Grove home of Mrs. Herff's parents, the Charles Herschbergers, and will be there until Labor Day.

MR. AND MRS. Floyd Terbell, 402 W. Kirchoff, returned Sunday from a 3-week stay at their farm in Montezuma, Iowa. Aug. 8 they attended the graduation of their daughter, Sarajane, from the University of Iowa College of Nursing, and as she began a vacation trip to Seattle, they left Iowa City for the farm.

Sarajane is expected home Sunday for a week's stay here before returning to Iowa City to begin hospital work there. If other family plans materialize, the Terbells' son, "Bud," who is managing the farm, will also be here next week to complete the family circle.

Mrs. Robert Allen and the children returned Sunday to their home at 131 N. Gibbons, and Dad, same address, after a 2-week visit in Cleveland with Mrs. Allen's parents, the A. Whitakers.

A week of water-skiing, boating, fishing and riding ended Saturday for the J. A. Smith family when they returned to 90 S. Dunton from Balsam Lake, Wis.

JOHN WEST came home Saturday for a short, quick, summer vacation before beginning his final year at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, where he's been adding credits with summer courses of study. Since his arrival at 837 S. Highland, John has shaken the bad habit of getting up at 6:30 every morning, and he'll soon be in condition for re-unions with Chicago area fraternity brothers. He returns to early-rising and the books at SMU Sept. 12.

Glenn Joseph, infant son and first child of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dhont, 1144 N. Stratford, was baptized Sunday in St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights, with family celebrations before as well as after the occasion.

His maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gurnicz of Chicago, were here a week ago Sunday to add their blessings to the coming baptism of Baby Glenn, their 26th grandchild; the senior Dhonts of Norwood Park were present at the services Sunday. After church the infant's parents and godparents marked the event with a dinner-out party at the Arc Steak House in Glenview.

Glenn's godparents are Mrs. Del Jeschke of Niles and William Gurnicz of Harwood Heights, and Mr. Jeschke and Mrs. Gurnicz serve as proxy godparents.

Vivian Weidner was one year old Saturday, her big brother, Vince, was 10 the next day and a family party for 30 celebrated the double-happy occasion Sunday in the Weidner home, 1135 N. Dunton. An outdoor barbecue supper, surrounded by children's games and horse shoes, was followed later in the evening by the arrival of neighbors extending 2-way birthday greetings.

NEXT - DOOR - neighbor cousins, the Richard Weidners of 1131 N. Dunton, returned from a week's vacation just in time to be part of the neighborly contingent of Viv-and-Vince well-wishers. They toured Washington D. C. and historic sites in the area, and enjoyed reunions with former Arlington Heights friends and relatives. In Houston, Pa. they visited ex-neighbors, the Wayne Thalls family, and in Wilmington, Del. they were guests of a nephew, Don Weidner and his family. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Weidner, 15 E. Eastman, and he sent back greetings, as did the Thalls family, to all his old friends here.

Miss Carol Markham of Denver returned home a week ago after a month's visit here with former Denver friends, the Charles Livingstones, 1403 N. Vail. Carol and the Livingstones' daughter, Sara, were schoolmates and best friends in Denver, and their parting of the ways came three years ago when Sara and the family moved here. Of course, the month was much too short.

THE DAVID GOW family, 641 S. Kaspar, returned Saturday after 10 days in the East where they divided their time between Moms. The senior Mrs. Gow is in Dolgeville, N. Y., and Mrs. Gow's mother, Mrs. Brooke Rimerman, makes her home in Arlington, Va.

Paula Schomburg, 305 S. Evergreen and her across-the-street friend and fellow swimmer, Nancy Staadt, recently performed an aquatic duet in Rolling Green Country Club's water ballet. For the show they wore custom-made matching swim suits, tailored by the swimmers themselves, and pride in their sewmanship exceeded the girls' pride in their showmanship. After all, swimming just comes naturally.

Two pre-nuptial parties recently feted the former Susan McDonald, who was married Saturday to Joseph Corrado of Arlington Heights. A week ago Monday, one of her bridesmaids-elect, Miss Kay Colburn of Mount Prospect, was hostess to 16 close friends of the then bride-to-be at an evening party in her home. Gifts of linen, under an appropriately decorated and be-ribboned parasol, were presented to the honor guest.

LAST WEDNESDAY, afternoon Miss McDonald's great-aunt, Mrs. Roy Mendenhall of Wheaton, entertained at a luncheon for 12 in the Oak Park Arms Hotel. The gala occasion served to introduce the bride's grandmothers and the groom's mother, as well as to shower Miss McDonald with personal gifts.

Her grandmothers, Mrs. C. A. McDonald of Chicago, and Mrs. James Skiles of Oak Park, and the groom's mother Mrs. Frank Corrado of Arlington Heights, were joined by several of Miss McDonald's aunts, a cousin from Denver who was visiting in the Chicago area and, of course, her mother.

The new Mrs. Corrado is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis McDonald, 215 W. Orchard.

The Mitchell Barnett family, formerly of 713 S. Evergreen, is now well-established at 321 N. Harvard, where they moved early this month. Mrs. Barnett reports that their new neighborhood has so recently been settled that almost everyone is a new-comer and "we've been busy welcoming each other over lots of informal cups of coffee."

MRS. EMMA Klages, 1135 N. Dunton, returned Saturday evening from the East where she drove with her son, Richard, who was returning to Quonset Point, R. I. after a 10-day leave at home. They enjoyed the scenic drive, a tour of New York City and visits to navy yards in the area. As Mrs. Klages prepared to return home by train, Rich lured her to Idlewild Airport where he had already booked a jet flight to O'Hare for her.

Within minutes of their arrival at the airport, Mom was aboard a plane, fastening her seat belt and still protesting that she was going home by train. It was her first trip by air and since Saturday, Mrs. Klages has become air travel's best press agent.

MR. AND MRS. John Sullivan, 211 S. Stratford, had as their house guest for several days last week, Miss Annette Shafranski of Warsaw, Wis.

Miss Shafranski, who will be remembered by many Arlington Heights children as their teacher at the Windsor Elementary School, was en route to the East Coast, and will fly from Maguire Airforce Base to Chaumont, France, where she will teach children of air personnel.

Bill Bredehoft and John O'Neil, both of Stonegate, left Monday for a 10-day visit to Seattle to attend the Seattle Fair.

The Carl Nagle family are moving from Stonegate today to their new home in Plum Grove Estates.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Jirgal, 428 S. Windsor, and their daughter, Marianne, were in Springfield Saturday for the wedding of their son, George Jr. to Miss Lois Shaughnessy. Miss Jirgal was a bridesmaid in the wedding party.

Returning home, the Jirgals brought back Mrs. Jirgal's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Biron, and her niece and family, the James Menstills and their son, Joseph who came from Tacoma Park, Md. for the wedding and will spend a week in Arlington Heights before returning home.

MR. AND MRS. Edward Ekstrom, 1106 Mayfair, were hosts at a dinner party and bridge Saturday for 16 guests friends from the Mount Prospect and Park Ridge areas.

Miss Suzanne Thompson gave a "one last fling" party Saturday for 20 local friends, all of whom will soon be leaving home to return to their respective colleges. The party was held in the Thompson garden where guests danced away the night.

Miss Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Thompson, 314 S. Gibbons, will leave for Albion College in Albion, Mich. Sept. 15 to begin her freshman year.

Out-of-town guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Johnson, 309 S. Stratford, are Mrs. George Jayka of Upland, Calif. and her daughters, Sharon and Pamela. After a brief visit here, Mrs. Jayka and her daughters left for Rhinelander, Wis. for a visit with relatives, and then returned to Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Johnson and her guests spent most of the week sightseeing in Chicago, and Sunday, gave a dinner party in their honor. Among the dinner guests were the Johnsons' daughter and family, the John Ellermans of Northbrook, and relatives from Milwaukee. Mrs. Jayka plans to return to California Saturday on the Sante Fe Super Chief.

MRS. C. F Seales, 222 S. Drury, her daughter, Linda and Lyn Johnson, also of Stonegate, took a 2-week motor tour of the New England States, visiting several eastern college campuses and then went on to vacation on Cape Cod. While on the Cape, they stayed at the Yatchman's resort at Hyannis, and visited Princetown.

Jill and Gregg Stephens, children of Mr. and Mrs. N. Stephens, 330 S. Bristol, celebrated their respective seventh and fifth birthdays Aug. 18, with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Forst of Milwaukee, who came down to take them to lunch and to attend a performance of "Sound of Music." Sunday, the Stephenses gave a family birthday dinner for the children.

MR. AND MRS. Leonard Baness, 337 Bristol, and thier children, Tom and Bonnie, are home from a 5-week vacation, having divided their time between a stay in Florida and a sightseeing motor trip up the eastern shore to visit friends in Massachussetts and Connecticut. Their stay in Florida was highlighted by a Hawaiian luau in Lakeland, and the remainder of their stay was spent in Miami and Vero Beach, where they enjoyed swimming, golfing and just relaxing.

Leaving Florida, they motored north to Boston, spending 10 days visiting points of historic interest, and then went to call on their former Scarsdale neighbors, the James Mayfields of New Caanan and the George Schunings of Riverside, Conn. A stopover in Niagara Falls concluded their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Peery, 504 S. Beverly, returned from Charleston, W. V. Monday where they spent five days visiting friends and relatives.

Accompanying the Peerys, were their youngest son, Bill, and his young Scarsdale friend, Douglas Cockerham. While in West Virginia, the Peerys went to Huntington, their former home town, where they joined friends to celebrate Bill's 15th birthday Aug. 19.

NEWCOMERS TO Scarsdale are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Johnson, 415 E. Grove, who moved here Aug. 1 from Birmingham, Mich. They have three children, Neal, 15, Cindy, 11, and Sherry, 6. Mr. Johnson is a manufacturer's representative in Chicago.

Betsy and Bill Drake went along with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Drake, when they attended the Country Life Insurance Co. convention at the Bedford Springs Resort in Bedford, Penn. After all the usual convention fun of parties, swimming and golf, the Drakes went on to sightsee at Gettysburg and at all the historic spots in Washington, D.C. and the surrounding territory.

For the next four to six weeks visitors at the Henry Wallace home on N. Dryden are Bea's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Raasch. The Raasches came north to escape the late summer St. Petersburg heat, and also to visit with their son and family, the Herman Raasches, and grandchildren, Bill and Barbara Raasch.

Mrs. Stewart Schulz, with sons, David and Scott, visited for one week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pamperien, at their cottage at Saugatuck, Mich. Although Mr. Schultz wasn't able to stay the whole time, he did spend both weekends at the cottage.

Each summer Saugatuck celebrates Christmas in August when its usually small population is swelled with vacationers. The Schultz youngsters were thrilled to see Santa arrive by boat and delighted in the huge Christmas tree and all the unseasonable tinselly decorations.

NOT ONE whole sunshiny day favored the Robert Brinckmanns of N. Dryden Avenue on their recent Wisconsin camping trip, but this didn't prevent them from having a wonderful time. They managed to swim in between rain storms and enjoy all the northern outdoor pleasures. Randy accompanied his parents, but they felt 14-month-old Greg was too young for camping life so he stayed home with Mrs. Brinckmann's mother, Mrs. Amy Hawkins. Mrs. Hawkins was visiting in Arlington Heights en route to her home in Taylorville, Ill. after a month's stay in Seattle.

The Herman Mells hosted a group of 10 fellow vacationers at a barbecue Saturday night. They are hoping that this wasn't a "swan song" to their many happy trips out West together. Since their recent Colorado vacation one of the couples is planning on moving to Florida, one to Seattle and another to Knoxville. Despite going in all directions the group is writing for brochures on Western ranches and hopes to meet again at one of them next summer.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Gertrude Kanouse and Mrs. Bud Scully co-hostessed a surprise party for Lois Brown McKnight, recent June bride of Roger McKnight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon McKnight of 211 N. Brighton. Along with immediate Brighton Place neighbors, other guests were former neighbor, Mrs. Jan Behrens, and Roger's sister, Claudia Hembd and Elaine Flagg.

THE McKNIGHTS and Roger and Lois returned Saturday from a week's stay at Lake Tannycomo in the Ozarks. The very hot weather they experienced in Arkansas resulted in fishless fishing, but the McKnights enjoyed revisiting in Mr. McKnight's home state.

Residents are reminded to attend a meeting of the Board of Local Improvements tonight at the Village Hall, 315 N. Highland Ave., regarding the paving of Douglas, Beverly, Hickory and Hawthorne Streets. Since many area home owners have expressed disfavor of the Hawthorne Street paving, this meeting will give them the opportunity to air their opinions. (A

HASBROOK HAPPENINGS

Your correspondent and co-traveler, Lise, came home from vacation in Buffalo August 19, to do battle with three weeks accumulation of household chores. Husband Jack drove to Buffalo to share the last week of picnicking and just plain "sittin' and talkin' ".

Other August vacationers include "Cap" and Donna Caplinger and family, 1736 N. Ridge. Equipped with tent and sleeping bags, they traveled to Seattle to visit Donna's sister, Jackie, and her husband, Harrison Mitchell, took in the World's Fair and journeyed via boat to Vancouver Island through the breath taking San Juan Islands. Rushing the season a bit, "Cap" and the boys climbed Mt. Rainier to a point high enough for them to throw snow balls. Donna says she especially enjoyed the beautiful scenery in the Horn Mountains of South Dakota.

Business and pleasure for the Gormans, 1821 N. Patton, was their week's car trip through Wisconsin. With Laurel, Greg, Linda and Diane under the watchful eye of grandparents in Chicago, they went up to Hayward, then to Green Bay with lots of scenic stops along their route.

RON AND JOAN Johnson and their daughter, 1830 N. Walnut, spent their two weeks visiting friends in North Carolina and seeing the sights in Washington, D.C.

North Carolina proved attractive to West Maude's Jack and Kitty Fullerton and Kakie, too. On their 3-week vacation they went to Wilmington, N. C., and Ocean City, N.J. They also stopped in West Chester, to see Frank and Claire Zunino who used to live on Ridge. The Zuninos are planning a trip to Chicago in September.

The Jack Hallecks, 1510 N. Ridge, with Jill, Linda and Mark, spent a week in Fairport, Ohio, with Jack's family.

Carol Heart, 1810 N. Patton, started her vacation by driving with a friend, Mrs. Marge Hancock, Mount Prospect, to Cleveland for a reunion of the "Women Marines Association." She came away full of enthusiasm and information she's anxious to pass on to any other former marine living in the area.

Dick flew to Cleveland to join Carol, and together they drove to Albany, N.Y., and Long Island to visit Carol's mother and her brothers and sisters. Adding icing to the cake, they went through lower Vermont and even tried out the ski lift to Mt. Bromley.

HERB AND Lil Hebeck, 1720 N. Ridge, spent a weekend visiting a kindergarten and grade school classmate of Herb's, Frank Patejdl, and his wife, Betty in Lakeside, Mich.

It begins to look as though North Ridge has been a pretty deserted place. Dick and Diane Carleton, 1701 N. Ridge, were on a trip along Lake Superior and Lake Huron and into Canada to Niagara Falls. Then it was on to Buffalo and a visit with close friends, Ronnie and Donna Rader, who started off the Carleton twosome by introducing them to each other. Son Jeffrey had a great time. He especially liked his sleeping accommodations - an air mattress in the station wagon.

Bob Tatro, 1818 N. Ridge, relaxed, fished and swam at Tablerock, Miss., with his brother and his mother who were there from Oklahoma.

Roland Marshall and his daughter, Dianne, 1806 N. Ridge, shared a 10-day vacation in New England. They visited Roland's mother, Mrs. Ralph H. Marshall in Melrose, Mass., and together the three of them drove to Acadia National Park in Maine and to Cape Cod.

Christine Stockham, 1823 N. Ridge, flew with her parents to San Francisco and stayed to spend two weeks with her aunt IN Menlo Park, making the trip home alone.

TERRY BLASSEY, 1730 N. Ridge, teamed up with Marilyn Ward, 1536 N. Kaspar, to make an overnight trip to South Bend to visit some of their former teachers who were attending summer sessions at Notre Dame University—one nun from St. Louis two from Winnipeg, Canada.

Carole and Jim Ward, 1518 N. Patton, took their sons, Scott and Ricky, to visit Jim's parents, the C. C. Wards of Cedar Rapids. The two boys celebrated birthdays jointly Aug. 13. Scott was 4 on that date, and Ricky was 2 the previous day. Twelve neighborhood children attended their party.

Paul Knott, 1717 N. Chestnut, found Camp McCoy, Wis., a delightful, scenic resort during his 2-week stay there.

People have been on the move on Lynwood - Ed and Dot Smith, 712, picked an Indiana cottage for their vacation; Frank and Gayle Pustaver, 707, spent three days at the Wagon Wheel; and Ralph and Carol McCullagh, 716, went to Abe Martin Lodge in Brown Country, Ind.

THE LAST TIME Paulette Diraison, 1709 N. Chestnut, saw Paris was this summer. She and her Brigitte, Nancy and Thierry flew to Paris, then entrained for Brittany, where they spent two pleasant months with her family.

New York in August put on an exciting show for the Ruggeris. Don and JoAnn stayed for a week with JoAnn's sister and brother-in-law Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, got to see "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," Camelot," and, like all good tourists, the Statue of Liberty.

Jean Sjogren, 1802 N. Walnut, and her boys, Craig and David, were guests of her parents, the L. E. Robinsons in Kearney, Neb., for three weeks.

A lot of territory was covered by Jean and Bob Piper, 1626 N. Chestnut, on their vacation trip. They and their children, Pat, Maureen, Peggy and Timmy, first visited Jean's niece, Sister Mary Nicholis in Dayton. From there they went to Champaign to view the university, and wound up at the Wisconsin Dells for a 2-day stay.

Their N. Chestnut neighbors, Arlene and John Matousek, at 1726, spent a weekend at Art and Norma Kauppinen's summer home in Wisconsin.

Driving through Wisconsin and around Lake Michigan provided Don and Marlene Larson and their son, with satisfying week's holiday.

AL AND BERTHA Barbaro, 1543 N. Kennicott, took two days unto themselves and stayed at the Lake Tower Motel on Lake Shore Drive, swam in the motel pool, went to a concert in Grant Park, went to "Don The Beachcomber's"; joined the throng at Mr. Kelly's, where they saw Julie London, thrilled to the exhibits at the Art Institute, shopped and dined at the Country Store. Grandma, Mrs. A. J. Barbaro, of Power Lake, Wis., played the active role of babysitter for Paul, Ricky and David.

John and Jean Alderson, 704 W. Thomas, took the ferry from Milwaukee to Muskegan - a relaxing 6-hour trip - and then a canoe trip before visiting John's mother in Baldwin.

August turned out to be almost as popular for birthdays as for vacations. Renee Poulin, Lynn Summer, Patty Thut, Nancy Grabowski, Vicki Schiavo and Sharmin Esarey helped 4-year old Bonnie Jean McGee celebrate her birthday. Also lending an assist was big brother, Steve, who organized the games.

Another 4-year-old, Tommy Hajek, 708 W. Thomas, had a luncheon for his sister, Jeannie, Shirley Anderson, Bobby Kendall, Jami Ruggeri, Theresa Larkin, Mary McGuire, Robby Skiera, Gregg, Vicki and Dona Pustaver and King Gillespie.

Don Christiansen's birthday is Aug. 16 and his and Lorri's wedding Anniversary is Aug. 14, so they celebrate them simultaneously by dining out.

ROBBY SKIERA, 616 W. Thomas, observed his sixth birthday Aug. 11 with John Arnold, his cousin from Mount Prospect, Chuck Purcell, Doug Alderson, Peter Patterson, Jim Bergeson, Danny Prather, Gary LeClair, Mike McCullagh, Steven Grant, Gregg Pustaver and Bob Kendall. Everybody whooped it up with a penny hunt in the yard and the old standby "Pin the Tail on the Donkey."

"Surprised" Nancy Streit, 1521 N. Patton, enjoyed her 13th birthday Aug. 10 with teenage friends, Joan Kaye, Jill Haupt, Nancy Kiel, Nancy Drolshagen, Susan Vogeler, Linda Hartman and her cousin, Nancy Drolshagen, Susan Vogeler, Linda Hartman and her cousin, Carol Steit from Chicago. Nancy's entrance into her teens was toasted with coke - in baby bottles.

None of that "footprints in the sands of time" for Scott Christianson and Coleen Coy. They were among the group of children chosen to have their hands and initials imprinted in cement at Randhurst.

Coleen's mother and dad, Jean and Bill, are in the news, too, with a bit of elegant entertaining. They were hosts at an authentic Japanese dinner served in the Oriental manner to the Dick Flinns of Evanston and the Joe Blitsteins of Skokie. The dinner was in honor of the Flinns who are leaving for an indefinite stay in Tokyo.

BART AND Waunetah Bartkowiak did themselves proud in organizing a block party for Ridge Avenue residents between Maude and Palatine in early August. There were hot dogs, salads, pop, candy and ice cream for the kids in the afternoon and in the evening there was pizza with a musical background.

Present, and warmly welcomed, were Keith and Linda North, new residents at 715 W. Maude. Keith is to be the swimming coach and a biology teacher at Forest View High School.

Patton Avenue's block party from 8 to 12 on August 12 combined games, dancing, courtesy of George Bastien's hi-fi, and snacks, like ham sandwiches with all the trimmings.

Kennicott and Kaspar neighbors do-si-doed at a real swinging barn dance this month. The Carl Schmidts, Sam Joneses, Paul Ulichs, Av Langs, Russ Johnsons, Fred Brognis, Ken Busses, Gil Tierneys, Bill Fallons, John Morgans, Walt Draxlers, Larry Hogrefes, John Madars and the Ron Rodamers square-danced in the hayloft of Agate Acres with owner, Mr. Martin, calling the steps, went for a hayride and returned to more dancing and a midnight snack.

Sue and Paul Richardson of Kaspar and Dolores and Bob Swenson of Kennicott headed up the affair.

HASBROOK ROLLED out the red carpet for several guests in August. Sam and Mary Lou Summer, 1825 N. Mitchell, entertained Mary Lou's sister and family the Robert McCutchans from Webster, N. Y., for a weekend. The adult foursome had an interesting time at some of Chicago's night spots, while the youngsters busied themselves with tours of the Museum of Science and Industry and the Art Institute.

The Bob Schiavos of Pittsburgh were guests of Fred and Barb Schiavo, 1812 N. Mitchell. Bob, who is Fred's brother and family came not only to visit, but to have their baby, Barbara Courtney, baptized, with Barb as godmother.

Busy Barb, a home products demonstrator, recently was the hostess at a party in her home for Mary Lou Sumner, Jane McGee, Dorothy Poulin, Dolores Grabowski, Gail Bullard and Arlene Morrison.

Ellie Beacham's brother, John German of Miami, Fla., visited with her and Bud at 1516 N. Kennicott for the week of Aug. 11-19. Another Beacham guest has been Miss Judy Hohnan, Ellie's maid of honor at her wedding, who was enroute from Minneapolis to Florida.

Helen and Phil Weber and their children came from Chisholm, Minn., to spend a week with Roland and Sandy Ley, 1819 N. Walnut. Helen is Sandy's sister.

OUT-OF-TOWN guests of the Joe O'Connors, 1516 N. Ridge, were Mrs. Pauline Stoker and Mrs. Helen Nemitz of Madison, Wis. While here they filled their schedule with trips to the Trade Fair, Haeger's Pottery Manufacturing Co. and the Milk Pail.

The John Morgans, 1805 N. Kennicott, had as guests for a week the Everett Morgans, John's parents, and Carol and Tommy Toner, his sister and brother-in-law, all from Stanford, Conn. Tommy probably went home a richer man, as he connected with the daily double at Arlington Park.

Congratulations are the order of the day for the incoming officers of the North Ridge Club, selected at the club's meeting at Connie Gutowsky's, 1520 Walnut. President is Ann Smith; treasurer, Viola Wiebe; and secretary, Eve Gorman.

New Hasbrookites at 1817 N. Kennicott are Harry and Ruth Kerns, Dennis, 6½, and Kevin, 4, from Wilmington, Dela.

Still humming tunes from "Music Man" are the Carl Pasquales, Roland Leys and the Larry Peifers, who made up a group to see Van Johnson's performance at Music Theatre. George and Ramona Coker entertained the Verne Russells, John Mellors, Jack Edwards and the Herb Herbecks. The evening was a definite treat for young George Coker Jr. who was included in the list of playgoers.

PURSUING THE theatrical news further, it's reported that Jean Harycki, Sandy Ley, Pat Pasquale, Janine Murphy, Barbara Dahm, Joan Johnson, Simone Peifer, Donna Baker and Lois Hanson relished Dorothy Dandridge's appearance in "West Side Story" at Music Theatre. They returned to Jean's for "coffee and."

On the mend after hospitalization in Northwest Community Hospital are Linda Gorman, 4, and Donnie Tatro, 5. Donnie had surgery and Linda a virus.

Eileen Haun, 1830 N. Kennicott, entertained 19 guests at a recent plastic party.

That fellow you can't touch with a 10-foot pole is Dennis McGuire, 803 Lynwood, who shot a hole-in-one on the course at the Glenview Air Base. (A

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Houseguests of the L. Q. Yowells, 441 S. Forrest, for several days last week were his brother's family, the Jack Yowells of Culpepper, Va.

It was the boys' first trip to this area and they enjoyed visiting points of interest, including O'Hare Airport, Brookfield Zoo, Chicago Loop and dinner at the Top of the Rock.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Collins, 413 S. Forrest, and sons Michael and Jimmy, have just returned from a trip west that took almost three weeks. The vacation started with a stay of several days at Yellowstone National Park, where the boys gave their cameras a real work-out taking close-up shots of bears, elk and moose.

A trip through Grand Tetons Park followed and more pictures of scenery, which is unusually lush this year because of heavy rains.

IN THE BLACK Hills the family stayed at a guest ranch at Canyon Lake, S. D., and using this as home base made several trips to surrounding territory, including Custer State Park.

On a trip full of highlights, one that stood out for the travelers was the Corn Palace at Mitchell, S. D., a very ornate structure decorated completely with ears of corn.

Best wishes go to Jack Curtin, 420 S. Forrest, who celebrated his birthday Aug. 28.

The Curtin family recently enjoyed a visit from Jack's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Carthaus of St. Paul, and last week Isabelle's sister, Miss Mary Lowery of Dixon, spent several days of her vacation with the Curtins.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Moller, 416 S. Prindle, are receiving congratulations on their Aug. 25 wedding anniversary.

Also in line for congratulations are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richardson, 520 S. Phelps, who were married 11 years Aug. 25.

A "coffee" to introduce Mrs. Dick Spagnoli, 1815 E. Grove, was given last Thursday by Mrs. William Bayuk, 408 S. Forrest. Guests were eight of Mrs. Spagnoli's immediate neighbors.

TO CELEBRATE their sixth wedding anniversary last Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Harald Holt, 509 S. Phelps, hosted a dinner party that evening. Helping them mark the day were Mrs. Holt's mother, Mrs. Signe Salup, and a friend, Miss Inger Bjorg of Norway, who was here for a few days enroute to Idaho.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hermanson, 437 S. Forrest, with Greta and Mark, have returned from spending four days at Idle Hour Resort at Minocqua, Wis., where Gust had hoped to repeat his catch of a prize-winning muskie. He had to settle for a few wall-eye pike. While fishing may not have been up to par, the Hermansons enjoyed other recreations furnished, such as baseball, horseshoes and movies.

Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kulisch, 520 S. Prindle, was 4 Aug. 21 and played host at a birthday lunch to Nancy Johnson, Kim and Missy Slusser, K. J. Scharf, Rob Zmrzly and Danny Pugh. The afternoon was spent playing games with each guest winning a prize.

The celebration was continued on Sunday with an outdoor dinner for the family. Among the guests were Terry's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Muenow of Park Ridge and Mrs. H. Kulisch of Chicago, and cousins Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lanning and Jody, also of Chicago.

Rob Zmrzly, 521 S. Forrest, enjoyed having his cousin, Danny Pugh of Chicago, spend a week with him. The boys passed their time together fishing and swimming.

MR. AND MRS. Al May, 509 S. Prindle, returned from Detroit last week, where they attended a wedding, in time to greet house guests, Mrs. Carroll Jones of Greenville, Ala., and her daughter, Jo Elyn, who is completing her senior year in a Chicago high school.

MR. AND MRS. W. R. Swenson, 428 S. Forrest, spent two days of last week house hunting in New Jersey. Arlington Acres' loss will be Murray Hill's gain, as Swede and Margaret were successful in their hunt and plan to leave here by the end of the week.

While in the East, the Swensons enjoyed a visit with the Dick Glantz family, formerly of Arlington Heights, now of Chatham, N. J.

Mrs. Frank Marshall, 432 S. Forrest, was hostess at a farewell luncheon last Tuesday in honor of her co-worker at Holy Family Hospital, Mrs. J. B. McGuan of Mount Prospect. Other guests were fellow volunteers at the hospital. (A

Long Drought About to End

by HELENE BRISTOL

After years of drought — a drought which spelled a critical lack of hôspital facilities for residents of northwest suburban Cook County and north DuPage County — a flood of new hospital construction is on the way.

Five major hospital building programs are slated for hte area, including a completely new hospital and a massive medical center with a new medical school.

To area residents this means about 755 new hospital beds, plus extensive related laboratory, X-ray, dietary and administrative facilities needed to up-grade medical and diagnostic services.

The five hospitals bringing new facilities to the area are the Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village, Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights, Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge-Des Plaines, Memorial Hospital of DuPage County in Elmhurst, and Sherman Hospital in Elgin.

TOTAL COST of new and improved hospital facilities will be about $30 million in the period 1962 to 1967, with another $30-plus million slated for expansion plans shortly thereafter.

In addition to the new facilities slated for opening by 1964 to 1967, the two other hospitals now serving the area have future expansion programs.

Both Catholic institutions—Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines and St. Joseph Hospital in Elgin—will be building new facilities in five to 10 years, according to their hospital administrators.

The summaries of building plans for the seven hospitals serving the area are:

ALEXIAN BROTHERS HOSPITAL, ELK GROVE

A completely new 220-bed hospital to be constructed at an estimated cost of more than $6 million will be opened in the fall of 1965.

FORMAL DEDICATION of the hospital will be held in 1966, marking the 100th anniversary of the Alexian Brothers in Chicago.

The building will be the fifth Alexian Brothers Hospital in Chicago, the latest enlargement and modernization from a humble beginning in 1866 by a single brother in a house owned by the Bishop of Chicago.

Located on a 30-acre site at Biesterfield Blvd. and Bisner Road, the new hospital is centered for service to Elk Grove Village itself and the surrounding communities of Mount Prospect, Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates in Cook County and Bensenville, Itasca, Wood Dale and Roselle in DuPage County.

The semi-circular base design of the building will contain extensive facilities to serve the community and the 220 hospital patients housed in a bow-tie design upper-floor tower structure.

ALL ROOMS will be semi-private or two-bed arrangements, with four to six private rooms on each floor. No larger "wards" are planned except in the pediatrics section where some four-bed wards will be included.

Alexian Brothers until last spring had admitted only men and boys to its hospitals. In March the first women patients were admitted to the present Alexian Brothers Hospital at 1200 W. Belden, Chicago. In the new Elk Grove hospital this policy will be continued and enlarged with extensive areas devoted to women's medical and surgical, pediatric and obstetrical departments.

The building is designed for future expansion. Surgery, labor rooms, laboratory, X-ray and other departments will be sized to serve at least 100 more patients than the original 220-bed capacity.

A built-in addition of 50 to 55 beds will be available on the sixth floor of the building when a future monastery is built on the site to house the administrative, technician and nursing brothers. Until construction of the monastery the brothers will use the top floor for living quarters.

SPECIAL features designed for patient comfort include pillow-control panel for patient-nurse intercom, light control and control of built-in television units in each room. A barber shop and beauty parlor are part of the original design, and a snack-bar, gift shop are set.

While the hospital will be non-sectarian in its staff personnel and patient admissions, a Catholic chapel will be a part of the building. A resident chaplain will provide daily communion to Catholic patients who desire such service. The chapel is planned to provide space for about 100, with special patient attendance area shielded by a screen.

Financing of the hospital will be provided mainly by a $4 million mortgage undertaken by the order. Another almost $1 million is expected from Hill - Burton federal funds. The balance will be sought in a fund drive aimed at business, organizations and individuals.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL OF DuPAGE COUNTY, ELMHURST

An extensive long-range medical center plan to expand facilities of the heavily-used Elmhurst hospital has been approved by the board of governors of the institution.

FORMAL announcement of the approximate $5 million expansion has not yet been made. Hospital spokesmen indicate plans have progressed through the acquisition of additional land and test drillings for building. Spokesmen expressed hope that at least a major part of the planned expansion would be completed within two years.

The new building would extend all hospital facilities, enlarge the present diagnostic and treatment center and add 100 to 200 beds, depending on financing. Total value of the hospital, with the $5 million addition, would be about $12 million.

In contrast to most nonprofit voluntary hospitals, the DuPage County institution will not apply for federal funds but will rely on mortgaging and community support.

Federal funds have not been needed in the past, hospital spokesmen indicate, stressing such funds should be used in areas where the community cannot support its own hospital.

THE EXPANSION will enlarge the present 325-bed institution to about 500 beds. Present facilities are heavily used, with occupancy for 11 of the past 12 months in the "high occupancy" range of all Chicago area hospitals. Use of the hospital emergency room alone is intensive, spotlighted by a recent instance of 50 emergency patients in a period of a few hours.

Included in plans for the medical center would be clinical laboratories, heart-surgery laboratory, outpatient department, X-ray and radio-active isotope diagnostic and treatment facilities, additional surgery quarters, new dietary unit, administrative offices, new admitting department as well as additional hospital beds.

SHERMAN HOSPITAL, ELGIN

Ground will be broken about Nov. 1 for an addition to Sherman Hospital, Elgin. The new facilities will cost more than $2.8 million and will be a major part of a long-range plan to expand the hospital to 400 beds.

The total program is slated for completion by July, 1965, but some sections of the improvement program will be in use before that time according to information from the hospital.

THE ELGIN hospital serves a wide area to the east, north and west of the city. Far west Cook County and northwest DuPage County communities make extensive use of the hospital. These areas include Roselle, Bartlett, Streamwood, Barrington, Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates.

The addition will provide new dietary, X-ray, emergency, pediatrics, physical-therapy departments, larger pharmacy and new labor and delivery rooms in the maternity section. The projected 100 new beds will be mainly semi-private room facilities. Rooms will have radiant panel ceiling heating and air-conditioning controlled individually by patients. All beds will be electrically operated.

On completion of the new facilities, the present west wing of the hospital, built in 1895, will be razed. The hospital was founded in 1888 by the Elgin Women's Club who still provide four members to the hospital board of directors.

Funds for the expansion program will come from private donations, mortgage money and Hill-Burton federal hospital construction funds. No general fund drive is planned for the addition—the third in little more than 10 years. New facilities were added to the hospital in 1951 and 1958.

NORTHWEST COMMUNITY HOSPITAL, ARLINGTON HTS.

A CONSISTENT high-occupancy rate, represented in capacity or near-capacity conditions has brought action by Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, toward planning expansion of facilities.

Centered in a rapidly-expanding population center and mainly serving the fast-growing communities of Palatine, Mount Prospect, Hoffman Estates, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows, the 110-bed community hospital has been in heavy use since its doors opened in December, 1959.

Built at a cost of $2.5 million, including federal funds and extensive community business and individual donations, the hospital must secure additional mortgage funds before it can begin an expansion program.

Plans are being pushed by the hospital board of directors, administration and medical staff to provide new facilities as soon as possible. Emphasis probably will be placed on expanding service facilities with a maximum addition of 100 beds, hospital authorities indicate.

ORIGINAL DESIGN of the four-story patient building and one-story service structure included plans for expansion. Both ends of the four-story building could be extended to additional 100-bed patient quarters, while the ancillary service structure was planned for expansion at the far end.

An extensive study of hospital needs recently completed by the medical staff would expand facilities over a possible 10-year period. The doctors suggest a new four-story structure, attached to the present four-story patient building and surrounding the one-story present service building.

Included would be new outpatient and enlarged emergency-room departments, extended surgery facilities, a new intensive - care unit, greatly increased laboratory and X-ray departments with radioactive isotope facilities, new blood-bank department and possible psychiatric unit.

The hospital board of trustees is currently investigating architects with the aim of securing architectural work for the proposed addition this fall. With the extensive planning still necessary, expanded facilities probably would not be opened until at least 1964 or 1965.

LUTHERAN GENERAL HOSPITAL, PARK RIDGE

THE MOST elaborate and extensive medical expansion, leading to a massive medical center, is planned by Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. In the announced expansion the original 300-bed hospital and 100-student nursing school will be only small sections of the over-all plan.

Under the direction of Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology and the Foundation for Human Ecology, the entire medical center, including the hospital, will be centered on the treatment and study of the entire human being.

This is aimed at bringing physical treatment of a patient into relationship with mental, emotional, social and spiritual factors, spokesmen say. In the ecology program of treatment, a team approach by qualified physicians, surgeons, psychiatrists, clergymen and medical social workers will be integrated through "cooperation, communication, understanding and mutual respect."

According to information from the foundation, established medical centers have had difficulty in introducing this concept because of traditions and financial pressures, the foundation feels a new medical school and training center is the answer.

LUTHERAN General Hospital and its nursing school are the first steps in this program.

By 1967 the medical center will be enlarged with the addition of almost 200 beds in the modern, air-conditioned hospital at a cost of about $2.5 million. The nursing school will be expanded from 100 to 200 students at an additional $750,000 cost.

A completely new research wing to house medical research programs will be added at a cost of $3.3 million.

A massive clinical, diagnostic building will be built at a cost of $5 million. This building will include space for extensive diagnostic laboratories and 200 beds for self-care patients (both diagnostic patients and "graduating" hospital patients who have reached the self-help status).

THE BUILDING also will include 95 doctors' suites. The doctors' offices will be directly available to clinical facilities and are aimed at cutting transportation time wasted by doctors traveling to and from the hospital from offices.

All of these facilities will be located on the south "campus" of the medical center on the original 33-acre hospital site. Sometime after 1967 an additional acute geriatric hospital with 100 beds will be built at an estimated cost of $2.5 million. Another addition will be a center for treatment of emotionally disturbed children with 30 beds at an estimated cost of $450,000.

The foundation has acquired an additional 30 acres for a north campus directly across Dempster Street from the original hospital property. This will be the site of the medical school.

Before 1967 four apartment or dormitory buildings will be built on the north campus to house faculty, research students, interns and residents. These units will cost an estimated $1,750,000.

ST. JOSEPH HOSPITAL, ELGIN

EXPANSION of the present 150-bed hospital, built in 1925, is needed, hospital spokesmen state. No concrete plans are formulated, but expansion, probably by reconstruction at another site, is envisioned in five to 10 years, according to hospital authorities.

HOLY FAMILY HOSPITAL, DES PLAINES

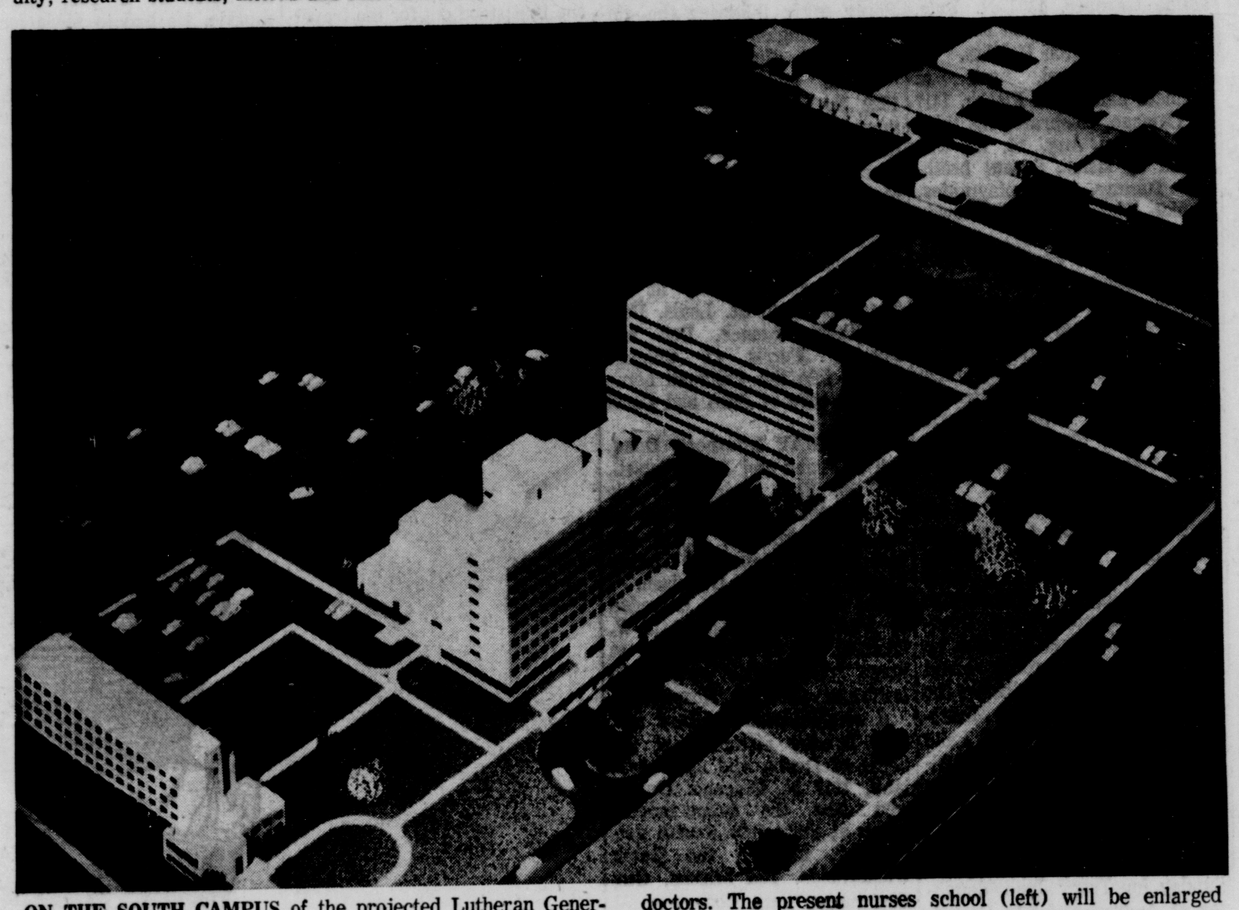
The present 205-bed hospital on a 66-acre site will be expanded to 415 beds with 60 bassinets with the addition of three more floors. This extension of facilities will come in five to 10 years, Hospital Administrator Joseph Davis said.

Present improvement of facilities now open is a recently-completed air-conditioning program. Started last spring, the extensive work is now completed and available to patients for the balance of the summer. Cost of the improvement was $250,000, Davis said, with the hospital women's auxiliary pledging the necessary funds.

(A-14

THE 30-ACRE NORTH campus of the projected Lutheran General medical center will have four major buildings (left) devoted to housing for faculty, research students, interns and residents erected by 1967. Cost of the four housing units is estimated at $1,750,000. Sometime after 1967 the medical college, with educational and housing facilities for 400 students, will be built (center) at a cost of about $12 million. In conjunction with the college a new teaching and research hospital is planned with estimated building costs set at $10 million.

(A14



ON THE SOUTH CAMPUS of the projected Lutheran General medical center the present hospital (center, left) will form the central unit of a massive building complex. The hospital will be expanded from 300 to 500 beds at a cost of $2.5 million. Connected to the hospital will be a $3.3 million research wing, with a new $5 million clinic building attached. This building will house extensive diagnostic laboratories, 200-bed self-help and diagnostic patient section and office suites for 95 doctors. The present nurses school (left) will be enlarged from 100 to 200 student capacity at a cost of $750,000. All of these units are planned before 1967. Scheduled for construction after 1967 is an acute geriatrics hospital with 100 beds and a center for treatment of emotionally disturbed children (right rear). These units will total almost $3 million in cost.

Plans Not Detailed

Three New Hospitals Are 'In Air' Locally

Proposals for three new hospitals in the north DuPage County-northwest Cook County area are "in the air," but not specifically detailed in any case.

The three proposed locations for hospitals are Bensenville, Addison and the Palatine-Barrington area.

In the case of Bensenville, municipal authorities are seeking a "non-profit" hospital to build in the community because of shortage of hospital facilities.

In Addison, a zoning hearing is scheduled this week by a private realtor to get hospital zoning for a site, presumably to be developed as a private (proprietary) hospital.

IN THE PALATINE-Barrington proposal, an individual doctor is seeking backing for a hospital which he has designated as non-profit.

The Hospital Planning Council for Metropolitan Chicago, a non-profit hospital-building research and coordinating agency, has not been approached on the two DuPage County proposals. They have been asked to study the Palatine-Barrington proposal.

In all three cases the council has found in research studies that existing non-profit voluntary hospitals will be building all of the needed hospital facilities.

FOR BENSENVILLE and Addison, the expansion of Memorial Hospital of DuPage County in Elmhurst by 1964, coupled with the opening of Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village just north of the DuPage County line, will alleviate any shortage of hospital beds.

Similarly, with Alexian Brothers and the expansion of North-Arlington Heights there would appear to be no need for additional hospital construction in the Northwest Cook County area.

Two forms of proprietary hospitals are found in the Chicago area. Most are plainly designated as private hospitals. In another type of operation, a private profit-making organization will lease either land or land and building to a non-profit hospital organization (which the private corporation may control by membership in the board of directors).

IN THE SECOND instance, the hospital may be designated as non-profit, even though a profit is being made on its operation. Usually the rental comes to a certain percentage of gross hospital profits — sometimes as much as the profit from one week of each month.

According to Dr. Karl S. Klicka, executive director of the planning council, five factors are needed for a hospital to serve best the general community welfare.

These five factors are met when the organizing motivation is serving community needs rather than private interests, when the proposed hospital is 200 beds or more, when the directing board includes provision for broad community representation, when there is an annual publication of an audited financial statement and when needless duplication of facilities is avoided by relating the proposed project to the real needs of the community and to the services already existing in nearby hospitals.

DR. KLICKA points out that proposals for proprietary hospitals rarely meet any of these criteria.

Dr. Klicka further notes "on the surface, proprietary hospitals are very attractive to a community which wants its own hospital since the private hospital is built with private funds and assumes full responsibility for its own financial operation." "This saves the community the difficult task of fund raising," he states.

The problem is that in order to make a profit, evidence points to the fact that proprietary hospitals charge the same prices but give a lot less for the money, he stresses.

MORE WORRISOME, Dr. Klicka says, is that investigations of backgrounds and motivations of individual physicians who wish to establish proprietary hospitals reveal one type of motivation is to get away from the bothersome restrictions of an organized medical staff and be able to practice medicine more freely.

In other cases, he adds, failure to be accepted on the staff of an established institution provides the motivation for starting a new hospital.

Dr. Klicka expresses concern over "the type of medical practice to be carried on in small institutions established by either medical staff refugees or medical staff rejects."

THE PLANNING Council points out there is no present suitable control over proprietary hospitals. Present state laws are framed to deal solely in terms of minimum construction standards. Local zoning regulations are helpful, but in general most communities do not have ordinances which can deal with this problem effectively, Dr. Klicka points out.

The consequences of failure to contain the proprietary hospital problem are "so serious for the community at large that better tools for combatting this problem must be developed — and quickly," Dr. Klicka emphasizes.

Will All New Hospitals Be $$$ Success?

Are all of the new hospital facilities needed, or will area-residents be faced with a super-abundance of hospital beds?

According to hospital administrators, too many beds can be almost as big a problem as too few. Too many beds can mean that hospitals operate "in the red" forcing a cut-back on services to overcome deficits.

To avoid over-building of hospital facilities and to coordinate hospital planning, a new non-profit corporation went into operation in 1958.

THE HOSPITAL Planning Council for Metropolitan Chicago has become the leading authority on hospital needs and plans for achieving adequate and efficient hospital care in the Chicago area.

In a study of proposed building plans for Northwest Community and Alexian Brothers Hospitals the council indicated both will be needed, but opening of the two units should be coordinated to meet community needs.

Members of the council are not individual hospitals, but community agencies with an interest in hospital services. The work of the council, in their own words, is community, research and action oriented.

COUNCIL approval of building or expansion plans has become a "must" in practice for individual hospitals in the Chicago area to gain state approval or federal funds.

The expansion programs listed for the north DuPage and northwest Cook County area were and are under intensive study by the council.

A preliminary study of north suburban Cook County was completed in May because of proposed plans of Northwest Community, Alexian Brothers and Lutheran General Hospitals.

THE COUNCIL found a need for immediate construction to provide 105 to 205 new hospital beds. A further detailed study due to be completed in October might increase this figure, council spokesmen indicated.

In studying the expansion proposals of the three hospitals, the need for beds at the western section of suburban Cook County was felt to be greater than in the Park Ridge area, giving the first "green light" to Northwest Community or Alexian Brothers. In a specific study of the Alexian Brothers hospital proposal, the council gave its full approval to the new hospital in Elk Grove Village.

This would appear to "use up" the full 200-bed expansion which the council felt the area needed and preclude expansion of the other two hospitals.

SPEAKING FOR the council, Associate Director Rosson L. Cardwell indicated the approval was given Alexian Brothers Hospital because a review of Northwest Community Hospital plans revealed its expansion program could not get under way during the coming year due to the need to secure additional mortgage funds before beginning an expansion program.

This would set expansion of Northwest Community probably one year after Alexian Brothers was opened. With expected increased population the addition of 100 hospital beds would not constitute overbuilding.

The council felt this would alleviate any possible conflict between the two hospitals in their construction programs.

THE EXPANSION of Lutheran General is set for "before 1967" and would, again, have additional population pressure built up for another year. This might make the difference, the council indicated.

The State of Illinois Bureau of Hospitals uses different areas in considering hospital building needs. George A. Lindsley, chief of the bureau, has indicated a need for 475 beds in the general area included in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg Townships.

Lindsley noted the 475 figure was based on "some projection of future needs and would not be expected to be accomplished immediately."

The present 110 beds at Northwest Community Hospital, its anticipated 100-bed expansion program and the construction of 220 beds at the new Alexian Brothers Hospital would appear substantially to meet the needs projected by the Hospital Bureau.

Another factor is that the original bed-need study by the Planning Council and the State Hospital Bureau did not include the north DuPage County communities which have a shortage of hospital facilities and which are expected to use the facilities of Alexian Brothers.

This shortage will be adequately met by construction of Alexian Brothers, set to open in 1965, and the expansion of Memorial Hospital of DuPage in Elmhurst, with new facilities to be ready in 1964, the council pointed out. These two hospitals are both within easy distance of Bensenville, Itasca, Addison and Wood Dale.

Newest Books Offered In Library's Rentals

By BETTY AINSLIE

Looks as if we're going to have all that summer weather about the time schools open. What with getting school supplies and ironing up a batch of clothes for the kids maybe you figure you just don't have the time to read this week.

But nothing is more relaxing than a good book and as inexpensive a mood changer even if you do take your selections from the rental shelves of Arlington Memorial Library.

THE RENTALS are the latest of the published books. The novels which will be in demand are placed on these shelves so that more of us will have the opportunity to read the newest in fiction.

Charges are very reasonable and, with the price of new books today, just trying to read a little of the latest volumes would be a bankrupting proposition.

So even if the week ahead looks a bit full you can find time to relax and unwind with maybe one of the following books.

"Damned If You Do, Damned If You Don't" is a good explosive title by Marjorie K. Osterman.

A rousing, interest holding story of a German Jewish family who come to America and taste prosperity and luxury when their department store chain becomes big business. This is the New York of 1900 and a rather complete study of the upper middle class Jew in America.

IN THE PAGES of this book we discover characters we never will forget and the powerful story is one concerning the problem of wanting to be part of the group and yet keep the Jewish traditions.

Irving Wallace has a very popular new book published recently called "The Prize." Here is a dramatic and different story about six people and how a telegram announcing that they are Nobel Prize winners changes their lives.

There's the American who is an alcoholic. The German physicist who is forced to make a compromise of his life. A California heart surgeon who had the slight taint of professional jealousy about him. One Italian doctor and finally a Parisian husband and wife who find their marriage is on the rocks.

ALL OF THESE people gather together for a rather hot time in the liberal city of Stockholm and makes for an interesting blending of lives. The book contains many vivid behind the scenes of the prize itself; how the winners are chosen and what pressures are placed on the judges themselves. A little heavy going in spots but good writing saves the book and makes a fine interesting story.

"Noon On The Third Day" by James Hulbert is a political novel. Probably there will be a rash of these since the success of "Advise and Consent." This one is shorter and to my mind easier to follow.

The setting is Washington, D.C. and the hero is a United States Senator. As every book has the hero faced with a problem in this one the Senator finds himself forced to decide on a bill that could ruin his whole future as a politician depending upon which way he votes. So he has a battle to win a re-election and a battle to soothe his conscience.

A NOVEL about the new Japan is called "The Custom House" by Francis King. This is a story of a savage murder which involves a lovely new world Japanese girl, an American newspaperman an Australian missionary and an English professor. This is the modern Japanese woman who is a far cry from the Madam Butterfly of old Japan.

"The Northern Palmyra Affair" by Harrison Salisbury is a story of Russian life in the city of Leningrad, and of Irena and the artistic and political life around her. This book is Russian in character and setting but is written by an American author with an understanding of the Russian thought and mind told, so that we might understand these people a bit better.

Ellen Douglas has written her first novel called "A Family Affair." It has marvelous possibilities but bogs down a little while the author seems to do the thinking for her characters. However a series of flashbacks jump around a bit and seems a little confusing but hold the story together.

This is about Kate and her long life in a Mississippi small town. Her marriage and widowhood, and the lives and marriages of her four children. Will bring back some memories of your own childhood and makes for pleasant if not exciting reading. (A

News Of Prospect Meadows

Most Meadowites are still recuperating from the fair. It was a tremendous success and everyone seemed to have a good time. Now they are all looking forward to the Harvest Hop in November.

Peg and Frank Czech were recent dinner guests of Peg's folks, the E. P. Hamiltons of Chicago. Peg and her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Hirschmiller of Wild Root, Ill., spent a day in Waukegan.

Ricki Sue Halabrin, 616 Oriole, recently celebrated her ninth birthday with a splash party in her back yard for Toni and Dawn Eulen, Debbie Sage, Mary Anne Dowiarz and Jackie Michael of the Meadows, Joy Moss of Prospect Heights and Diane Cullen of Glenview. And a joint birthday party was held recently for Ricki Sue and her cousin, Larry Miller, in Larry's home in Mundelein.

Anne and Vic Incinelli, 608 Bob-o-link, recently entertained their nephew, Bob Mazzarella, and a friend, Louis Ceruli, from Winchester, Mass. for a week. Louis is a student at Marquette University in Wisconsin.

BILL AND SUE Appleby entertained Bill's folks, the George Applebys of Milwaukee, over the weekend to help celebrate Sue's birthday.

Best wishes and condolences come hard upon one another, as we extend best wishes to Dick Anderson, son of the Frank G. Andersons, 612 Bunting Lane, on his marriage Saturday to Miss Lois Molitor of Arlington, and condolences to Dick and his bride on the death of Dick's uncle, Egil Anderson, who died early Sunday morning.

The Chuck Brazeau family, 428 Foundry Road, spent a part of their recent vacation in Canada, Niagara Falls and in Michigan City.

Saturday, Rita and Chuck Durec attended a splash party at Flick Reedy in Bensenville with the Buzz Busas of Park Ridge and the Bob Webers. Then on to the VFW for dinner and dancing. Sunday the Durecs visited Pat and John Wrath, former Meadowites, in their new home in Cary.

A BLOCK PARTY was held on Oriole Lane, at the John Sage home with the Robert Nolans, John Brognis, Richard Halabrins, James Kincls, Fran Millers, Warren Spauldings, Ed Codys, Leo Murrays, Ed Daniels, Walter Ulans and the Will Wagners, plus former Meadowites, the Russell Seymours of Northbrook in attendance.

Marge and Leo Murray recently entertained eight couples for a barbecue in honor of the Jack Harrisons of Miami, Fla.

Diane and Jim O'Connor attended a reunion on Sunday at the Neil Lawyer home in Chicago in honor of Brother Tom Cavanaugh, a Christian Brother, who is allowed leave once in seven years. Brother Cavanaugh is stationed in New Jersey at the present.

The Henry Orlowski family is entertaining Peg's brother, Ted Rinehart of Washburn, Ill., for a while. The family spent Sunday at their summer home at Lake ShangriLa.

Paul Swanson celebrated his second birthday at a recent family reunion party. (AM

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

This isn't exactly Ladies' Day, but here are a few facts that come to mind regarding the fair sex:

Only one woman in 25 can wink with either eye and only one in five can whistle. The first state to grant women equal rights was Wyoming. One American housewife in 17 has the privilege of wrinkling fenders on her own car. Despite the belief that "gentlemen prefer blondes" statistics at hand show 60 per cent of the males prefer brunettes, 30 per cent favor blondes and the remainder lean to red-headed preference. 61 per cent of married women are subject to headaches, as compared to 70 per cent of spinsters.

Redecorating your home can be quite a headache unless you get started right. Friendly advice and most all necessary needs are available at PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO. From paint to glass of a special cut and design, you will find your needs at PALATINE PAINT & GLASS CO., 9-11 N. Bothwell. Phone FL 9-0954.

Expressway Proposal Outlined at Parley

The need for an expressway west from Evanston were discussed at a meeting sponsored by the Chicago Motor Club last Thursday in the Orrington Hotel, Evanston.

Matthew C. Sielski, director of the motor club's safety and traffic engineering department, outlined to suburban officials and civic leaders the necessity for early planning of an east-west expressway to service the rapidly growing northern and northwestern suburbs.

CHICAGO Area Transportation Study traffic projections show that by 1980 traffic on Dempster street, Oakton street, and Golf road alone will approximate a volume of 100,000 cars daily, thereby justifying the need for an expressway in this area.

Sielski suggested that the expressway begin somewhere in the area of Evanston and proceed west to its junction with the Illinois Toll Road.

He stressed that as in the case of other highway proposals, the precise location of an east - west expressway out of Evanston would be left for city, county, state, and Federal road engineers to determine after field surveys.

RECENT rush - hour time studies made by motor club traffic engineers on Dempster and Golf releaved the following statistics:

—On Golf, to negotiate the 6.7 miles from Orrington avenue in Evanston to Waukegan road it took 18 minutes and five seconds. A total of 21 stops were required and the average speed was 22.2 miles per hour; —On Dempster, to negotiate the 6.8 miles between Ill. 42A and Waukegan road it took 19 minutes and 50 seconds. A total of 20 stops were necessary and the average speed was 20.3 miles per hour.

Sielski pointed out that as traffic volumes continue to grow in this region because of increased population, the travel time for motorists by necessity must become even longer.

SUBURBAN officials attending the meeting included Arlington Heights Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

James E. Bulger, vice president of the motor club, appointed a committee to consider further promotion of the project. (B8

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell
Assistant Farm Advisor

Alert Homeowners
Dial Daily 392-3060

Every homeowner at one time or another finds it necessary to buy grass seed and establish a lawn. Most people do not have the time to become experts on turf and are often misled by seed salesmen who are only interested in making a sale.

The following rules are from the Brooklyn Botanical Garden Handbook on Lawns and is an excellent guide for unexperienced seed purchasers.

1. Do not buy the cheapest seed unless you want a temporary lawn. The old axiom, "you get what you pay for," is not necessarily true. In the case of cheap lawn seed, you often get less for your money than if you buy high quality seed.

2. USE GRASS varieties that are best adapted to this area, or to the use to which you will put them. Kentucky bluegrass, fine leaved fescue, and bents are suited to northern Illinois. Zoysia, centipede grass or Bermuda are not well suited except for special uses.

3. Avoid seed that features sensational claims.

4. Avoid seed that hides the analysis. A seedsman is proud of good seed. The per cent of each variety of seed, the per cent of germination of each variety, and the test date should be clearly indicated. If the test date is over nine months previous, or the germination percentage is below 75 per cent, the seed is not dependable. When seed is offered at considerably below the going price, these factors should be checked.

5. Don't rely on your neighbor for advice. You will probably just repeat his mistakes.

6. REALIZE that seed is only one part—although very important—of the process of establishing a good lawn. For best results, give the seed a good chance by careful preparation of the seedbed and proper attention to watering the seed as it germinates.

7. Secure a good lawn maintenance booklet and follow the suggestions in it. An excellent publication is available from my office at the Extension Service Office, 201 N. Dunton Ave., Arlington Heights, Ill., or ask your seed dealer for one.

8. When in doubt, consult your farm adviser, or an established reputable nurseryman.

By following the above rules most of the pitfalls in buying grass seed can be avoided.

ARE YOU wondering about starting a new lawn this year? By starting now you will give the seed a chance to develop a dense stand before cold weather. The first step in establishing a successful lawn should be a soil test. A test tells you if the soil is acid or alkaline or if it needs plant foods. Before seeding is the best time to correct soil conditions.

The seed to use depends largely upon the conditions under which the grass must grow. Some grasses tolerate dry, sandy conditions, while others can be grown in heavy, moist soil. A little extra effort in preparing the seedbed will pay big dividends. We suggest these steps:

1. Apply organic matter and lime if needed.

2. Plow or rotofill 6 inches deep.

3. RAKE OR DISK starter fertilizer into the upper 2 inches of soil. Apply 10 pounds of 10-6-4 or similar analysis fertilizer per 1,000 sq. ft.

4. Rake before seeding, break all clumps of soil or remove them.

5. Seed the kind and amount of grass needed, depending on soil conditions, exposure to sun and shade and the lawn texture wanted.

6. Rake lightly to cover the seed.

7. Roll to firm seed into the soil and to stabilize the seedbed.

8. MULCH slopes with either burlap or straw to keep seed from washing.

9. Water lightly using a fine spray. A No. 10 hand sprinkler attached to a garden hose gives good results.

Watering plays an important part in successfully establishing a ne .Snkineopoagthtwawling a new lawn. Soaking the top one or two inches will be sufficient, since the seed is at the top. After the seed germinates, gradually increase the amount of water and decrease the frequency. Then continue watering, if necessary, until the grass has been mowed at least twice. (BB

Children's Home Sets Fund Drive

The Missionary Children's Home, Lake Zurich, dedicated to the rehabilitation of mothers and children from broken homes, will hold its annual tag days Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 in Arlington Heights.

The home has successfully rehabilitated many broken homes so that they have become self-supporting during the past 32 years, officials said.

"DIVORCE AND broken homes rates are at their most serious peak of all time," said The Rev. Carl P. Nelson, director of the home. "We appreciate any and all efforts to assist us in this most needy cause."

Broken homes are referred to the Lake Zurich organization by police departments, churches, business firms, and other agencies. The primary needs of the people are spiritual, financial, or social.

Volunteer workers will conduct the tag days in Arlington Heights. They will wear identification badges. (A

New Traffic Pattern For Goebbert Road

By HELENE BRISTOL

Traffic on Goebbert Road between Algonquin and Golf Roads will be one-way for northbound cars only starting Tuesday, Sept. 4, when Forest View High School opens. Police will be stationed at Goebbert and Golf Roads and at Goebbert and Seegars Roads to enforce the one-way rule.

The narrow roadway, even with traffic flowing only one way, is expected to have a full share of traffic snarls and bottlenecks. Sidewalks, grading and parking lots are not ready at the new school which will open for 1,375 students, forcing parking, walking and parent "taxi service" onto the road in competition with school buses.

GOEBBERT ROAD in the Golf to Algonquin area is partly maintained by Elk Grove Township and partly maintained by the Village of Arlington Heights. The village acquired control of part of the roadway as a part of the recent annexation of territory to the south, including the high school site.

The narrow road is barely wide enough for two school buses to pass. By slating all traffic in one direction, school authorities hope to keep transportation problems to a minimum. The one-way traffic will be maintained until the school parking lot is useable, a period which could range from a few days to several weeks.

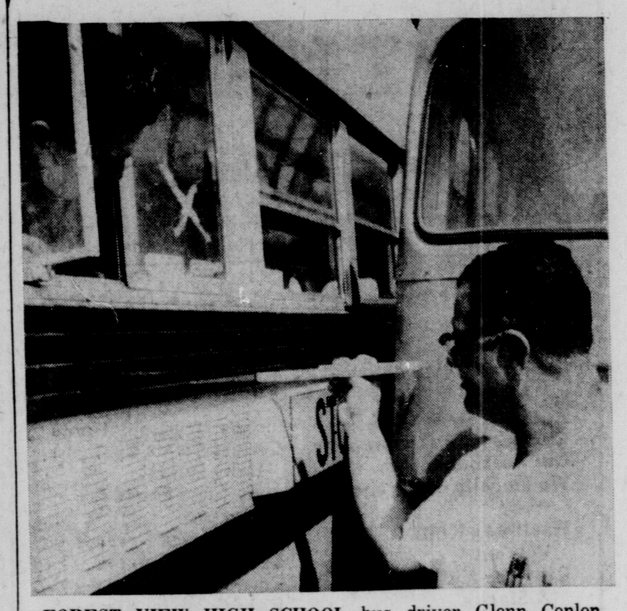
Roadway parking will be a necessity for faculty, driver-students, parent "taxi" or carpools and workmen still busy with finishing the gymnasium building and outside site development work. Students walking to school also will use the road.

THE SITE-development contractor for the new school, Robert A. Black of Chicago, has promised all sidewalks around the school will be installed before the September 4 opening.

A spokesman for the contractor made the emphatic statement this week, adding that only bad weather would prevent the sidewalks' being in use on opening day.

A little "bad weather" could hold up not only the sidewalks, but grading, working on the parking lot, completion of storm drainage lines, connection of the still unfinished sanitary sewer lines and make parking and traffic an even greater problem —in spite of one-way traffic flow.

CLOSE QUARTERS for passing school buses, soon to be complicated with faculty, student and construction worker cars, is shown by Tiny Gagne, construction foreman for the Forest View High School contractor. Because of the close quarters, parked cars, cars of parents dropping off students and students walking along the road, school officials this week decided to make the roadway one way running north until site development and parking facilities at the new school are completed.



FOREST VIEW HIGH SCHOOL bus driver Glenn Conlon checks the measurement made by Tiny Gagne, construction foreman for Sproul Contractors, builders of Forest View High. The men found a clearance of about ½ foot between the passing buses on Goebbert Road, with side clearance of less than a foot.

Three College Credit Courses Are Included

High School District 214's evening adult education program will include three University of Illinois college credit courses this fall.

The three offerings are Accounting 101, English 285 (The Short Story), and Professional Engineering.

The accounting course, taught by Edmund Ossman includes simple transactions, general ledger accounts, books of original entry, closing process, trial balances, financial statements, and adjusting entries.

AVAILABLE FOR three semester hour credit, the course begins Sept. 19.

The three hour English course is a historical and critical study of the short story, both American and European, from the 19th Century to World War I.

Major emphasis is on Hawthorne, James, Crane, Gogol, Checkhov, Maupassant, Flaubert, Joyce, and Mansfield, English 285's first session is Sept. 17.

The engineering course is designed for engineers who wish to prepare themselves for the state examinations for the Professional Engineer License. It is taught by the University's engineering staff and consists of 11 sessions, beginning Sept. 10, from 6:30 to 9:20 p.m.

ALL THREE courses will be taught at Arlington High School and have a tuition of $30. Further information and registration materials can be secured at the adult education office at Arlington High.

High School credit courses offered this fall include English, algebra, plane geometry, French, German, Russian, Spanish, typing, painting, shorthand, mechanical drawing, bookkeeping and physical science.

A brochure listing the District's complete offerings will be mailed to residents in two weeks. (ACM-EG

THE MAIN CENTRAL COURT and building interiors both present a finished and "ready for business" look at Forest View High School, even though exterior site grading, parking lots, sidewalks and sanitary sewer connections are still incomplete. The planting of the large courtyard was donated by Charles Klehm & Son Nursery, State and Algonquin Roads.

Sewer Delay Could Extend 'Vacation'

Forest View High School opened officially Wednesday for a teachers' workshop. It is tentatively slated to open for students next Tuesday, Sept. 4.

The teachers, attending educational "pep" sessions in the new $4.5 million, five-unit, 2,500 student school, might have had nostalgic thoughts of old one-room country schools—particularly the comforting convenience of the "little house" at the rear.

FOR FACULTY, workmen, office workers and administration, only a limited number of portable toilets are available.

Gleaming porcelain fixtures are installed in all of the conveniently-situated washrooms. Brightly-polished washbowls stand in a row waiting for use by teachers and students.

The facility lacks only a sanitary sewer to carry away waste.

Sanitary sewer lines on the school property are complete, but still must undergo a special sedimentation-flow test required by Arlington Heights. The village sewer is only 1½ days from hookup with the school line according to a report from Scully, Hunter, Scully, sewer contractors. The firm indicated the latest delay was due to a shortage of pipe and a lack of engineering elevations expected from the village.

IF THE SEWER line is not connected by September 4, students will enjoy a "vacation" until the hookup is made.

Interiors of all buildings except the gymnasium are completed. The main central court is landscaped and provides the only spot of green in the otherwise dusty (or muddy) campus.

SITE DEVELOPMENT work is being rushed. Robert A. Black, site contractor, has promised sidewalks and curbs for the parking lot by opening day. Work in grading, digging a new drainage ditch around the property and a retention basin on the site, and installation of catchbasins is continuing at a rapid pace, school officials pointed out.

School spokesmen are keeping an anxious eye on the sky until Tuesday. Rain could stall any part of the development work, and school administrators stress there is little "margin" for delay with opening slated in (A four days.

Show Plan for Dunton School

A detailed report on the requirements for developing the site of the proposed new Dunton grammar school was presented to the Arlington Heights Board of Education Monday night by William A. Ganster, the school district architect.

The site is located between Dunton and Arlington Heights Road and bounded by Cypress Road on the north and White Oak Road on the south.

Ganster outlined the need for sewer pipes along both Dunton and Arlington Heghts Road, which is scheduled for widening early next year. Cypress Road will require both storm sewers and a water main to supply the proposed school.

THE ARCHITECT pointed out that the school board will be partially reimbursed for the expense of the water main as new homes are constructed along Cypress and the mains are tapped for residential use.

Inasmuch as installation of the underground service would not be scheduled until early spring, Ganster recommended that Norman Toberman, the village engineer, be asked to prepare engineering drawings and specifications for the water and sewer lines as well as street paving for the project.

This procedure had been followed at the Olive School construction and resulted in savings to the school district.

CONCURRING with Ganster's recommendations, the board directed Supt. R. E. Clabaugh to contact the village engineer and arrange for the engineering work late this fall.

At th enext board meeting, it is expected that preliminary floor plans of the proposed Dunton School will be completed. It is hoped that the new school will be built in time for the 1963-64 school year.

All of these plans are dependent upon the outcome of the Oct. 20 referendum on school bonds covering construction of the new building.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

THE TRIED 'N TRUE PUBLICITY man is an invaluable addition to the sports department at Paddock Publications.

We depend on the various organizations providing a good, sound publicity outlet — an individual who has the answers and pertinent information.

Unfortunately, too many organizations in the area served by the newspapers give little attention during their planning stages to furnishing adequate publicity.

A sound publicity outlet is of prime importance during the summer months when the various baseball leagues, golf leagues, swimming teams, et al are numerous and scattered, creating some complex problems for adequate gathering of news.

Some publicity men live up to "their end of the bargain" — while others are inconsistent and inconsiderate. Some bend over backwards to provide newspapers with needed facts for complete publicity, but the "aches and pains" obviously lie with the brass, which fails, at the outset of the campaign, to sufficiently organize.

An area all-star team was hooked up in a national baseball tournament, but no one felt it was necessary to inform the newspaper until the competition had already begun. Then when the team won its opening series, a story was at the sports desk first thing Monday morning.

The following week, following a pair of defeats and elimination, nothing was turned in to the paper. Too often an organization can't turn in releases fast enough when its team is winning but is hesitant about advertising a few defeats.

A new baseball team was organized in the area, material was available for the first few weeks, then interest lagged and you couldn't "beg, borrow, or steal" the necessary facts.

Releases on area swimming teams have been creating another headache with certain groups surprisingly uncooperative in the handling of stories.

Little League publicitors are faced with gigantic tasks in assembling scores, standings, and highlights each week, but they are among the groups living up to "their end of the bargain." With few exceptions we have little trouble with the numerous Little Leagues in this area. They're well organized at the outset and understand the problems connected with adequate publicity.

Better pre-season planning is a necessity for each organization that desires adequate publicity.

Personal coverage of the countless activities that arise during the summer is impossible. We obviously can't handle the sports' department from June through August the same way we do from September through May.

Let's hope for better cooperation next summer.

TWO MORE HIGH SCHOOLS have joined Paddock's growing sports family.

The addition of York High of the West Suburban Conference and Forest View of the Interim League brings to nine the number of schools covered by Paddock's chain of suburban newspapers.

With this expanding coverage we are adding another man to the sports desk. We will continue coverage of the athletic events at all high schools within our circulation area but must necessarily cut back on a few phases due to lack of editorial space.

Accounts of varsity and frosh-soph contests in football and basketball will be combined for all schools. We will no longer be able to run summaries and box scores of preliminary and frosh-soph events in any sport but will continue publication of summaries and box scores of varsity contests in football, basketball, wrestling, gymnastics, swimming, and track.

However, we intend to continue to cover sports at all levels, including highlights of all contests.

Our sports family now consists of Arlington High, Prospect, Palatine, St. Viator, Forest View, Fenton, Lake Park, Willowbrook, and York. These schools are involved in five conferences.

Jackson Heads Prospect Staff

For the past three years the football story at Prospect High School in Mount Prospect has been filled with success.

A conference championship, streak of 18 straight games without defeat, and 19 victories in 23 outings have been recorded in the three short years Prospect High has fielded a varsity football team.

The fourth edition of a varsity gridiron aggregation at the Foundry Road establishment currently is undergoing concentrated practice sessions under the careful scrutiny of J. O. Jackson and his staff in preparation for the Sept. 15 opener against rugged North Chicago.

JACKSON, WHO took over as head coach following Bill Beckman's appointment as Forest View athletic director, has 37 candidates, including 12 lettermen, out for the varsity squad.

Although graduation stripped Prospect of several outstanding performers, including everybody's all-star, fullback Bruce Andrise, the 1962 outfit will be no push-over. A winning tradition has been established at Prospect High, and this current crop of young athletes is anxious to equal or surpass the amazing records of their predecessors.

Heading the returnees is all-conference lineman Ron Aukamp. Ron is one of seven members of the forward wall back to brighten the Prospect outlook.

OTHER MONOGRAM winners returning up front are ends Dennis Mitchell and Jim Hogarty, tackle Bob Munson, and guards Tony Inzerello, John Krupa, and Al Blomquist.

Two veteran quarterbacks, Kenny Groh and Bob Gerrard, give Jackson some vital experience at the important signal-calling slot, and Wayne Zaehler and Dan Johnson are back at the halfback positions.

Johnson was just beginning to find himself last fall when he was shelved with an injury. Dan finished with 96 yards rushing and three touchdowns.

MIKE DAWSON, another returning letterman, has been shifted to fullback, and Jackson has been pleased with his progress thus far. Necessitating Dawson's shift was the departure of John Davis, a backfield standout in the latter stages of the 1961 campaign.

Davis, who picked up 114 yards in 23 carries, was being counted on to plug the fullback gap created by Andrise's graduation, but his family moved.

Prospect will find out early how its club will shape up in '62 as it will meet a highly regarded North Chicago eleven in the opener Sept. 15. The Warhawks are loaded with veterans from the defending Tri-County champions.

THE KNIGHTS play six league games this fall against East Leyden, Glenbard East, Maine West, Deerfield, Niles West, and Glenbrook North. An open day has forced a meeting of junior-varsity teams from Prospect and Forest View on Fri., Oct. 26.

The Glenbard East game will serve as Dad's Day with Deerfield here for the Knightimes festivities.

Assisting Jackson with the Prospect outfit are Chuck Aldrich, George Gattas, and Dick Mudge on a varsity level. Ted Wissen and Don Barrett are handling the sophs with Don Williams, Rick Farris, and Dave Ziemek working with the freshmen.

MOUNT PROSPECT Village President C. O. Schlaver tosses out the first ball at the opening of the Paddock Classic Traveling League's 1962-63 season last Saturday evening. Each of the eight teams scored at least one point in the competition at Gunnell's Bowling Lanes in Mount Prospect.

Paddock Classic League

Gibson's 647 Sparks Opening Night Play

They're off and running in the Paddock Classic Traveling League!

With Mount Prospect Mayor C. O. Schlaver tossing out the first ball at Gunnell's Bowling Lanes the high-flying men's league launched its sixth season of competition Saturday evening.

Each of the eight teams broke into the scoring column in the initial evening of action with James Stavros Democratic Committeeman and Highland Motors tying for top honors.

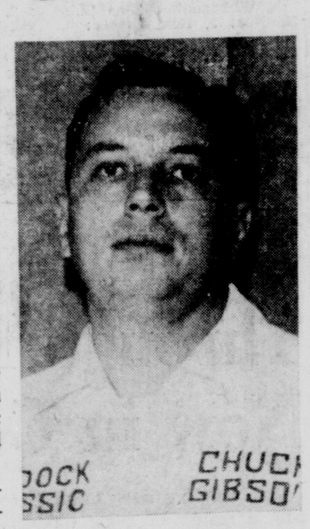
The league will not bowl Labor Day weekend but will resume action on Saturday, Sept. 8, at Pioneer Lanes in Addison. The Paddock Women's league will open play Sept. 8 at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights.

The Standings

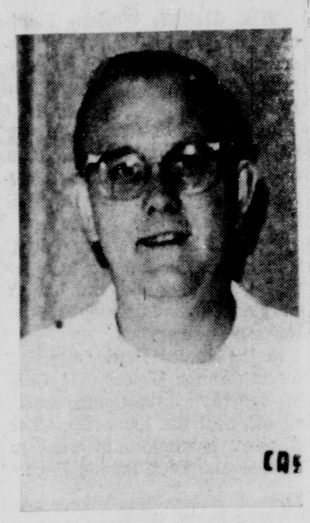
James Stavros	3
Highland Motors	3
Morton Pontiac	2
Lieber's	2
Pioneer Lanes	2
Stan's tSandard	1
Moyle Construction	1
River Rand	1

JAMES Stavros handled River Rand in two of three games and also fashioned the high team series in picking up three points at Gunnell's. Highland Motors took an identical route to its three markers in competition with Moyle Construction.

Chuck Gibson of James Stavros posted the top series for the evening with a booming 647 on games of 211, 214, and 222.



CHUCK GIBSON



CASPER DEWITZ

Chuck had the only 600-plus series for the league pace-setters, but teammate Ed Melton of Northbrook was only 13 pins off the magic mark at 587.

Gibson, who lives in Bensenville, topped Casper Dewitz of Lieber's Bowlers Shop by 20 pins among the top individual efforts of the evening.

Dewitz, who is author of the high average, high game, and high series in Classic League history, got off to a solid start in the 1962-63 campaign. He opened with a 222 and backed that with games of 232 and 173.

JAMES STAVROS' three-point pickup against River Rand was accomplished on a 957 opener, 981 second game, and 2836 series. River Rand was able to pick up just a single marker with 914 third game keyed by a 199 by Mike Wagner of Des Plaines. Tony Sasso of Des Plaines paced River Rand for the evening with a 621 series on games of 233, 208 and 180.

Tom Kouros' 596 paced Highland Motors to its 3-1 victory

Ormsbee in 12th Season

Arlington High School's football fortunes have been at a low ebb for the past two seasons in the rough West Suburban Conference.

After finishing a lofty third in 1959 the varsity gridiron Cardinals skidded to the cellar in 1960 and seventh last fall, picking up just two league decisions in 14 outings.

Arlington will kick off another football campaign on Sept. 14 with a non-league tussle against East Leyden's Eagles, and conference warfare will be initiated on Saturday, Sept. 22, when the Cards meet defending champion Hinsdale, a perennial prep power.

WITH 12 lettermen back on the scene there's an air of cautious optimism in the Arlington High camp, but it's still too early to tell how the Cardinals will stack up in 1962.

Head Coach "Bus" Ormsbee, a veteran of WSC coaching ranks who is beginning his 12th season at Arlington, admits that the progress of drills has been "encouraging," but he also is well aware of the rugged schedule facing the locals with Hinsdale, Maine East, Downers Grove, and La Grange furnishing the first four league tests.

OF THE 12 returning monogram winners at Arlington seven are linemen and five are backs. Two of those backs, Ken Layden and Jerry Totzke, finished 1-2 in rushing last fall and a third, Rog Lindstrom, was fourth in the ground gaining department.

Totzke, who alternated with Layden for a good part of 1961 at the key ball carrying slot, has been switched to fullback to take advantage of his quick, straightaway speed and his ability to sweep the ends, and will team with Layden in the same backfield to give Arlington two impressive breakaway threats.

Lindstrom will work at the slot back in the explosive Carlinal backfield, but that fourth position, the important quarterback position, could furnish some problems. Bidding for the job are senior letterman Dan Meyer, who saw most of his action on defense last fall, and junior Jim Ewart.

1962 Schedule

Fri., Sept. 14:
East Leyden at Arlington (Boosters Night)
Sat., Sept. 22:
Arlington at Hinsdale
Fri., Sept. 28:
Maine East at Arlington ("A" Men's Night)
Fri., Oct. 5:

Sat., Oct. 13:

Fri., Oct. 19:
Glenbard West at Arlington (Homecoming)
Sat., Oct. 27:
Arlington at Riverside-Brookfield
Sat., Nov. 3:
York at Arlington (Dad's Day)

OTHER LETTERMEN back at Arlington are ends Phil O'Connell and Hal Selleck, the latter switched from guard; tackles Bill Altier and Ken Wessling; guards Bill Hoban, Earl Snodgrass, and Paul Conti, and halfback Joe Wertheimer.

Promising juniors at this stage of the drills are end Dan Sherman, a 6-foot-3 transfer from Prospect; guard Hugh Smeed; center Earl Seul, another transfer from Prospect in the district boundary shift; and quarterback Ewart.

Seniors who failed to win letters but who are making strong bids for starting berths are end Bob Clark, center Ron Lind, and guard Dave Robertson.

STILL INVOLVED in two a-day drills, Ormsbee staged light contact for his candidates Monday with a scrimmage possible this Saturday. Fifty-five boys are out for the varsity at Arlington.

Assisting Ormsbee with the varsity are John Bush, Steve Chernicky, and Guy Vena. Bill Daletski will head the frosh-sophs with assistance from Julius Fliehler. Jim Hoffman, John Fish, and Tom Walthouse will guide the frosh.

New Water Sports Center in Opening

The new Suburban Water Sports Center, located at 119 E. Lake Street, Bloomingdale, is scheduling a three-day grand opening starting Friday, Aug. 30.

The store specializes in equipment and accessories for aquatic sports, including scuba and snorkel rigs.

Owners of the unique new store are Robert Frantz and Donald Conrad of Roselle, and Bill Moracewski of Chicago, all experienced underwater sports enthusiasts themselves.

In addition to various items of equipment for specialized use, the store will offer "air station" service for refilling air tanks used in underwater swims.

St. Viator To Open on Road Sept. 14

Only two weeks separate St. Viator High School from its first varsity football game in history.

Gradually taking shape under the guidance of Head Coach Griff MacDonald and his staff the Lions are anxiously awaiting their initial taste of varsity grid competition on Friday, Sept. 14.

The Arlington Heights school will journey to St. Francis DeSales for the opener on Sept. 14 and then will play three straight home games against Little Flower, St. Edwards of Elgin, and St. Patricks.

THE HOME opener is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22, against Little Flower. The varsity headliner will be preceded by a frosh-soph contest at 12 noon.

Eight games are included on the St. Viator schedule for 1962, six at home. Other opponents are Maryville Academy, DeLaSalle, DeKalb, and Boylan Central of Rockford.

The game with St. Patricks will be played on a Thursday and Boylan Central of Rockford will come to town on a Sunday.

MacDONALD, former grid mentor at Peoria Spaulding High School, is in the enviable position of having an entire squad back. St. Viator played a frosh-soph schedule in its first year of interscholastic competition and posted a creditable 5-2 record.

The locals whipped Barrington, Marian Central of Woodstock, Immaculate Conception, St. Procopius, and West Leyden last fall.

Assisting MacDonald with the varsity Lions in 1962 will be Frank Mariani and Tom Hansen. Hansen heads up the frosh unit.

1962 Schedule

Fri., Sept. 14:

Opener Sept. 15

120 Grid Candidates At Forest View High

One hundred and twenty football candidates at Forest View High School completed their first week of drills yesterday (Wednesday) in preparation for the opening game on Saturday, Sept. 15, against Elgin West.

Under the direction of Head Coach Bob Scott and his staff the Falcons have been engaged in stiff two-a-day drills on the Prospect High field.

The squads will settle down to single drills daily when school begins next week.

Scott is directing the Forest View varsity aggregation after serving as an assistant under Bill Beckman at Prospect and "Bus" Ormsbee at Arlington. He is assisted by Dick Ohl and Hal Henson on the varsity level at Forest View.

Also serving on the gridiron staff at District 214's newest representative are Paul Jordan and Ken Arneson with the frosh-sophs and Bob Walther, Norm McGregor, and Rusty Dowell with the freshmen.

Jordan comes to Forest View from Assumption, Ill. where he served as head football coach. Walther is the other newcomer to the District 214 coaching ranks, and he was formerly head man at Antioch High School.

McGREGOR IS new to coaching in the district, but he was a math teacher at Prospect High. Arneson is new to football in the area, having formerly served in cross country and basketball. He will be the head basketball coach at Forest View.

Scott indicated at the outset of the week that there is still a lot of work to be done prior to the opener with Elgin, but that he was encouraged by the enthusiasm shown by the candidates thus far. Juniors make up a majority of the squad.

"We may bring up some sophomores for full-time duty with our jayvee squad," Scott indicated, "but that isn't definite. Right now there are three sophomores in particular who stand a good chance at staying with the junior-varsity."

FOREST VIEW will play its home games at the Arlington High School field. Frosh-soph preliminaries will be staged in both Elgin West encounters but otherwise there will be only one game on each date involving the local entry.

Home games will be staged against Elgin West, Maine West, Morton East, and Prospect. The Morton East encounter on Saturday, Oct. 13, will serve as the Fall Festival game.

BOB SCOTT

Mac Says

by G. A. McELROY

FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTED 4 days earlier in Illinois than usual so a hottest part of the summer kept pace by coming at the same time. In recent years this seems to be the situation and coaches have had to be careful not to work the boys too hard in the early practice sessions. Down at Gillespie, Ill., one boy died and another was in the hospital after the opening day of practice for the first casualties of the season. The idea of the extra days is not to start contact earlier, but to have the boys in physical condition to do contact work the following week. The Interim Association has a rule which forbids coaches in any of the schools to allow boys to wear football equipment other than helmets and shoes during the first week of practice. Practicing in gym suits places the emphasis on conditioning rather than playing. This is a rule which more leagues should adopt.

To our way of thinking, it is not the type of formation a football coach uses whether it be the T, split T, the single wing, a spread, or a short punt arrangement which determines the success of the boys who use it. Any formation, if it has an element of deception in it, will work successfully if the boys can properly execute the blocking assignments involved in it. Sometimes a team with just a few well executed plays may be more successful than one with a great variety of formations and plays which are not well learned.

The important elements in every winning team are ability to block and tackle. A boy must enjoy blocking and tackling to be a top performer. Football is a rugged contact game. A boy who is afraid of contact and lacks aggressiveness is going to pose a real problem for a coach who wants to develop him into a good player. A boy who has this desire and love of contact can be made into a good performer in less time than in any other sport.

A few years ago we read an article on football in which a noted coach was quoted on his philosophy of what makes a good team. We quote him as follows: "Coaches believe in the offense or defense they use and it is extremely unwise to change an entire system because you were sold on a new formation at a coaching clinic. Changing the offense is not the cure for failures. No offense is any better than the blocking ability of the players and a defense is effective in direct relation to the tackling ability of the defenders.

"If a team loses consistently, its trouble is almost without exception the poor execution of the basic maneuvers of blocking and tackling. It takes a lot more than weight to make a good football player. We have seen 200 pound lines pushed all over the field by outfits weighing in the hundred and sixties and seventies. More than in any other sport intense competitive spirit and the love of contact in blocking and tackling are the first essentials for success."

PALATINE'S FOOTBALL TEAM is a great big question mark. If the Pirates are a strong contender it will be due to transfers of last year and this year who loom among the best gridiron prospects. Duane Brooks ran wild with the soph team last year and should be a tough halfback for opposing teams to hold in check. Mike Lang was an outstanding lineman who, like Brooks, moved in from Texas last fall.

Coaches report that there are five transfer players from Denver on this year's squad due to United Airlines moving their main headquarters to the Arlington-Palatine area. Those who have watched are already enthusiastic about a rangy end named Jack Frost, a senior regular from a Denver high school team. Another transfer likely to be a valuable addition is a fullback from Ela-Vernon named Williams. It is a wide open situation for varsity positions and the competition is going to be keen for starting spots. Palatine will have largely a junior team, but the talent may be better than was expected. Out for football as of last Saturday were 166 boys including 74 freshmen, 48 sophomores and 44 varsity, a new record.

WITH THE START OF FOOTBALL the question of eligibility comes up. The errors at McHenry should be a warning to all high schools to double or triple check the records of every boy out for football. Here are the situations where a boy may be ineligible to participate in competitive athletics:

(1) If he did not pass 3 courses the previous semester, not including physical education or music; (2) If he started the high school year later than the 10th day of the semester; (3) If his parents or guardian do not live in the school district; (4) If he has attended school 8 semesters or played 4 seasons in one sport; (5) If he attended a coaching school or clinic; (6) If he received pay, either cash or merchandise, for playing or received an award, other than a school letter, valued at more than $3.00; (7) If he reached the age of 19 before the start of the current sports season; (8) If he played on any non-school team or participated in any all star game; (9) If he moves into the district during the semester he is ineligible until he has attended school in the district 30 days; (10) If he attended a parochial or private school the previous year he is ineligible for a year if the school was affiliated with the Illinois High School Association, and (11) If he has not had a physical examination with the approval of a medical doctor to participate in sports competition.

A week before each athletic contest each school must submit to their opponent an eligibility list attesting to the fact that the students are eligible under the rules already mentioned and also that the student is passing for the present school semester to date in three solid high school subjects. This list contains the names of boys, their birthdates, place of birth, semester of high school enrollment, season of high school sports participation, and date of the required annual physical examination.

Claim Palatine LL Championship

Paul Wallin lined a single over short to drive home Doug Weir with the run that gave the Phillies a 1-0 victory over the Athletics and the Palatine Major Division Little League championship.

Weir led off the Phils' fourth with a sharp single through the box. He took second and a passed ball and scampered to third on a wild throw by the Athletic catcher Wes Dixon from which point he scored on Wallin's safety.

Weir additionally went the distance on the hill for the champs, blanking the A's on five hits. Along the way Doug walked four while fanning eight.

Kinneman Lists Coaching Alignment at Prospect High

Coaching assignments at Prospect High School in Mount Prospect were announced this week by Athletic Director Dick Kinneman as the Foundry Road establishment prepares for its fourth year of operation.

Several new faces are included in the coaching alignment for 1962-63 with five new head coaches.

Taking over the top varsity slots at Prospect for the first time are J. O. Jackson in football, Dick Calisch in cross country and track, Don Arseneau in tennis, and Warren Collier in golf.

Bob Haskell is the new trainer, and Charles Sandeen will head the intramural program.

Here is the coaching setup for 1962-63:

FOOTBALL

J. O. Jackson, former varsity assistant, is top man now and there have been some other switches at all levels.

Chuck Aldrich and George Gattas will serve as varsity assistants with Dick Mudge guiding the junior-varsity.

Gattas is new to the Prospect set-up, having formerly served at Carney, Kans., and Marshall, Ill. He was Jackson's assistant at Marshall before the latter moved to Prospect. He was recreational director in both Carney and Marshall for three years and is a grad of Southwestern College, Winfield, Kans.

Ted Wissen and Don Barrett will work with the sophomores, and Rick Farris, Don Williams, and Dave Ziemek will head the frosh. The trio of freshman coaches are all new to the sport at Prospect although Farris has been on the staff.

Williams coached at Bosse of Evansville, Ind., and Hazelwood, Mo. He played football at Evansville College and did his graduate work at Indiana University. Ziemek, a grad of Maine high school in Park Ridge, played football at Culver-Stockton in Canton, Mo., serving as captain his senior year.

CROSS COUNTRY

Dick Calisch heads the cross country program with Joe Wanner his assistant. Both are new to the Prospect High athletic department.

Calisch was a successful track and cross country coach at Riverside - Brookfield High School before coming to Prospect. He also served at Maine High in Park Ridge. A Marine lieutenant in the service, Dick was track captain at the University of Illinois and he placed second in the Big Ten pole vault.

BASKETBALL

Dick Kinneman is back for his fourth year as varsity basketball coach with Ted Wissen again directing the JVs. At the lower levels Warren Collier will direct the sophomores and Lou Schairer ad Don Arseneau will work with the frosh.

Collier comes to Prospect from Flora High School where he enjoyed some outstanding success in the coaching ranks. In 14 years of basketball coaching Collier-coached teams have won 259 and lost only 136. Included in that record are four district and three regional championships and six conference titles.

Collier did his undergraduate work at Eureka College and Illinois State Normal University and his grad work at Colorado State College of Education.

SWIMMING

Don Barrett again will be in charge of both the varsity and frosh-soph swimming teams at Prospect.

GYMNASTICS

Rick Farris will continue as head gymnastics coach but will have a new assistant this coming season.

Fred Gaines is a graduate of Eastern Illinois University where he was on the varsity gymnastics team for three years. He captained that squad in his senior year.

WRESTLING

Dick Mudge heads up the wrestling program for the fourth year but will work with two new assistants.

Neil Anderson, a grad of Leyden Community High School, attended Ripon College where he participated in wrestling and tennis. Dave Ziemak also joins the wrestling staff. He wrestled at Maine Township High School and has been a head mat coach in prep ranks for two years.

TRACK

Dick Calisch takes over as track coach with the departure of Bob Scott to neighboring Forest View. Assisting Calisch will be J. O. Jackson, George Gattas, and Don Williams, all members of the football staff.

BASEBALL

Chuck Aldrich returns as head baseball coach with Don Hipple guiding the sophomore and Fred Gaines the frosh.

Hipple is a veteran of the coaching ranks. He attended Tipton Jr. College and Grinnell in Iowa and did his graduate work at the State University of Iowa.

GOLF

Warren Collier, an assistant basketball coach, will direct both the varsity and frosh-soph golf teams.

TENNIS

Don Arseneau moves up from frosh-soph head to varsity tennis coach. Neil Anderson will serve as his assistant.

TRAINER

Bob Haskell was head coach and athletic director with teams entered in competition in the South Suburban Elementary Athletic Association. He was director of the park district summer recreation program for three years and instructor in first aid for the American Red Cross.

Whizzendine Captures Conformation Crown

Miss Tina Shinkle, of St. Louis, Mo., expertly guided her entry, Whizzendine, to the Conformation Hunter championship last weekend to highlight another successful Tri-Color Farms Horse Show held in Palatine.

Tina, Katie Monahan's entry, won the Junior Hunter title for riders 13 years old and under. Carole Masek's Mischief was the Reserev winner.

In the Junior Hunter division for 14 through 17-year-olds, Connie Murray's Investigator walked off with the top prize. The Reserev championship went to Marion and Dick Basil's Pepo.

Gunnell's Going Through Motions Now in Golf Loop

With only one week to go it is only a matter of going through the motions for the Gunnell's Restaurant team to retain their commanding 5½ point lead until the last golf shot is fired in the Rob Roy Tuesday league.

The Restaurant squad again came to the fore with an outstanding round of play by one of their foursome. This time Irv Rybicki in the No. 3 slot garnered two points with a 39-5—34 for low individual net honors in the tussle with Prospect Heights Service Station and Gunnells came out on the long end of a 4½ to 2½ score.

The battle for second and third place is shaping up into a real thriller with only 3½ points separating the 2nd, 3rd and 4th place teams.

THE SECOND place Kelter Realty team lost ground again by losing to Prospect Heights Pharmacy 2½ to 4½. In the match Hap Procunier in the No. 3 slot shot a 41-7—34 to help sink the Realty gang.

Kirchhoff Insurance gained on the leader by downing Rodewald Farm Dairy 5½ to 1½ with Wally Strack shooting another one of his fine rounds to end up with a 37-4—33 for individual match low net honors and a big assist in the Kirchhoff victory.

The big surprise of the evening was the spectacular play of a newcomer to the league this year, Art Bradley, who tied veteran Stan Pieterzak for low gross honors with a 36, but Art set a season league low net record with his card of 36-6—30. This slick shooting alternate started the season with a nine handicap and has improved steadily ever since which should make him a real tough competitor for next year's golf season.

The team standings are:

Gunnell's Restaurant	74
Kelter Realty	68½
Kirchhoff Insurance	67
Prospect Hts. Pharmacy	65
John Stearns & Co.	62½
Rodewald Farm Dairy	59
Golf Rand Golf Center	57½

Michigan State assistant football coach Burt Smith is a former minor league baseball player.

Q. Isn't it proper for a woman to use her maiden name as a middle name after she is married?

A. This is the established custom. In other words, after Mary Alice Smith marries William Henry Harris, she then becomes Mary Smith Harris.

Paddock Classic Loop Opens Play

over Moyle Construction. The Barrington Woods bowler, a veteran of the Paddock Classic League, had a 220 sandwiched between an opening 189 and closing 187.

Frank Graff of Palatine had the high series for Moyle with a 577 on games of 198, 184, and 195.

The four other Classic League teams all picked up two points each in splits of their matches.

PAUL ZUBAK of Elk Grove handled the pins at a 563 count to lead Stan's Standard Service in a 2-2 deadlock with Pioneer Lanes. Bob Krisch of Elmhurst registered a big 607 for Pioneer with a 222 third game.

Dewitz was the big gun for Hal Lieber's in a 2-2 match with Morton Pontiac. Cas' 627 was 73 pins better than a 554 turned in by teammate Paul Borvig of Palatine.

Balance paid off for Morton Pontiac with its five bowlers turning in efforts between 520 and 588. That 588 belonged to Ernie Koche of Hoffman Estates who put a solid 233 between a 165 and 190. His 233 was the high game of the evening.

Officers for the 1962-63 season were elected prior to Saturday's competition with George Stone the new president. Other Classic League officers are Mike Wagner, vice president; Ron Fogarett, secretary and Ed Duff, treasurer.

Mixed Doubles

Play Opens Saturday in Tennis Meet

Entries for Paddock Publications' Second Annual Mixed Doubles tennis tournament will be accepted until 8 o'clock tonight (Thursday).

Competition is scheduled to get under way at 1 p.m. Saturday on the Arlington High School courts.

Fifteen combinations already have entered the 1962 meet, according to tourney director Yvonne Foley of Mount Prospect, with more expected by the Thursday deadline.

Mrs. Foley, who teamed with Bill Thompson to win the 1961 tournament crown, will work with Larry Brown in the forthcoming net headliner. Larry and Ruth Rees of Arlington Heights finished second last summer.

The tournament is scheduled for Sept. 1-3 at the Arlington High courts and is open to all tennis players living within the area served by the newspapers.

There is no entry fee, and the tourney is designed as a low pressure event for the last weekend of the summer.

MRS. FOLEY pointed out that it is not necessary to enter as a team. Individuals who are interested should call Mrs. Foley at CLearbrook 5-6307 or Charles Close at CLearbrook 3-1334 and partners will be provided.

As usual, women tennis players are in demand and will be needed to complete the pairings.

Tournament officials encourage participation from all towns in the Paddock Publications area and are also hoping for entries from DuPage County this year.

Contestants will have to supply their own tennis balls. Balls may be purchased at the tournament site, according to Mrs. Foley.

Trophies will be presented to the winners.

THIS IS CAMERAMAN'S VIEW of the "Top Star Bowling" show that currently is under way at Hoffman Lanes in Hoffman Estates. Hoffman Lanes is playing host to the nation's top bowlers as the site of a network television show that will be seen on Saturday evenings this fall. A series of 22 shows are being taped before live local audiences during an eight day recording session which terminates Sept. 6.

Trained Observer

Pigskin Peeping Tom Tells What He Sees!

by JOHN BURGERMEISTER

Not many area football followers are aware of the fact, but "Pappy Bear" George Halas, owner-coach of Chicago's pro gridders, has a "cub" scout who makes his den in Mount Prospect.

Nephew George J. Halas, 511 N. Forest, isn't a Cub Scout in the regular sense of the word, but the junior Bear does forage opponent-reports for uncle's grid Bruins.

Last week in a telephone interview Halas explained his work.

HE IS NOT a talent scout. His job with the Bears entails filing wrap-up reports on the offensive and defensive strategem employed by National Football League rivals.

In fulfilling that assignment, he takes in 20 to 22 games each year, keeping a running notebook account of each player's function in every play of every game he is called upon to witness.

About fifteen minuttes before gametime, he memorizes each individucal who might be called upon during the course of the ensuing battle.

"I don't attempt to keep track of names because that would make my system too involved," Halas said.

"ALL I DO IS memorize the uniform numbers," he went on to explain, then rattled-off the entire Green Bay Packer defense by number, adding possible alternates at several positions.

First concern of football's trained observer is the formation employed. Halas can usually determine the way a squad will line up before they take their positions by watching the tight end as the team breaks huddle.

After noting the formation, George's next chore is to keep tab on the effectiveness of each player in carrying out his assignment.

THROWING into the conversation such statisical tidbits as "a team will average 82 offensive plays a game," Halas went on to reveal how he charts a coded picture of each game in a quad-ruled notebook, which must be in the Bears' front office by Tuesday mornings preceding weekend action.

From there the tipster's treasure is rushed to Bear training headquarters at Rensselaer, Ind., to pass the scrutinous observation of defensive coach Clark Shaughnessy.

Time and again refering to the wondrous "system" used by the Bear scout staff, Halas disclosed that his dad, Walter, is not only the father of a scout, but acclaimed by many as the "father of scouting" as author of the original football spy code.

WALTER HALAS was a high school coach in Davenport, Iowa, in the early '20's, whose greatest accomplishment was the prep tutoring of a lad named Elmer Layden.

In 1922 the elder Halas went over to South Bend to enroll his run-pass-punt prodigy in Notre Dame University, and stayed on as backfield coach for the immortal Knute Rockne.

Young Halas grew up with football.

"Dad and Rockne lived next to each other in South Bend, and used to hang diapers and talk strategy over the clothesline," he recalls.

IT WAS WHILE working with Rockne at Notre Dame that George's father is credited with conjuring the original scouting scheme, complete with mysterious code system still put to practice by Bear and other pro spy rings.

George recently pitted his inherant espionage ability against the Green Bay Packers, who whipped the Bears 34-26 last Saturday when the two clubs renewed the oldest rivalry in professional football in the ninth annual Shrine Game.

Even the best scouting system can't work miracles. Halas followed the incumbent Western Division champs through the all-star contest at Soldier Field, Chicago, and successive encounters in far flung Dallas and Jacksonville.

He made his report, and turned it over to the higher-ups.

WHEN COACH Halas had finished scanning the graphs, his only comment was, "the Packers are a team without a flaw, they've got everything."

Scout Halas wasn't able to come up with any startling flaw in Vince Lombardi's perfection minded eleven, but that doesn't make the Bear's scouting system any less valuable.

Last year's game with San Francisco is a strong argument for the scout scheme.

IT WAS IN THAT game that a Halas tip enabled the Bears to destroy forever Frisco's feared shotgun offense, a powerful platooned attack the 49'ers had used to clobber three straight foes by fantastic margins.

In a preseason battle Halas noted that the San Francisco center was hiking the ball "blind" to the quarterback, who was positioned about five yards behind him, about where a single wing tailback would be stationed.

The center would first sight between his legs, then face the Bear's defensive line, head-up, and center the ball.

WHEN THE TWO clubs met in Chicago, owner Halas stationed all-pro linebacker Bill George "right over center, and instructed him to belt" the 49er middle man the split second he released the ball.

After two sets of downs the battered Frisco center was haltingly hiking the ball over quarterback Brodie's head.

He was forced to put his head down between his legs and keep his eye on the target all the way through the center-snap, unable to see what went on in front of him.

MISSION accomplished, linebacker George was able to waltz right by the center for the rest of the afternoon, and play after play dropped the ball carrier behind the line of scrimmage.

San Francisco was held behind its own 45 yard line.

It's Almost That Time

Dogs 'Preparing' for Football Field Romps

by FRANK L. SPENCER
United Press International

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Some leaves already have fallen and referees throughout the land are tuning their whistles so you don't have much time left to train your dog to run out on a football field.

Some authorities think it's too late and if your dog isn't ready to romp between the goal posts you and the dog may have to wait till next year.

Nobody knows how many dogs are ready for the 1962 season but it is assumed the total number will be about the same as last season. Nobody knows how many there were then either.

AL WILLIS, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association, was asked if his organization had any records on the subject.

"We don't," Willis said, "But it would be a good idea for somebody to keep such records, providing he doesn't have any other records to keep."

Willis said it is against the rules for dogs to run out on the field. He said it was the responsibility of the host school to keep dogs off the field.

WILLIS WAS reminded that referees and even field judges sometimes chase the dogs away.

"Yes, I know," Willis said, "but this is not a matter for the officials of the game. It's the responsibility of the athletic director or the principal of the host school."

Most authorities believe the best time for a dog to run out on the field is at the start of the second half. Willis had no comment on that.

WILLIS LIKEWISE had no comment on the best kind of dogs for on-field running. This problem was brought to the attention of Mrs. Willy Necker, a dog trainer.

"I suppose a working dog would be best," Mrs. Necker said. "But a poodle would be satisfactory too. A terrier might be best of all."

"How long would it take to train a dog to run out on the field?" Mrs. Necker was asked.

"WELL, DEPENDING on the dog, I'd estimate three or four months," she said. "The dog would have to be conditioned to noise and he probably would have to be taken to the field during the training."

Such a dog, she said, would have to be disciplined to the point where he would have nothing on his mind but running onto the field.

"How much would it cost to train a dog in this manner for three or four months?" she was asked.

Added Depth At Halfback For Illinois

The most improved position on 1962 University of Illinois football team is halfback. Handicapped last year by a glaring lack of speed (no back on the team could run the 100-yard dash in less than 10 seconds), the halfback spots on Coach Pete Elliott's current squad boast two sub-ten second runners, plus added depth and experience.

The two new Illini speedsters are Jim (Country) Warren, 5-10½, 175-pound New Orleans, La. (Cohen) junior, who was sidelined by the University's disciplinary committee last season, and Trenton Jackson, 6-0, 170 pound sophomore from Rochester, N. Y. (Franklin).

Warren has looked like an outstanding halfback prospect in last two spring practices. He is a strong runner for his size, has great speed, balance, and cutting ability. As a Louisiana prep, Warren won all-state honors two years in football, and won three events in the state track meet as a senior.

JACKSON'S SHEER speed makes him an exciting addition to Elliott's team. He is the co-holder of the national prep 100-yard dash record of :09.4. He did not go out for Illinois' freshman football team last year, instead choosing to play basketball and track, but joined the varsity football squad last spring.

Warren and Jackson face stiff competition from senior lettermen Ken Zimmerman and Norm Willis for the starting halfback assignments. Zimmerman, 5-8, 178-pound Aurora (West) sparkplug, is co-captain of the 1962 Illini, and is probably the most versatile player on the team. He carried the ball 50 times for a 3.7 average last year, quick-kicked three times for a 53.3 mark, caught three passes, and turned in some good pass defense and blocking from the halfback position. He lettered with Illinois' fencing team last year, is an expert water skier, plays the guitar well, and is an excellent student.

Willis lettered two seasons ago when he averaged 3.5 yards a try, but was felled by the disciplinary committee in the same action as Jackson. Norm stands 5-10, weighs 185, and is hard to bring down. He is a product of Roosevelt High School, Dayton, Ohio.

Adding to the Halfback depth are last year's two returning regulars, Cecil Young, 5-11, 165-pound Miami, Fla. (Goulds, Fla. - Mays) junior, and Mike Dundy, 5-10, 158-pound Prospect Heights (Arlington Heights) junior. Young set an Illinois record in 1961 with a 96-yard touchdown runback of a kickoff against Purdue, eclipsing the old mark set by Red Grange. Dundy is one of the hardest workers on the squad. He missed spring football practice to letter with Illinois' track team, competing in 440 and 880-yard runs.

A sophomore Army veteran who could work himself up in the halfback hierarchy is Les (Doc) Feuquay, a 1957 all-stater at Eldorado High School. Feuquay, 5-10 and 174, is about 15 pounds heavier and much stronger than he was as an Illinois freshman in 1958.

Biggest halfback is George Donnelly, 6-2, 195-pound DeKalb sophomore. He is fast, runs hard, and is very shifty. He's a service veteran, also.

Labor Day Feature

Waukegan Speedway Sets Holiday Card

A gigantic weekend of racing has been set for the Labor Day weekend at the popular Waukegan Speedway, West Washington Street, just west of the Green Bay Road in Waukegan.

Track manager Mike Kaishian has scheduled another Saturday night program of sportsmen and late model stock cars, followed by a Sunday evening program of modified stock and sportsmen stock cars.

Headlining the Saturday program in the sportsmen division will be sportsmen point leader Dennis Burgan of Zion who will also be running in the late model events with another car.

LEN KANNIE, Kenosha, and Bob Dugan, Gurnee, will each be seeking their second feature wins in the late model division. Kannie who pilots a 1959 Ford and Dugan who pilots a 1961 Ford each have one feature win to their records on the ¼-mile clay oval at Waukegan.

Eddie Stillman in a modified 1934 Ford leads the point standings in the modified racing for Sunday. The Milwaukee speedster is nearly over 1,000 points ahead of second place Bill Strom of West Allis, Wis. and is virtually assured of wrapping up the 1962 track championship. It will be his third track crown at Waukegan, having won the title in 1958 and again in 1959. Strom was last season's champion.

THE SEPT. 1 date is expected to draw a field of some 40 sportsmen cars plus a large number of late model entries. Sunday, September 2, will see nearly 50 modifieds on hand plus plus another large number of sportsmen cars.

Time trials both nights will get under way at 7:15 p.m. with racing scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m.

In Waukegan Speedway action last Saturday Eddie Jones of Waukegan and Bob Dugan of Gurnee were the big winners in the second program of sportsmen and late model stock car racing.

JONES, PILOTING a 1955 Chevy, won the 15 lap feature for the sportsmen cars while a 1961 Ford, driven by Dugan, was the top money winner in the late model division.

Threatening rain held both the attendance and the number of entries down, but 1,150 fans were treated to an exceptionally fine program.

Jones walked off with the $100 first prize as he came from the near end of the field to take the lead and eventual win on the third lap of the contest.

DUGAN, WHO ALSO copped the five lap trophy dash by less than one-quarter car length, won the late model event for one of the evening's highlights.

Dennis Burgan of Zion captured the trophy dash for sportsmen cars by taking the lead on the final turn after early leader, Tom Bill of Waukegan, was pushed out of the way by Mel Smith, Zion.

John Reimer of Caledonia, Wis., a favorite driver at Waukegan for several years, finally came home with the long-sought after feature victory as he won his first 25 lap main event for modified stocks Sunday evening.

REIMER LED from start to finish to come home the winner at a near record speed of 52.02 m.p.h. Starting on the pole, Reimer had little difficulty in gaining a sizeable lead. By the 11th lap, he was nearly a quarter lap ahead of point leader, Eddie Stillman.

Stillman began closing the gap and by the 15th lap was only a few car lengths behind. But he also ran into mechanical trouble and dropped out, giving Reimer another quarter of a lap lead over the new second place man, Greg Grieger of Milwaukee.

Racine's Rod Fuller turned in another double victory, taking top honors in the 15 lap semi and a preliminary 10 lap heat.

Dennis Burgan of Zion was up to his winning ways again in the sportsmen division events for street type cars.

For 3-Year-Olds

Armour Handicap on Arlington Park Card

Climax of a big six-day racing period at Arlington Park comes this Saturday with the $30,000 added Laurance Armour Handicap for three-year-olds on the grass.

Scheduled for 1-1/16 miles, the tenth edition of the Laurance Armour will include an outstanding field of three-year-olds. In all other years except in 1957 and this year, the Armour was for three-year-olds and upward.

Following Saturday's headliner another seven days of racing remain on the 1962 coordinated meeting which rolls to a rousing close the weekend of Sept. 8-10 when the Saturday rendition of the $350,000 Arlington-Washington Park Futurity and the Monday finale of the $50,000 added Arlington Handcap write finish to the 1962 season.

IN BETWEEN, the Labor Day spectacular, the $100,000 added Washington Park Handicap will draw nationwide attention.

Saturday's Armour doubtless will lure the C. R. Mac Stable's Black Sheep, hero of the $100,000 American Derby here several weeks ago over Ridan, and a recent second (though disqualified and placed fourth) in the $50,000 added Ben Lindheimer Handicap at 1 1-4 miles.

Black Sheep has to be rated as the local three-year-old leader. His effort against Prove It in the Lindheimer was a crackerjack performance until he swerved sharply at midstretch to incur the wrath of the stewards.

MRS. HENRY J. Damm's Crafty Actor, a multiple sprint winner here, Pin Oak Farm's Intercepted, a grass victor recently, and Edward Seltzer's vastly improved Dark Scot, loom stout Armour candidates.

Dark Scot, particularly, has been impressive in abandoning the claiming tag and in the fashion in which he's repeatedly whipped allowance and stakes-performing three - year - olds lately.

Spring Hill Farms' Jam-Tootin', third in the American Derby, Mrs. Ethel Haffa's Mighty Fennec, second in the Arlington Classic, E. M. Rosenthal's consistent Greek Form, F & B Farm's Oak Ruler, Mrs. Russell L. Reineman's Blue Tassle and West Wind Farm's Two Block Fox also could fact the starter Saturday.

MISS BARBARA Hunter's Kootenai stepped to a four and one-half length triumph last Saturday in the 29th running of the $55,750 Arlington Matron Handicap.

After the speed merchant, Colfax Maid, had led the field of 10 past the clubhouse in the mile and a furlong event, Kootenai swept to the front and shook off challenges by invading Shirley Jones, Flouresee, and Windy Miss, and turned into the homestretch with room to spare, continuing to add to her advantage with every stride.

Second money went to Shirley Jones, the Double Jay 6-year-old mare that recently cost Mrs. J. O. Burgwin $105,000 at a dispersal sale, and which Saturday's crowd of 25,283 sent off as the second choice to Kootenai at odds of 3 to 1.

THE VICTORY, worth $33,250, was the fourth in the last five starts for Kootenai, winner of the Beverly Handicap at the direct expense of Fluoresee and Mill House last month.

Kootenai's time for the nine furlongs was 1:52 4/5. Last year the filly won the Misty Isle and the Pucker Up, each time with Tony Skoronski aboard.

Elmhurst Swim Team Plans Tryouts

The award winning Girls Swim Team of the Elmhurst YMCA will hold tryouts for swimmers aged 7 through 17 during the week of September 10 at the Elmhurst "Y". Vacancies in all classes exist and will be filled as a result of the tryouts.

An innovation for the "Y" girls this year will be the addition of a Cadet class which is the competitive designation for swimmers aged seven and eight. This addition was made possible when the team was able to secure the services of an additional coach and the Elmhurst YMCA provided additional pool time for the team practice schedule.

The tryout schedule will be as follows: Cadets, ages seven and eight; Midgets, ages nine and ten; and Preps, ages 11 and 12, will be reviewed on Monday, September 10 and Tuesday, September 11, from 6:00 p.m. until 7:15 p.m.

Junior swimmers, aged 13 and 14 and Intermediate girls, aged 15 through 17, will be auditioned on Thursday, September 13 from 6:00 p.m. until 7:15 p.m.

THERE WILL BE no charge for these swim periods. Prospective team members can pick up a special swim pass at the Elmhurst YMCA front desk which will admit them to the locker room and pool area.

A meeting of special importance to those who are interested in trying out for the team will be held at the Elmhurst YMCA on Thursday, September 6, at 7 p.m. Parents of these girls are especially urged to attend. Representatives of the parents committee and the "Y," as well as the coaching staff, will be present to explain the tryouts, necessary qualifications, and the operation of the team program.

The Elmhurst girl swimmers have been in competition for two years and have brought home city, state and district trophies during each year they have competed. Individual swimmers have captured numerous trophies, medals and ribbons. Regarded on one of the strongest teams in State competition, the "Y" tankers have been coached by Don Hilliard since their organization.

HILLIARD HAS been assisted by Bill Decker and Jim Seegers for two years and will this year have the additional services of Al McCue, who will work with the Cadets and Midgets in the newly expanded program.

The team operates under the active sponsorship of a parents' swim committee, working in cooperation with the YMCA staff.

Regular swim team workouts resume on Monday, September 17, at which time veteran swimmers and new team members will start their conditioning program. Membership in the Elmhurst Department of the Metropolitan YMCA is a prerequisite to team membership.

Ocasek Claims Three Firsts In Swim Meet

A former coach of the Arlington Heights Park District boys and girls swim teams has been turning in some sparkling performances in the sport as a Marine lieutenant in Quantico, Va.

A second lieutenant in the Marines, Tom captured three firsts in swimming competition during basic training. He has also assumed some coaching duties with the Marines.

Ocasek guided two Arlington Park District swimming teams to undefeated seasons, and he also represented Ohio State University in the Big Ten competition.

Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Ocasek, 1103 N. Maple Lane, Prospect Heights.

Husky Footballers Lack Depth Behind Quarterback Bork

DE KALB—Development of reserve strength at quarterback will be top item on the agenda this week when a sophomore-dominated Northern Illinois University football squad reports for pre-season drills.

The Husky gridders drew equipment yesterday (Wednesday) and open drills Thursday. From then until their season opener at Whitewater (Wis.) State Saturday, Sept. 15, they'll have only one day of rest—and only 14 practice days to get ready for their debut.

Northern Coach Howard Fletcher has invited 48 prospects, including 26 letterman from a squad which finished 4-4-1 last season.

The group numbers 21 sophomore, 14 juniors, 10 seniors, and three freshmen.

ONLY SEVEN 1962 lettermen graduated. Two others, defensive ends Dave Casey and Stan Brejda, are ineligible.

Northern's need for quarterbacking help stems from the departure of Little All-American Tom Beck. Although he operated at halfback most of the time last fall, Beck had quarterbacked the 1960 NIU club, and thus gave Fletcher a proven alternate for his regular field general, George Bork.

Bork, slender 6-0 blond from Mount Prospect, returns as a junior this fall, and is rated potentially one of the nation's finest passers.

"As long as Bork holds up, fine," Fletcher asserted. "But if anything happens to him-as we stand now-we're in trouble. So we've got to find somebody we can count on to back up George, and we don't have much time to do it."

An outstanding candidate for the job, Ron Christian, is currently doing a six-month armed forces hitch, and won't return to Northern until February. Christian is a former East Rockford high school star who did an impressive job leading Northern's unbeaten junior varsity as a freshman last fall.

Glen Oak Sponsors Invitational Golf

The 13th annual Illinois Invitation Championship of the Chicago District Golf Association and Illinois Section, PGA will be held at Glen Oak Country Club, Glen Ellyn on September 10, 11 and 12.

The Chicago District Golf Association will contribute $1,000.00 to the prize fund, Stacy Osgood, president, announced today.

Entries will be limited to professionals and amateurs who reside in Illinois. Amateurs must have validated CDGA handicaps of 6 or under. Professionals must be members of the Illinois Section, PGA. In addition, six players may be invited to participate by the joint tournament committees. Entry fee is $20 for professionals and $25 for amateurs. Entries will close August 31 in the CDGA office, Room 241 LaSalle Hotel, Chicago.

THE ENTIRE field will play 18 holes on Monday (Sept. 10) and 18 holes on Tuesday (Sept. 11) with the sixty low scorers and ties playing the final 18 holes on Wednesday (Sept 12).

Chuck Malchaski, professional at Brookwood country club, won the 1961 title with rounds of-72-75-74-221, five over par on Medinah's treacherous number three course, topping the home pro, Jack Bell, by four strokes.

Last year's winning amateur was Bernard Magnussen of Knollwood with 77-78-73-228.

Five Teams Entered in Polo Meet

Five 25-Goal teams already have entered the 1962 National Open Polo Tournament to be held Sept. 2-9 at Oak Brook, Illinois.

The 60th running of polo's World Series will feature teams and players from the United States and abroad. For the first time in recent years, Argentina will be represented in the U. S. Open. Ironically, one possible entry not yet decided upon is the host Oak Brook squad starring Cecil Smith — 10-goals.

Battles on For Playoff Positions

Thursday's play in the St. Raymond's Twilight Golf League was as hot as the weather as the contending teams battled to try to secure positions in the forthcoming playoffs. With one more week remaining in league play it looks like a real battle for second place in League 1, and in League 2 it will be strictly a jockeying for position as the 1st and 2nd place teams have a berth in the playoffs all locked up.

In League 2 it is "all over but the shouting" as both Busse Automotive and Keefer's Drugs are assured of playoff berths. The boys from Busse ruined any plans that third place Mount Prospect Savings had about a playoff spot by downing them to the tune of 9 to 3.

Lopsided as this score was it was still not enough to keep Keefer's Drugs from edging past Busse into first place as the Pharmacists massacred Moran Furs by a 9½ to 2½ count. In a battle of the also-rans, Kruse's Liquors knocked over Van Driel's Drugs 7½ to 4½, and Kirchoff Insurance edged Jake's Pizza by a 6½ to 5½ score.

In League One McMahon's were on the short end of a 6½ to 5½ verdict against third place Strass Ladies Apparel. This win kept the Strass team in contention for second place as the present occupants of that illustrious position, Friedrich's Funeral Home, were being stomped on by fourth place Trapani Plumbing in an 8½ to 3½ win for the "plumbers."

IN OTHER action Safford Stamps downed Ackerman Insurance 8½ to 3½ and Illinois Range slaughtered Meeske's to the tune of 8½ to 1½.

This Thursday will mark the final night of regular league play and at its conclusion the first and second place teams will have earned the coveted playoff positions in the round-robin tournament. This final night is again a "position" night and in both leagues it will be the first place vs. the second place teams, 3rd vs. 4th, 5th vs. 6th and 7th vs. 8th.

Team standings are as follows:

Mr. & Mrs. Fishing Tournament Arranged

The first annual Illinois state Mr. and Mrs. Fishing Championship Tournament will open on Labor Day (Monday, Sept. 3) with eliminations for 13 straight days on Channel Lake and Lake Catherine in the Chain O' Lakes region.

The winning team in the one-day "fish-off" will be awarded a handsome trophy donated by the McCullough Corp. of Minneapolis, emblematic of the state's couples fishing title.

IN ADDITION, the championship team will qualify for the Mr. and Mrs. World Series of Sport Fishing Tournament to be held Oct. 13-14 at Hot Springs, Ark.

The couple will be provided with traveling expenses to and from Hot Springs. While there, all their expenses—board, lodging, and boats will be taken care of by the tournament sponsors.

In event that the Illinois couple winners can't make the trip to Hot Springs, the Illinois state tournament committee has reserved the right to select a "qualifier" from the other finalists in the order of finish.

ANY HUSBAND and wife angling team, whose members are 16 years or older, and possess 1962 valid Illinois state resident fishiing licenses, is eligible to compete in the state tournament. Teams can fish as often as they wish during the 13-day eliminations until they qualify.

All fishing must be done from boats. Both live and artificial baits will be allowed. So will trolling with motors. Couples can also still fish, cast, or jig.

All contestants must register each day during the eliminations at the Channel Lake Boat House, situated on Illinois Highway 173, just west of the bridge and north of the road.

REGISTRATIONS will be accepted each qualifying day from 6 a.m. on and anglers may leave any time during the day. Competition each day, however, will end at 6:30 p.m. to permit participants time to return to Channel Lake Boat House to register and weigh the catch. NO FISH WILL BE REGISTERED AFTER 7 P.M.

There will be no entry fee.

Mr. and Mrs. teams will angle for the following species: Northern Pike, Black Bass, Large and Small Mouth; Rock Bass, Warmouth Bass, Bluegill, White Bass, Crappies, Sunfish, Bullheads and Catfish.

EACH FISH caught will be worth points, plus additional points will be awarded for weight. The contest rules call for a minimum size plus a daily limit on each species. When registering, each couple will be given the rules to follow.

The singles championship for both men and women residents of Illinois also will be held at Channel Lake and Lake Catherine, starting with the 13-day eliminations on Sept. 17. Two persons will qualify each day for the state finals on Sept. 30. The champion will qualify for the 1962 World Series of Fresh Water Championships, Oct. 14-19, in northeastern Oklahoma waters.

In the singles meet, fishing also must be done from a boat. Only artificial baits or lures will be used. Trolling with motors will be permitted as well as casting or jigging.

Northern pike, Walleye, and Black Bass will be the contest fish.

Bankers Take Over First in Tuesday Play

Mount Prospect State Bank, a steed of the darkest hue, came out of nowhere last week to take over first place in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect Twilight League.

Putting on a stretch drive to rival Arnold Palmer, the Bankers scored their second 9-point victory in as many weeks, this time routing Annen and Busse Realtors 9-1, and moved into first place by a narrow 1½-point margin.

In looking over the records the Banker's move should not have been too unexpected. They have now scored 39½ points in the last five nights of play or an average of about eight points per night which is somewhat of a record for league play.

DOGGEDLY PURSUING the Bankers was the perennial second place holder, Winkelman's Shell Service who turned in another steady 6½-3½ victory, this time over Kerstings Garden Center.

Meanwhile, former league leaders Phil's Pure Oil were doing nothing to further their own cause as they went into a swoon for the second consecutive week, dropping this crucial match to Kruse's Tavern 8-2, and winding up in third place.

In fourth place, supplanting Annen and Busse in the standings was Licht's Paint Store who took a 5-4 victory over Keefer's Pharmacy in a weird battle of forfeits.

WITH POSITION night coming up next in the final night of the season, the contest appears to be narrowed down to the State Bank and Winkelman's with only a miracle or a 10-point clean-sweep left to rescue Phil's.

There were 86 pars scored for the evening but only two contestants broke 40. They were Al Barco and Rollie Becker who posted 38's. Birdies were reported by W. Double and Ken Shipley on 12, A. Barco, R. Carncross and P. Peterson on 13, R. Holmes on 16, and S. Bolit on 18.

Carl's Food Shop Holds Slim Lead In Monday Action

Carl's Food Shop maintained a narrow lead over Picket Paint with only one match remaining in the Monday night golf league at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Final play is position night and will see these two teams matched to determine the Monday championship.

Van Driel's and Mount Prospect Savings and Loan players are tied for third spot with Busse Motors and Tumble Fun golfers just two points behind.

PAUL SELESKI'S scratch 38 took two points from Joe Grueness and aided his team in keeping Carl's Food Shop golfers from increasing their lead.

McCornack, Timko, Steingraber, Scott, Karlsen, Cole, Seleski, and Grueness each carded a birdie during Aug. 20 play.

The final day of golf is scheduled for Sept. 12. Tee off time is 9 a.m. at Mount Prospect Country Club. A banquet will follow at Old Orchard Country Club.

Softball Top Spot Unclaimed

Top position in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportman's 16-inch softball league was still up for grabs after the completion of last week's action.

In the number one contest between the two leaders, Bruns Real Estate and the Greens, they battled to a 9-9 tie at which point the game was called because of darkness.

With one week remaining in the regular schedule it appears that the championship may hinge on the replaying of the tie game between the Greens and Bruns.

In other games the Elk Grove Dems trounced Able Electric 21-6, the Knights of Columbus beat the Waterman Pops 26-13, and the Village downed the Soft-Tees 13-2.

Garden Liquors Wins Opening Tourney Game

Garden Liquors added one more triumph to its string of victories by winning the opening game in the Evanston 16-inch softball tournament.

Matched against the Rib-Crib team, a high-rated Evanston club, the Garden Liquors players hammered out a 10-3 win, behind the fine pitching of Jack Lowder.

Bob Vormittag and Joe Huske each chalked up perfect slates with three hits in as many trips to the plate. Vormittag hit a home-run with a man on the game's only round tripper.

Navigators Win League, Stop Stars

The Navigators from the Meadows Baptist Church posted an impressive 19-12 victory over the All-Stars Monday evening in the final game of the season for the Suburban Fundamental Church softball league.

The Rolling Meadows aggregation went into the game Monday following a string of 14 straight victories in actual league competition.

The Navigators won the league crown for the third time in four seasons and became the only unit to remain undefeated during an entire campaign.

Team manager was Frank Anderson. Team members and their wives celebrated the successful season with a swim party at Bangs Lake followed by a chicken dinner at the Meadows Baptist Church.

The Mount Prospect Bible Church came in second and the Arlington Heights Youth for Christ team was third.

Walter Dahl Slated For Superior Court

Attorney Walter P. Dahl, of 416 S. Windsor, Arlington Heights, this week became the first candidate from Wheeling Township ever slated to run for the Superior Court of Cook County.

Dahl, Wheeling Township justice of the peace, was one of 17 candidates selected by the Cook County Democratic party at a Tuesday slate-making session.

The Republican party has also slated 17 candidates for the Nov. 6 election of 17 additional Superior Court judges. The posts were created at the last session of the state legislature.

DAHL, 39, WAS an assistant Illinois attorney general in 1950-51 in the office of then Attorney General Ivan Elliott during the administration of former Gov. Adlai Stevenson, now U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

From 1951-52, Dahl was administrative assistant to Vern Rauch, then state director of labor.

Dahl has been a justice of the peace in Wheeling Township for the past six years, and presently serves as village attorney for the village of Niles. He also served in this capacity for the village of Wheeling for two years.

He has been associated for the past seven years with the law firm of D'Angelo, Dahl & Geocaris, 11 S. LaSalle, Chicago. He is a graduate of Northwestern University's School of Law.

Dahl had resided in Arlington Heights since 1955 with his wife, Mary, son, James, 13, and daughter Janet, 12. (A Dinner in Paris with her Patton Street neighbors was an unexpected pleasure for Mrs. Eugene Schamne, now home after attending the 13th International Dental Congress at Cologne, Germany. Mrs. Schamne, 717 N. Patton, met the Eugene Frikers, 713 N. Patton, for a Paris evening.

After the conclusion of the Dental Congress, Mrs. Schamne toured Europe for a month with members of the American Dental Assistants Association, visiting England, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France.

From the many highlights of their European vacation, Mrs. Friker selects their week in Switzerland as her favorite. She and her husband, Ken, and Wally spent July touring London and the continent. Their stay included such adventures as visits to diamond cutting and lace factories in Amsterdam and Belgium, a canal ride in Amsterdam, the medieval castle at Heidelberg and a moonlight gondola ride in Venice. Paintings and tapestries at the museums in Florence and Paris, as well as the Dutch masters at Rijks Museum will never be forgotten, nor will one of Michelangelo's few paintings in the Ufizi Museum.

"IT REALLY LEANS," she reports of the Tower at Pisa, but they arrived too late to go inside. Nice and Bay of Angels, Monte Carlo at night, and the site of the winter olympics in the Italian Alps were places they'll always remember.

The Frikers feel that their bus tour took them on country roads and past spots where the average tourist may never go. Mrs. Friker cited the walled city of Rothenburg "that time forgot," as an example.

Leaving the tour in Switzerland, they rented a car for a week and visited her husband's relatives in Aeschi. Berne, Lucerne, and Interlaken, with a cable car ride to the top of a mountain, were stops.

Dinner "next door to Maxim's" with Mrs. Schamne, and a jet home concluded the European trip, but not the vacation. After two days' rest, the Frikers left for Eagle River, Wis.

Now at 713 N. Patton, they have with them Mrs. Eugene Friker Sr. of Glenview, and Mrs. Alice Swenson, Mrs. Friker's mother.

Sunday Jay and Delores Neill entertained her brother and his family, the Karl Nelsons of Chicago. Tuesday Nancy, and LeAnne enjoyed an outing with their father at Lincoln Park Zoo. Wednesday, Mrs. Niell and their four children and Marjorie Phillipp spent the day at Fox River Grove with former Ridge Parker, Mrs. Gene Eaton.

A recent weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tollefson, 1504 W. Brown, was Mr. Tollefson's sister, Mrs. Ivan Streator.

FRIENDS AND neighbors of Mrs. Albert Swanson, 924 N. Salem, are wishing her a speedy recovery from surgery. Mrs. Swanson, now home from Grant Hospital, Chicago, has enjoyed having her mother, Mrs. H. B. Mills of Benton, visiting here.

Ralph Law, son of the Ed Laws, 824 N. Salem, left Tuesday to begin college at Northern Illinois University, DeKalb. Although regular college studies do not begin for two weeks, Ralph, who won his letter in cross country at Arlington High, has been invited to participate in cross country at Northern.

At the Robert Fletcher home, 1106 W. Elm, life these days is revolving around new arrival Keith Robert. His grandmother, Mrs. Marvin J. Short, arrived Friday from Des Moines, and his grandfather, Mr. Short, will arrive tomorrow. Both grandparents plan to stay through the Labor Day weekend.

Diane Erd, daughter of the Steve Erds, 650 N. Kaspar, celebrated her 10th birthday with a week at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Irwin in Chicago, and plans a Riverview outing with one of her sisters. Bill Erd is visiting his other grandmother, Mrs. Dwyer, in Wisconsin.

DAVE BUTTS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Butts, 916 N. Salem, left last Sunday to begin an 18-week course at Officers Training School, Newport, R. I. His fiancee, Miss Nancy Noyes of Kansas City, visited him and his parents for the weekend.

Mark Griffin and several neighborhood friends enjoyed a ninth birthday party Saturday, followed by the movies. Joining him were Billy Kieck, David Hugg, Joey Dunne and Mark's brother, John.

Happy Birthday will again be sung at the Griffins' on Oakton when their daughter celebrates this weekend.

Vacation this year meant family reunion for Mr. and Mrs. James Lauer Jr., 1020 N. Kennicott, and Jimmy, Joey, Don and Jeff. First they joined the senior James Lauers for a week in Des Moines, staying also with Mrs. Lauer's grandparents, the Joe Menards. Leaving Jeff, they then spent a week at the cottage on Bear Lake, Hazelhurst, Wis., taking with them as their guest Ridge Parker Jimmy Kunberger. Pausing only "to do the laundry" in Arlington Heights, they dropped off Jimmy and then left for 10 days in Indianapolis with Mrs. Lauer's parents, the G. C. Mestons.

Jimmy Lauer then returned to the Des Moines Lauers for a week's vacation before school starts, and they'll bring him home this weekend.

Once again August is here, and for the Ed Seaman family, that means birthdays. Monday Greg turned 7. Last Thursday Eddie was 13. Last week also was the birthday of Mr. Seaman and his twin brother, Joe, and Joe Seaman's son, Tim, also became 15. One grand and glorious family reunion and party was held Sunday at the Joe Seaman home in Meadowdale, and Mrs. Seaman describes the birthday cake as "looking about four feet long." Joining the Seaman boys at the movies by way of celebration were Jimmy Hedger, Tommy Holub, Donny Barnak, Danny Mohr and brother, Glenn Seaman, and friends, Joey Hedger and Gary Holub. The Seamans live at 919 N. Fernandez.

A "WONDERFUL western trip" was the three weeks the Martin Saidikowski family, 828 N. Salem, spent recently. They visited the Badlands, Black Hills, Yellowstone and Tetons, Salt Lake City, Yosemite Falls, Sequoia, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Las Vegas. Among highlights of the trip was a stopover at Phoenix to see former Ridge Parkers, the Bauer family. Rod and Rosemary Saidikowski enjoyed swimming in the Bauers' backyard pool. Another enjoyable memory was the visit to Marty's sister and her family, the William Testlins in Los Angeles.

Lunch at the Vince Lane home, 923 N. Race, and special treat bags to take to the movie afterwards helped Karen Lane to celebrate her 10th birthday Saturday. Among her guests were Susan Wylie, Diane Plant and Ann Owen.

Susan Kessenich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Kessenich, 1005 N. Illinois, celebrated her seventh birthday Sunday by inviting several neighborhood children in for

The Kesseniches have had a busy summer. Her sister and family, the Dave Baskervilles of Ann Arbor, joined them for a week at the family cottage in Wisconsin, and for several days afterwards in Arlington Heights. Now they have returned to Ann Arbor, where Mr. Baskerville is obtaining a master's degree in western civilization.

THEIR FIRST campout brought good fishing luck to the Russell Rathsam family, 905 N. Patton. Their daughter, Nan, and her guest, Kathy Kastning, especially enjoyed the camping trip to Door County, Fish Creek and Peninsula State Park in Wisconsin. Previously the Rathsams had been in Auburn, Neb. visiting relatives.

A tire blowout on their camping trailer nearly caused an accident for the F. Deane Shumates. En route to the St. Louis-Milwaukee ball game, their tire blew as they were passing a truck, and although Deane was able to stop the car, he discovered the tire had caught fire under the plywood floor of the trailer. Water they were carrying in the camping trailer and a fire extinguisher wielded by a passing motorist helped them escape serious damage.

The Shumates have just returned to 717 N. Salem after two weeks in Wisconsin. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shumate of Muscoda and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thingvald, Blue River.

Todd and Patti enjoyed their trip through the iron mines of northern Michigan and their closeness to Lake Superior. Other stops included a visit to Door County.

A pre-school "fling" took Karen Carlson and her friend to Chicago for three days. They stayed at the home of Karen's aunt, Mrs. Virginia Bobbin, and enjoyed their spontaneous excursions to points of interest.

The David Bone family entertained the Richard Christines of Winston Park at a backyard picnic last Wednesday. They'll be next-door-neighbors when the Bones move this fall. Dave and Jan were surprised and pleased when the YMCA asked them and the boys to appear on this Saturday afternoon's radio show. The big question is, will Dave finish his tennis tournament before air time?

The Gene Schlickman children and their mother spent three days visiting grandparents in Rockford last week, seeing the L. J. Schlickmans and Mrs. Lucy Muraski. They then joined the Muraski family for a picnic at Lake Delavan, Wis. While Margaret was in Rockford, two nephews were born on the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Pate, 1112 N. Harvard, are looking forward to the arrival this weekend of their son, Midshipman 1st class Dwight Pate, who returns after a summer cruise with the Navy. Dwight flew from McGuire Air Force Base to Frankfort, and before his tour of duty started, rented a car with friends and toured Germany and Spain. On July 19 he joined his ship, the destroyer U.S.S. Sumner. Mrs. Pate reports that Dwight seems to turn up whenever things are going on. He spent the Fourth of July on the French Riviera, he was in Naples during the earthquake, he arrived in Morocco at the height of the celebration for the king's new daughter, and he was due in Chicago on the day of the proposed railroad strike.

After a week or two with his family, Dwight will return to Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, for his senior year, where he is majoring in government. (A

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to help give a new birth to freedom

Sometimes it's not easy to recognize a message of freedom.

In September, 1787, the framers of the U. S. Constitution released it to the States for ratification. Two States ok'd the document in a few weeks.

But it took until May, 1790—three years later—before the new nation was in accord on its basic law.

One of the strongest documents for freedom available to you today is a United States Savings Bond.

By buying Savings Bonds you help build peace-keeping machinery. You help keep the wheels of our government turning smoothly. You help carry the message of freedom to hopeful people all over the world.

At the same time, your Bond money grows fast to increase your living standard and personal security—a goal that free people seem to have a knack for reaching.

All of which points pretty strongly to buying Savings Bonds today—at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.

(Of course the decision is wholly up to you . . . another nice thing about being free.)

Keep freedom in your future with Schools for District 59 will open their doors on September 4. If any changes are made parents will be notified by phone or mail.

All new students to District 59 who will attend Dempster Junior High should report with lunch on August 30 at 9 a.m. for testing.

First day of school is September 4 for Dempster and will be a half day from 8:10 to 11:15 a.m.

MR. AND MRS. Edward Lauing and sons, Ed and Fred, S. Busse Road, returned recently from a 2-week vacation at Kangaroo Lake, near Baileys Harbor, Door County, Wis. Beside the usual fishing and swimming, they enjoyed golfing, sightseeing and even "antiquing." While attending one antique show, they met Mrs. Ted Meyer and her sister who were vacationing at Sister Bay.

Upon their return from Wisconsin, the Lauings had as an overnight visitor Mrs. Lauing's nephew, Paul Vita of Escondida, Cal. Paul's father is with the space program and was recently transferred from Cape Canaveral where he had a "ringside seat" for the varous space shots as well as President Kennedy's visit. Paul reports that much of the activity could be seen from their front window.

In honor of Vita's visit and several recent birthdays in the family, a picnic supper was held August 19 at the home of Mrs. Lauing's brother, Eugene Standard, in Lombard.

August 25 Mr. and Mrs. Lauing attended a picnic supper given for the Toastmasters at the home of Frank Callaghan in Arlington Heights. Mr. Callaghan is president of the Arlington Heights Toastmasters.

MR. AND MRS. Wade Backey joined the Dennis Kays, all of S. Busse Road, Sunday for dinner. Later the Richard Kellermans of Elk Grove and their house guests, the Joe Thompsons, visited the Kays before the Thompsons continued on a vacation trip to Ohio. August 23 Dennis and Marian visited Marian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lazowski, in Antioch.

Tuesday Lynne Gorgius, S. Busse Road, attended the 16th birthday party of classmate Beverly Emrich in Des Plaines. Mrs. Gorgius and Laurie went shopping with Mrs. Stan Cory and Jan of Lake Bluff at Old Orchard. Laurie had been a house guest of the Corys for a week.

Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Willy Gorgius and Scott, Mrs. Elise Himmelberg of Chicago and H. Marko and daughter, Margaret, of Vienna, Austria, were guests of the Gorgius family for a barbecue and afternoon of shopping at Randhurst. Mr. Marko and Margaret report they have nothing like Randhurst in Vienna. They will be going home September 8.

THE AL WANGLES, S. Douglas Avenue, entertained the Arlo Andersons of Rockford Saturday. In the afternoon they all toured Brookfield Zoo.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rossberg, Jay and Cheryl, W. Golf Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Oppels of Franklin Park were dinner guests of Jays godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hinkleman, in Chicago.

Mike and Jeff Grismer, W. Golf Road, both received grand champion trophies at the 4-H fair held last week at Randhurst. Jeff received his trophy on commercial garden with a display of potatoes, Mike received his trophy on his handicraft display. Mike also received class champion on his rabbits. This is Mike's sixth year in 4-H and Jeff's fourth.

RECENT VISITORS at the Henry Hansen home, W. Golf Road, were Mrs. Hansen's niece, Carol Augsberg of Aurora, the week of August 13 and Debra Augsberg last week for four days. Sunday guests of the Hansens for a grilled chicken supper were the James Pease family of Barrington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nitz, Linda and Jackie, S. Elk Grove Road, have returned from a vacation in Wisconsin where they went horseback riding, boating, swimming and fishing. Highlights included a visit to Shawano Lake and an insight into the way of life of the Menominee Indians. This is our first tribe of Indians to gain complete independence, and they are working hard to make their way without the aid of the Federal Government.

After leaving Shawano, the Nitzes drove through Door County to the "Top of the Thumb" which is at the tip of the peninsula.

Mrs. Phyllis Paus, president of Forest View Mothers Club, Mrs. Goldy Baldassari and Mrs. Loraine Gorgius, this reporter, were taken on a tour of the new Forest View Elementary School by Alan Lawson, principal. Mr. Lawson and the School Board are justified in being proud of their new school, which is on its way to being finished for the opening of school. New ideas and new concepts in education will be tried in this new school.

Anniversary greetings go this week to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paus.

Birthday greetings this week go to Alicia Garcia, Jonas Mata, Lynn Pratt, Tommy Turner and Joe Mueller Jr.

A WELCOME TO teachers was voiced at a breakfast given Tuesday morning at Ridge School, Arlington Heights, by the board of Ridge PTA. The PTA gave each teacher a cup for use at "coffee break." Mrs. George Maybee, PTA president, and Richard Hetke, seem to agree that the cups will work fine. (A

Annexation Approval Rescinded by Mix-Up

Erasing an action taken because of a mix-up, Arlington Heights trustees Monday rescinded approval given Aug. 20 for annexation of two large lots on the north side of Oakton Street just east of the Viatorian property.

Trustees were told Monday that the petitioner, Dante Carrara, didn't even own one of the two lots.

And he wanted annexation of the other only on condition the board agree to its division into three building sites with frontages of 65, 65 and 70 feet, which are below the zoning requirements.

CARRARA'S attorney, R. A. Franzen, argued that the proposal did not have to be considered by the plan commission. Franzen said the lot, if annexed, would come in as R-1, the highest residential, and then the question of granting variations could be decided by the zoning board of appeals.

However, trustees referred the matter to the plan commission for a pre-annexation hearing on a proper zoning category. Gene Baughman, village planning consultant, and Harold E. Carlson, plan commission chairman, told trustees it was customary for zoning to be placed on property before subdivision plats or variations are considered.

Trustee William E. Sauer argued against Franzen's proposal, saying that owners of other lots on Oakton might expect the same thing, and that variations for narrow lots "could go right down the street."

FRANZEN SAID that if the request had to go to the plan commission and zoning board both, "we could waltz this thing around for three or four months." (A

A welcome is extended to Delores and Everett Lemler and their children, 11-year-old Phil and 10-year-old Denise, who have moved to 1732 E. Rosehill from Kokomo. Everett is regional sales manager for Delco Radio Division of General Motors.

Last Thursday Dr. and Mrs. Fred Kohn, 1935 N. Maple, decided it would be fun to just pack up and drive East. They departed on Friday and drove to Cleveland, where they left their two children with friends and continued on to New York City. Their tour included visits to the Empire State Building, Radio City Music Hall and seeing several shows.

They drove to Philadelphia and took in Betsy Ross' famous landmark, the Liberty Bell at Independence Hall and the scenic drive along the Schuylkill River. Carrying on with their impromptu excursion, they went to Pittsburgh and then back to Cleveland to pick up the children for the trip home.

LEARNING TO water ski was a thrill for the Dick Sutherlands, 1729 Jonquil, while vacationing at Miner Lake, Mich. Fishing and boating kept them occupied during their 2-week stay at the family cottage.

The Don Hess family, 1935 E. Elmwood, attended a reunion in Van Buren, Ohio, last week. While there they celebrated Don's mother's 80th birthday and his sister's return from a 2-year stay in Germany.

The Paul Quick family, 1921 Jonquil, are back from a 6-day visit in Cleveland with former neighbors, the Curtis Jones family. Their stay included dinner parties, swimming and much reminiscing.

Neighbors were delighted to hear that Mrs. George S. Reuter Sr., 1806 E. Lilac, has recovered so quickly. Her 74th birthday celebration on Aug. 27 was an extra happy occasion.

ENROUTE TO visiting relatives in Cleveland, the Raymond Kielacks, 1709 E. Rosehill, had an extensive sightseeing trip. They saw the capitol and Lincoln's home in Springfield, the St. Louis Zoo, Indianapolis Speedway and, on their return trip, did some fishing at Rhinelander, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weller of Gary were godparents last Sunday for the Christening of Linda Karen Schmechtig in Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights. Grandparents on both sides attended the dinner party of 12 held in the home of Linda's parents, 1718 E. Lilac. (AG

Agree on New Street Widths in Park Manor

Arlington Heights trustees, after a long discussion, agreed Monday on widths for new streets in Arlington Heights Park Manor subdivision.

Their decision clears a hurdle in the way of launching the special assessment project for improvements in the area, which is bounded by Central Road, Dryden Place, Davis Street and Arthur Avenue.

The street widths approved are a compromise between the standards recommended by planning experts and the wishes of residents who want to keep costs down.

ARLINGTON Heights Park Manor was subdivided several decades ago, and has not been developed to the same degree as other sections of the village.

If all parties concerned agree on providing necessary improvements, George Wallach, builder, will undertake development of single-family, multi-family and business sections in the area.

Trustee William E. Sauer declared at one point: "For the good of the village we have to put this through, and put it through quickly, and we can't put it through if the costs are too high."

THE WIDTHS finally approved are:

Davis Street — 36 feet.

Arthur Street — 36 feet.

Dryden Place — 28 feet from Davis to Rockwell, 36 feet from Rockwell to Central.

Cleveland Avenue — 36 feet from Davis to Fairview, 32 feet from Fairview to Central.

Roosevelt and McKinley — 28 feet.

The east-west streets — Widths matching those west of Dryden, except no width less than 24 feet.

THERE WAS difference of opinion on Cleveland and Roosevelt. On the latter, John G. Woods, president, had to break a tie vote of trustees.

Gene Baughman, planning consultant, said, "I had to have a starting point in my recommendations. I'm very pleased to come through with the percentage of approvals that I have." (A

Subdivision Plat Gets Planners OK

The Anthony Giannini subdivision of 20 single-family homes for a six-acre site east of the apartments at the northeast corner of Kensington Road and Dryden Avenue has passed the hurdle of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

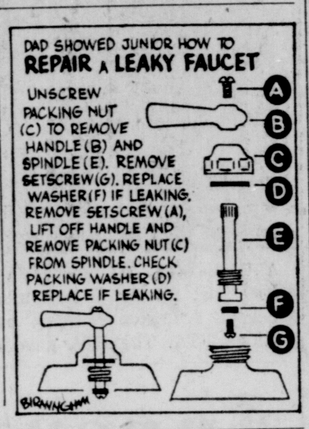
The commission recommended that the village board approve the plat, subject to a satisfactory proposal from Giannini to donate a sum equivalent to 10 per cent of the value of the undeveloped land for public purposes.

The requirement that a donation be made for public purposes seemed to take Mr. and Mrs. Giannini by surprise at last Wednesday's plan commission meeting. Mrs. Giannini asked time to think about their offer.

THE SITE is horseshoe-shaped, surrounding two existing homes on Kensington Road, and was difficult to lay out. The Gianninis obtained the help of Gene Baughman, village planning consultant, in planning the subdivision.

A variation will be required for a 50-foot right-of-way for a portion of Campbell Street, instead of the 66 feet the ordinance specifies.

William Hannum, chairman of the plat and subdivision committee, said the sub-standard right-of-way resulted from the odd shape of the property, but that it "wouldn't be too bad if it extends only to the next intersection to the east." (A



Mrs. Pearson Is WMS Speaker

Mrs. Lawrence Pearson will be guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church Women's Missionary Society, Arlington Heights, at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 4. "Christian Stewardship" will be the topic of the evening. Vocal solo will be presented by Mrs. R. J. Lilja.

Mrs. Pearson is an elementary school teacher in Prospect Heights, and the mother of two children. Her husband, Rev. Lawrence E. Pearson, is on the extension staff of the Moody Bible Institute.

THEME OF the WMS for the year 1962-63 is "Laying Up Treasures in Heaven." The meetings are open to any women in the area who would like to attend. (A

A Message From J. T. Keefer, Your Pharmacist

WHAT DOES DISCOUNT MEAN?

Almost overnight the most frequently used word by many retailers is "Discount." The impression they try to give is that everything they sell has the price discounted. These facts should interest you.

1. DISCOUNTERS ARE SMART
They select some well known products whose prices are familiar to you and sell them for less than the fair price. If you are a shrewd buyer you can get a bargain, if you buy nothing else.
2. DISCOUNTERS CARRY "OFF BRANDS"
These unfamiliar brands are usually priced profitably to make up the loss on their specials. If you want unknown manufacturer's products you can buy for less in any local place that does not feature loss-leaders.
3. DISCOUNTERS DISCOUNT SERVICE
They carry a minimum number of employees, avoid deliveries and charge service.

WISE SHOPPERS AVOID DISCOUNTERS

No possible price saving, especially on products sold in pharmacies, which are not high priced items, is worth the inconvenience of poorer service, off-brands that may be substandard and incomplete stocks, for discounters carry only fast sellers.

DEPEND ON OUR FAIR PRICES.

Few people can out-smart a Discounter. Why try? When you get all your pharmacy needs from us, the odds are your total price will be less for we have no overpriced articles to make up the lesser profits on loss-leaders.

Small Instant Homes Being Developed

Instant houses are being developed for people in a hurry to get a roof over their heads.

Now available is dome-shaped portable housing which can be erected in about 20 minutes by two people using a single wrench as their only tool.

IN THE experimental stage are spray-on houses that are built with nothing more than a few chemicals and a plastic film.

Tests indicate that the units could be successfully used as year-round cabins for vacationers and hunting parties, beach houses, duck blinds, children's play houses, low-cost housing for underdeveloped countries, shelters for workers and equipment at construction sites and military buildings such as radomes, barracks, mess halls, field headquarters and storage depots.

By either on-the-site erection or factory production, the simplicity of the construction method allows the instant houses to be built much more quickly and economically than conventional structures.

THE DOME-SHAPED, or geodesic, housing is produced by Tool Research and Engineering Corporation, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Rigid urethane foam-glass fiber sandwich panels are simply fitted together to form the shelter. The houses come in a variety of sizes, from a diameter of 16 feet and height of eight feet to a diameter of 80 feet and height of 28 feet.

Dismantled, the small domes form a package that can fit in the back of a station wagon.

According to Tool Research and Engineering, the urethane foam sandwich panels are such superb insulation that in the sub-zero temperatures of arctic regions, the smallest dome can house eight men whose body heat alone will maintain the dome at a comfortable temperature.

WHEN hermetically sealed, the empty dome will require four days for the interior temperature to drop from 70 degrees F. to an outside ambient temperature of 0 degrees F.

Besides their excellent insulation properties, the urethane foam shelters are said to be fire retardant and resistant to weathering, water, mildew, rot, vibration, solvents and chemicals.

The spray-on houses being studied by the military are built by mixing chemicals to make rigid urethane foam, which is then sprayed over the inflated plastic film.

After the foam hardens, the film is deflated and removed. Doors and windows can be cut out with a saw or bayonet.

Using this technique, three men need only three hours to build a quonset hut 54 feet long, 20 feet wide and 10 feet high. (BB

Commuter Caravan

From Every Corner Of Suburbia They Come

Each weekday morning more than 7,000 employes of Automatic Electric Company arise to the ring of their alarm clocks, down a slug of coffee, and start on their way to work.

Once out the door, however, their similarity fades. From 157 separate municipalities in three states they come, all headed for Northlake.

Most find the bright morning sun causes a little eye-squinting, but others must grope through pre-dawn darkness.

THE CITY of Chicago is the largest contributor to the caravan, as over 3,300 employes make the trip, most via one of the three great expressways that converge on Northlake.

Nearby suburbs—Addison, Lombard, and Villa Park included—each send well over 100 employes into the plant each day.

On the flip side of the coin there are over 60 towns in the area that have only one employe living within their limits who makes the trip each morning.

WHILE THE majority (well over 95 per cent) travel by auto, there are a few who come by bus or less conventional means of travel, though at this writing none has ever arrived in a canoe via Addison Creek.

But there are a couple of bicycle riders in the group, and motor scooters and motor cycles are not a rare sight in the parking area.

A list of cities and villages serving as home bases for company commuters includes Addison, 101; Arlington Heights, 21; Barrington, 5; Bensenville, 9; Bloomingdale, 2; Buffalo Grove, 2; Carol Stream, 1; Des Plaines, 76; and Elk Grove Village, 15.

ALSO ELMHURST, 264; Hanover Park, 1; Itasca, 12; Medinah, 10; Mount Prospect, 45; Northbrook, 6; Palatine, 22; Park Ridge, 35; Prospect Heights, 5; Rolling Meadows, 16.

And Roselle, 58; Schaumburg, 160; Wheeling, 3; Wood Dale, 1; Streamwood, 22; Villa Park, 24; and Woodland Heights, 1.

Labor Head Files Report on Layoffs

Director of Labor Robert R. Donnelly reported this week that during the week ended Aug. 18 there were 75,617 unemployment insurance claims filed in Illinois, a decline of 2.3 per cent from the 77,418 claims filed a week earlier, and down 22 per cent from the 96,632 figure of the corresponding week in 1961.

"It is noteworthy," Donnelly commented, "that all of the decline was in initial claims filed immediately after layoff. Only 9,927 were initial claims, 17 per cent under the 11,951 of the preceding week."

OF THE TOTAL Illinois claims 42,623 were filed in Chicago area (Cook-DuPage counties).

This figure is 2.7 per cent under the 43,788 filed in the week of Aug. 11 and 22 per cent fewer than the 54,438 total of a year ago.

Initial claims in Chicago area, 5,823 in the week of Aug. 11, dropped by 810 to 5,013 in the current week.

Discussing layoffs during the week ended Aug. 11, Samuel C. Bernstein, Commissioner of Unemployment Compensation, pointed out that layoffs due to lack of orders were few and far between.

A LAYOFF OF 1,800 workers, due to a model change in an automobile plant, was reported and inventory and vacation layoffs, affecting 600 workers in primary metals and 400 in machinery, were reported.

One layoff, affecting 125 workers in wholesale trade, followed litigation.

Returns to work were reported throughout the state in various industries. (BB

THIS VIEW of the new Farmington residential community shows one of the development's two blue-water lakes bordered by century-old trees. (BB

"Farmington," says Arthur T. McIntosh Jr., president, "is one of the most picturesque properties in the Chicago area.

"It's sufficiently diversified to offer just about any kind of homesite a family may want; heavily forested, partially wooded, high plateaus or meadowland.

"ITS DEVELOPMENT has been carefully planned to accentuate the attractiveness of each type of site.

"It is one of the few remaining, well-located areas in Chicagoland where such interesting property is available for big homesites. In addition to the century-old trees and the hills and dales, are two lovely little blue-water lakes."

In Farmington, one acre is minimum, with many two-acre and larger sites also being offered. Blacktopped roads wind throughout the community.

A private stable for riding horses, tack room, lounge, both indoor and outdoor riding rings and private bridal paths are located on the property.

PLANS CALL for a swim and tennis club to be a focal point for summertime entertainment.

The village of Long Grove, which adjoins Farmington, is an antique center well known to collectors throughout the Midwest.

Excellent churches, schools and shopping facilities are in close proximity, and Chicago's Loop is only 40 minutes away via expressways and fast, frequent, air-conditioned commuter trains.

Grand opening was Aug. 4. From then on the property will be open for inspection daily until dark.

The Farmington office is located on Long Grove Road, three quarters of a mile east of Rand Road (U.S. 12) and one mile west of Illinois Route 53.

Robert W. Jackson, president of Aldens, Inc., said recently that earnings in the second quarter and first half of the merchandising organization's fiscal year apparently set new records. Both periods ended July 31.

"We do not have final figures yet, but we expect our earnings for the second quarter to be about 46 cents a share against last year's 31 cents, giving us 78 cent earnings per share for the first half, against last year's 54 cents," Jackson said.

THE EXECUTIVE also added that he did not see any reason for pessimism in the fall quarter, and went on to project an estimate that Aldens would earn net income of more than $2.60 a share in the fiscal year ending next Jan. 31. This would compare with earnings of $2.15 a share in the preceding 12 onths.

Alvin D. Star, vice president of Aldens in charge of the Shoppers World division explained that the new Lincolnwood store, which press representatives toured, was designed to provide more shopper conveniences. New lines and services have been added, he said.

STAR ADDED that substantial profits were expected from three new stores, including one at 201 W. Rand, in Mount Prospect.

Interpolating the indicated share earnings results for the second quarter and first half, Jackson said they would amount to net income of $950,000 and $1,600,000 respectively. Comparable figures for a year ago were $631,523 and $1,149,564.(BB

'Quest for Quality, Value'

Dodge to Offer Warranty of Five Years on 1963 Models

Car buyers will intensify their "quest for quality and value" in 1963, a leading auto executive predicted here today.

John B. Naughton, general sales manager of Chrysler Corporation's Dodge Car & Truck Division, said the customer's demand for quality "will begin at the automobile dealership, where he expects to find thoroughness in servicing and integrity in selling."

"As for the cars themselves," Naughton continued, "there is no doubt that styling will continue to be very important to the buyer. But along with pleasing design, there must be engineering excellence and manufacturing quality."

Naughton spoke at a meeting here of more than 1,000 Dodge dealers and salesmen from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa. They met in McCormick Place to get an advance look at the 1963 Dodge cars and trucks, and to hear the company's plans for merchandising the new products.

THE DODGE executive said that with the current high level of business activity, sales of new model cars are expected "to get off to a strong start" in the fourth quarter. "And if this level of activity is maintained, 1963 will certainly be one of the automobile industry's best years."

Naughton said the 1963 Dodge products will enable his company and its dealers to conduct "a strong marketing offensive . . . and we expect to make substantial gains both in volume and in our share of the total automobile market."

He said Dodge's selling position will be strengthened by these four key factors:

1. A FIVE-YEAR or 50,000-mile warranty on the basic power components of all 1963 Dodge cars.
2. Introduction, in October, of a larger and more luxurious Dodge compact—the 1963 Dart
3. Introduction of a larger and roomier standard-size Dodge in the low-price market.
4. Expansion of Dodge's 122-inch-wheelbase "880" line in the low-medium-price field.

Explaining these factors, Naughton said the new Dodge warranty will go into effect on 1963 models because "our engineering tests, and our evaluation of current models in both fleet and consumer use, have shown conclusively that the major power components on Dodge cars will live up to this warranty if they are properly used and maintained."

HE SAID that in the 1962 model year, compacts have accounted for 39 per cent of the market for American-built cars and "about half of the compacts sold are the larger versions."

"We believe that next year a majority of compact-car buyers will want a larger, more comfortable and more attractively styled car—and we believe the new-size Dart will more than satisfy them," he asserted.

Naughton said the new standard-size Dodge will be built on a 119-inch wheelbase and will be six inches longer than the 1962 models. "Greater passenger room and trunk space, combined with exciting new styling, will substantially increase the Dodge's buyer appeal," he declared.

HE ALSO revealed that the Dodge 880 line, to be introduced in December, will have three more models than the 1962 line.

"Dodge will thus increase its representation in the low-medium-price field, a market with which the Dodge name has long been associated," Naughton said. "And it should be noted that the medium-price market has been expanding."

Naughton said automobile and truck sales should make a strong contribution toward maintaining a high level of business activity in the Chicago Metropolitan Area in 1963.

"Cook County ranks second in the nation in automobile registrations, and it will provide extensive opportunities for new-car selling in the year ahead," he said. (BB

Drive-In Points To Increased Revenue

Total first half revenues, earnings, and deferred income for Henry's Drive-In, Inc., showed substantial increases over the same period a year ago, Charles Robbins, president, announced recently.

In a letter to shareholders, Robbins reported:

"Earnings were up 60 per cent. For the 1962 period ending June 30, the figures were $65,760, or 30 cents per share, compared to $41,133, or 18.8 cents per share, for the first six months of 1961 adjusted to a comparable basis. Total shares outstanding were 219,136."

ROBBINS stressed that the rate at which negotiations are being completed to open new Henry's Drive-Ins under the firm's own-as-you-earn plan is "extremely encouraging" and is having a beneficial effect on deferred income.

Under this plan, drive-in operators, instead of leasing their units, purchase them—land, building, equipment, and signs—from Henry's under sales contracts.

Henry's, based in Chicago, franchises a total of approximately 125 drive-ins throughout the country.

Each specializes in the sale of 15- cent pure beef hamburgers and a limited menu of other popular food items. (BB

Address Changes Delay Benefits

Many Northwest area Social Security recipients experience a needless delay in getting their benefit checks, according to Julius Berman, District manager of the Social Security Administration.

THIS DELAY, Berman said, is brought about by the failure of beneficiaries to notify the Social Security Administration of changes in their addresses.

In addition to causing the checks to arrive late, this also increases the Post Office Department work load.

If you move after you have filed a claim for any type of Social Security benefit, make sure your check follows you.

THIS CAN be done by immediately notifying Social Security of any change of address.

Notification must be in writing, either by letter or by completion of the special post card supplied by Social Security for this purpose. (BB

Plea For Sane Driving

Safety Group Braces For Holiday Tragedy

The Labor Conference of the National Safety Council, the Standing Committee on Safety and Occupational Health of AFL-CIO, and other national union safety organizations are sponsoring their fourth consecutive Labor Day safety campaign, it was announced this week.

This campaign is being conducted in an effort to reduce the tragic toll of injuries and deaths during labor's own holiday.

The 1961 Labor Day campaign was instrumental in making last year's holiday weekend the safest on record.

HOWEVER, even though this accomplishment was achieved, almost 500 Americans lost their lives and thousands were injured because of accidents in traffic, homes, and recreation.

This year, President George Meany, of AFL-CIO, and President Joseph Beirne, of the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, are spearheading the attack to substantially reduce this slaughter.

These men feel that if all unions, including their own, extend an effort to spread this safety message to members and their families, a new safety record is possible.

EACH MEMBER was urged to make this national effort his personal campaign; to see that neither he nor his wife and children get hurt during the holiday. A perfect safety record by millions of union families will produce a big reduction in Labor Day casualties.

If you and your family are planning on a trip which will require several hours of driving, for a little recreation and fun, a company picnic or fishing, or just for some relaxation by a lake, the unions offer these tips about holiday driving:

1. Holiday traffic is always heavier, particularly during the early and late hours of a holiday.

2. MANY ON THE highways will be "weekend" drivers. They are the drivers who use the highways occasionally and, of course, are easily confused and may not be alert for quick decisions when an emergency arises.

3. More than half of the fatal accidents on holidays involve a driver who has been speeding or drinking. Speed makes the car harder to stop, harder to control and leaves you less time to act in an emergency. Don't drive after drinking, for even a little alcohol impairs driving ability and reactions.

ADJURE; to entreat earnestly; to urge; to appeal to; to solemnly command. "We adjure you not to criticize our actions until you hear our side of the story."

VERTIGO; dizziness or swimming of the head; giddiness. "I awoke to a feeling of vertigo." (A-14

CARL F. MEES, Chairman

When crop and livestock reporting began, 23 years before the U. S. Department of Agriculture was created in 1862, most people lived on farms, and most farm families tried to produce things for their own use.

Once a year seemed often enough to estimate the production of corn, wheat, cotton, cattle, hogs, and other products. The data were important primarily in those seasons when products surplus to the family needs were traded.

As agriculture has become more commercialized, and as huge industries have grown up to supply the needs of agriculture and to process and distribute the products of agriculture, demands have arisen for more statistics on more kinds of products, in greater detail, more often, and with greater precision.

Those demands have been reflected in the trends of statistical reports by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and cooperating State agencies. In part, the needs of the immediate future may be regarded as projections of those trends.

The statistics compiled by the reporting service are beneficial to the consumer as well as the producer, because the amount of production will determine to some extent the prize the consumer will pay for the product. The July outlook report, stated the following facts regarding food items:

LIVESTOCK — Total meat production this summer is not likely to change much. The cutback in hog slaughter will be largely offset by gain in cattle slaughter. Meat production is above that of a earlier so far, and probably will continue at the higher level for the remainder of the year. Cattle, calf, and lamb prices are up, while hog prices are lower than last year.

Lamb prices are expected to decline seasonally this summer but continue well above those of last summer. If the late-lamb crop is smaller than a year earlier (which now seems likely), prices this fall and winter will probably remain above a year earlier.

BROILERS — Despite the prospect of reduced export sales some time in the third quarter, prices are likely to continue above the 12.3 cents per pound average for the same period last year.

EGGS — Prices are likely to rise more this summer than last, but they may continue to average less during this period than in 1961, though summer output will probably continue higher than in 1961. In the last quarter, layers on farms likely will be fewer than in 1961, but egg production may not be much different than in the same quarter last year.

DAIRY — Production gains in April and May were lower than in the first quarter but indicate record production for 1962. Per capita consumption of fluid milk may be slightly lower this year than last, but increased total consumption is indicated. Use of non-fat dry milk was down sharply the first 4 months of 1962, but drop in price and prospect of increased use by bakers favor greater use the rest of the year.

VEGETABLES — The early-June estimate pointed to slightly less fresh vegetables, excluding melons, in early summer than a year ago, but materially more than the 1951-60 average.

WHEAT — The 1962 crop may be one of the smallest in recent years.

Sen. Paul Douglas To Address Quakers

Senator Paul H. Douglas (D. Ill.) will be guest speaker at an old-fashioned ice cream social on the lawn of the Friends Meetinghouse (Quakers), 1010 Greenleaf Street, Evanston, Sunday, Sept. 2 at 3 p.m.

All interested persons and their families are invited to attend the affair being sponsored by the Chicago regional office of the Friends Committee on Legislation, an affiliate of the Friends Committee on National Legislation, Washington, D. C.

SENATOR DOUGLAS plans to speak about the Peace Corps.

According to a recent statement of policy issued by the FCNL, the "Peace Corps is an especially useful channel for the energy, idealism and enthusiasm of young people. Such a program should be motivated by a humanitarian and person-to-person approach."

To guard against its use as an instrument in the cold war, the FCNL urges that the Youth Peace Corps be developed in cooperation with appropriate UN agencies and make use of the experience of voluntary organizations which have been conducting similar youth service programs.

THE FCNL, which has taken a strong position in supporting and improving the UN including the World Court, also has within its areas of major emphasis world disarmament under law, preserving civil liberties, advancing civil rights, meeting human needs, American foreign policy and the de-emphasis of military might and maintaining freedom of conscience.

Co-ordinating Sunday's event are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Laughlin, Prospect Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson of Mount Prospect, all members of the FCNL executive board.

Executive Secretary Emeritus of the Washington office is E. Raymond Wilson. (A14

Strauss to Speak for GOP Fund

Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and author of the best seller, "Men and Decisions," will be guest speaker at the United Republican Fund's 1962 annual dinner in Chicago's International Amphitheater, Tuesday, Oct. 2.

The $100-a-plate event is expected to provide the Fund with $300,000 towards its 1962 goal of $1,200,000. The money will be used to finance the Republican party in Illinois at the national, state and local levels. All Republican groups are cooperating to make the dinner a success.

IN ANNOUNCING Strauss's acceptance of his invitation, Fund president, Fred M. Gillies said, "Admiral Strauss is an extraordinary American whom Republicans, Independents and independent Democrats should be eager to hear.

"His uncompromising stand for what he believed to be right and good for our country and his refusal to conciliate an arrogant member of Congress caused his rejection as Secretary of Commerce of the United States by only three votes. America needs men like Admiral Strauss in public life today more than ever before." (A-14

See Tragic Death Toll for Weekend

The National Safety Council said this week that between 410 and 490 Americans could lose their lives in traffic accidents over the 78-hour Labor Day holiday weekend (6 p.m., Friday, August 31, to midnight, Monday, September 3).

Between 16,000 and 20,000 persons could suffer injuries disabling beyond the day of the accident.

The estimates are based on the council's records of past performance of motorists. During a comparable non-holiday 78-hour period at this time of year 330 persons are killed and 13,000 suffer disabling injuries.

"LAST YEAR'S Labor Day weekend was the safest on record for motorists and pedestrians, with a death rate of 6.6 per 100 million miles of travel," said Howard Pyle, council president.

"But we must not relax our safety efforts. Despite the record low death rate, 386 Americans lost their lives needlessly in traffic accidents that weekend.

"That tragic total should spur all of us to exercise greater caution than ever before during the approaching holiday in an effort to reduce the death toll still further."

This year's toll will tend toward the lower estimate if motorists observe the basic safe driving rules, Pyle said.

THESE INCLUDE: Don't drink and drive; don't drive too fast for road and traffic conditions; allow yourself plenty of time for any trips you plan; obey traffic laws and signs, and be on the alert for dangerous mistakes on the part of other drivers.

Fatalities could approach the higher figure if the above suggestions are ignored, he said.

Wisconsin Officials:

Iodine 131 Below Dangerous Levels

MADISON, WIS., (UPI)— Statewide samples of Wisconsin milk have shown "no reason to be concerned" about the level of radioactive Iodine 131, the state board of health has reported.

Milk samples taken at four stations showed levels of Iodine 131 were less than 25 per cent of the "acceptable standard established by the National Advisory Committee on Radiation," the board said last Friday.

The board also said there was "no need at the present time for special action to be taken by milk producing farmers."

THE BOARD advised parents to keep their children on grade A pasteurized milk in the best interest of the child's health.

The board said six new testing stations were being set up in the state and a "careful" watch will be kept for any real threat to the health of Wisconsin citizens.

The radioactivity of Iodine 131 diminishes to one half of its original power in about one week, the board said, and is reduced in three weeks to about one-eighth of its former level.

"THE STANDARD for safety that has been set applies to total exposure over a full year," the board said. "Radioactivity due to Iodine 131 was at relatively high levels last fall, but promptly came down to a low level, and except for brief intervals remained low to the present time." (A-14

Open Space Conference Is Planned

CHICAGO, (UPI)—The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission will concentrate on ways to preserve open spaces and provide parks and recreation facilities at its 5th annual conference Sept. 12.

About 400 planners, officials and citizens from more than 100 governments in the six-county Chicago metropolitan area were expected at the meeting.

"We hope to review the metropolitan need for open space, discusss our open space policy statement with the governments and citizens we serve, and consider a possible framework for action to preserve open space," Commission President Chester R. Davis said. (A-14

Court Closes Down 'Hotel' for Cats

MILWAUKEE, (UPI) — The lonely old man turned away from the judge's bench and said dejectedly: "Now my cats will freeze when it gets cold outside."

Peter Lassen, 74, had just been ordered by County Judge Christ Seraphim to nail up his swinging door to his home and get rid of all but one of the many cats the old man said used his home as a "hotel."

The cats have been the only company of Lassen, who lives alone.

THE CITY HEALTH department brought Lassen to court on a warrant charging him with maintaining an unhealthy residence. An officer with the department said Lassen had 17 cats at his home when it was first inspected June 21 after neighbors complained. He said the Humane Society picked up all but two or three of the animals. But he said those cats apparently had many more "friends" in the neighborhood.

"My cats and kittens go visiting a lot, and many of them were not home when the humane department officers came to my house," Lassen told the judge. (A-14

Bids Are Sought For Postal Unit

The Post Office Department is seeking competitive bids for an existing building to house a carrier station at Arlington Heights, Postmaster General J. Edward Day has announced.

A carrier station is a place where the carrier reports to pick up his mail, and to which he returns when his route is completed.

Under the department's lease construction program, a contract will be awarded to the bidder who designates a building suitable to the department's needs and agrees to improve it according to departmental specifications and then lease it to the department for five years, with options to renew the lease for an additional five years.

The interior space required is 3,000 to 5,000 square feet.

THE DEPARTMENT'S capital investment will be limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership, with the owner paying local real estate taxes.

Bidding documents will be available on or about Aug. 31, and may be obtained from R. E. Matthews, Room 1137, Main Post Office Bldg., Chicago 100, Ill., phone WAbash 2-9200, Ext. 747.

The real estate officer will supply bidding forms, specifications, lease provisions and other information. Bids must be submitted to the real estate officer by Sept. 28. (B8

Rescind Revoked License

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier has announced that the drivers license division of his office has rescinded the revocation of the license of northwest suburban resident Alfred H. Geistfeld, Route 1, Schaumburg.

Geistfeld's order for revocation was rescinded following receipt of a corrected report from the court of Police Magistrate Ray Hoase of Schaumburg.

The report showed the listed offense of driving while intoxicated reduced to reckless driving. (A-14

Reserve Policemen Vital to Suburbs

PART OF THE MEN Schaumburg Police Chief Conroy, left, can call upon when he needs help. Conroy has three regular policemen and a 15-man reserve unit. He operates the reserve unit for about the cost of one full time policeman. (B8 SCHAUMBURG POLICE Chief Marty Conroy talking to one of the members of his 15-man reserve police unit he uses to give 24-hour protection to the village which is as large in land area as Skokie. Conroy has three full time patrolmen in addition to the reserve unit. He operates the reserve unit for about $6,300 per year — the cost of one regular, full time man. (B-8

How Auxiliary Force Assists

by LEE SECHLER

By day William Frank is a rancher.

By night he is a reserve policeman in the Schaumburg Police Department.

The use of reserve or auxiliary policemen in the suburbs is not uncommon.

Many departments — Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village and Schaumburg, to name a few — use or are starting to use part-time policemen.

Elk Grove Police Chief Edward Clifford, who started a reserve unit in May, summed up the reason for using the men when he said: "We could see a need for additional help."

The largest and perhaps the most unique use of reserve policemen is in the Village of Schaumburg.

"Dollars and cents wise and to give the village 24-hour protection I had to start a reserve program," said Police Chief Marty Conroy.

WHEN HE started the program two and one half years ago—about the same time the Rolling Meadows and Palatine units were started—he was the only policeman protecting Schaumburg.

Now he has three regular men and the 15-man reserve unit to cover the nine plus square miles that make up the Village of Schaumburg.

The area, which is as large as Skokie, is odd when it comes to patrolling because it is made up of two separated subdivisions and scattered farm residences. Two shopping centers are being developed and will add to the time spent on checking businesses.

SCHAUMBURG'S three regular patrolmen started out as patrolmen work six-day weeks. One reserve works midnight to 8 a.m. with the regular officer.

All reserves work on a rotating schedule and are allowed to swap days off with a good reason.

Most of the men have taken regular and advanced first aid courses. They operate just as a regular, full-time police officer.

When a reserve works with a regular, the regular is in charge. When reserves are working together, the senior reserve officer is in charge.

"I'm never short handed due to sickness," said Conroy.

DURING THE Schaumburg Lions Club Chuck Wagon Jamboree last weekend, Conroy was able to keep at least three men on foot patrol in the area, plus two men on traffic patrol with a car.

"It's something like that that the reserve program proves itself many times over.

"We even get compliments from people ticketed by reserve policemen who are on traffic patrol," said Conroy.

Fifteen equipped and trained men for all situations—all for $6,300 a year. (B8 members of the reserve unit.

William Frank, who is reserve unit lieutenant, was the first man of the unit.

Frank volunteered his services and two and one half years ago. All Schaumburg reserve men are volunteers who have been passed by a screening board composed of members of the unit.

TWENTY-TWO men volunteered their time and service during the first year of the program without pay.

Now the men receive $1 per hour in addition to uniforms and insurance—$10,000 life, $2,000 medical and false arrest. The men received the uniforms and insurance from the start.

The reserve unit recommended to Chief Conroy that all new reserve unit men serve the first three months without pay.

IT IS DURING this three month period that it is decided if the man will make the grade as a member of the reserve unit.

Conroy estimates that it costs the village in the neighborhood of $6,300 to have the 15-man reserve unit—the cost of one full time patrolman.

The reserve unit plus his three regular patrolmen gives the Village of Schaumburg the protection of an 18-man force.

CONROY'S budget was set for $53,000 this year. The six month report showed that he had not used half of it yet.

"I plan to hold the reserve unit to 15 men," said Conroy, "because it gives each man more chance to work.

"The more he works the better he becomes in discharging his duties. He doesn't have time to forget things."

MONTHLY training classes are conducted by the lieutenant and sergeant of the reserve unit in the operation of the Schaumburg department.

Law enforcement people are invited in to conduct classes in various procedures.

Schaumburg is unique, too, in that it nearly surrounds the village of Hoffman Estates. Hoffman Estates used only regular patrolmen.

THE SCHAUMBURG cars cover about 500 miles every 24-hours beside routine traffic patrol.

Thirty miles of state and county roads are under Schaumburg's patrol. This figure, which is approximate, does not include village streets.

Each man has a field manual, which was designed by Conroy.

The manual has all the forms for accidents, robbery, theft, etc. with instructions so the men can get the proper information to fill out file records or help complete an investigation.

MOST OF the reserve men work from 4 p.m. to midnight with a regular officer during the week.

"This gives me two men in a patrol car," explained Conroy.

"I realize a lot of chiefs use one-man cars, but for Schaumburg, because of the nature of the village, I'm going to keep two men in a car at night."

WEEKENDS AND holidays the reserve men put in more hours. Regular Schaumburg

Ill. Bell Opens New Garage

Illinois Bell Telephone will get some breathing room Tuesday, Sept. 4, when the doors of its new garage swing open to house the many trucks and cars needed to serve Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, and Elk Grove.

Part of the fleet previously fit snugly into rented quarters at 32 S. Evergreen St., Arlington Heights, but there wasn't quite enough elbow room for efficient supply and maintenance operations according to G. W. Kaucher, Arlington Heights manager.

THE 122-BY-163 FOOT building located at the northeast corner of Rockwell and Arthur Avenue, Mount Prospect, is of masonry and concrete construction. It was built by contractor W. F. Fitzsimmons and Co. of 201 S. State Road, Arlington Heights.

The building also contains administrative offices and space for vehicle servicing. The parking lot will allow off-street parking for all employees and also will serve as a storage depot for poles, cable and other material. (B-8

'WAY BACK WHEN'

Compiled by Mrs. G. Rex Volz — Phone CLearbrook 5-9078

20 Years Ago—Aug. 21, 1942

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS: The black-out wardens were praised by local OCD council, altho there were three violations of a nature serious enough to warrant a thorough investigation by properly constituted authorities. Refusal of certain householders to obey repeated instructions of wardens in extinguishing lights, was of particularly grave importance, said Mr. George Schneberger, Mobilization Chief; Violations of Blackout instructions are punishable by law, whether the Blackout is real or simulated.

A course in pre-flight aeronautics will be offered to Junior and Senior A. H. Township students; the course consists of the mathematics and physics necessary for pre-flight training in addition to the geography and social aspects of aeronautics today. The Naval Officers state that the students who will have had such a course can save about one-half of the time which would be required to become a flyer as far as the ground school work is concerned.

Plans were announced today by Mrs. O. G. Barrett, chairman of the educational committee of the Woman's Club for an all-out house-to-house drive to collect every old discarded paint brush tucked away in cellar, attic or garage. The entire organization of Camp Fire Girls will visit each home on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 24 and 25 in Arlington Heights and vicinity in an effort to unearth brushes of all kinds. No matter how sticky, thickly encrusted with ancient dry paint, old brushes have a big value in our war effort. Proceeds from the sale of the brushes to the Brush Reclamation plant, which is a non-profit project at Louisville, Ky., will be used by the club to enlarge the Educational fund maintained to assist needy and deserving students to continue their education. The drive is endorsed by Mayor Albert Goedke, and will have a two-fold benefit: first, the brushes will be of immeasurable assistance to the defense effort; and second, the splendid work accomplished by the Woman's Club thru their educational fund, will be extended.

The request for donations for the new fire siren in Arlington Heights is made by the village officials. Its purchase is a village project, not an obligation of the Civilian Defense Council. The latter group donated $125 from its funds towards it purchase. The fire department is understood to have offered to pay $100. The remainder of the purchase price falls upon the public spirited citizens who are contributing to the fund.

The annual A.H. Fourth of July celebration may be ancient history, but there are $1,100 available for civic purposes to be divided between the A. H. Lions Club and the A. H. Trade and Civic Assn. $100 was turned over to the recreation fund of the Park District; $300 allotted for downtown observance of Christmas, which left $1,100 to be divided. The sum realized from the celebration creates a fund each year from which aid can be given to worthy causes.

Fix August 29 as "Tin Can Day"—It is imperative that housewives save tin cans. This is a defense job for each and every household. Tin cans must be shipped in carload lots to the steel mills. Rules: Cans should be rinsed clean, labels removed; they must be kept under shelter and be free from rust; Cans should be flattened. Crushing them against the floor by stepping on them is the way to do this. Top AND bottom should be removed before flattening, and the ends tucked inside AFTERWARD.

Whooping Cough is dangerous said a local doctor Wednesday morning. The State officials demand Arlington Heights enforce quarantine. A. C. Wilcox is health officer and asks cooperation of all families.

From, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Wheeling, Mt. Prospect, is the following group of draftees listed as 1-A called to report August 26th at 6:30 p.m. Robert K. Berndt, Alfred John Hattendorf (Palatine R.F.D., Schaumburg); Albert William Manzow, Geo. Buck Anderson, of Palatine. From Wheeling: Marshall Christian Balling, Larence P. Beck, and from Mt. Prospect: Wm. Lee Fisher, Clarence Carl Piepenbrink, Robert Louis Schuler, John Jakubiec; from Elk Grove, Steven Edward Kopecky; Walter L. Straub, Harold Schumann, and from Arlington Heights: Walter Emil Neitzel, Fred Otto Kersten, Henry Louis Japp, Elmer Lloyd Prout. Each town and/or civic organization hosted the boys at breakfast.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS: All residents who have victory gardens in Prospect Heights (and who hasn't?) will want one of the decal stickers which arrived at OCD office Tuesday. These stickers are for your home or car and will show others that you too have a victory garden. Just go to the OCD office and register the address and the size of your garden.

PALATINE: One thing that the blackout last week brought out was a need for more air-raid wardens. The village was well patrolled but the outlying communities have expressed a need for closer protection.

Cash gifts to meet Palatine's share of the USO war campaign fund are coming in at a rate that promises amply to pass the allotted $750.00 according to the report of chairman of local committee, Mrs. K. A. Osbon.

Canning sugar is now available to the people of Palatine every Tuesday afternoon until further notice. A civil service clerk from the rationing board of this district will be on hand at the Village Hall from 2 to 4 to help people with their applications and to issue sugar certificates. . .Sugar stamp No. 8 must last 10 weeks. It calls for 5 pounds of sugar.

Village Theatre Sets Tryout Date

Village Theatre Director Richard Tyler will conduct open tryouts for "The Desperate Hours" in Arlington Heights Pioneer Park Fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 10.

The script, adapted by Joseph Hayes from his own novel, requires 11 males and three females; three escaped convicts, a husband and wife, their son and daughter, daughter's boyfriend, trash-pick-up man, and schoolteacher.

A tense, fast-paced drama, "Desperate Hours" presents a challenge to the actors who must keep the story moving to avoid its becoming farce.

WITH 11 MEN to cast, Village Theatre President Marshall Moses feels that all available talent must be tried, and would like to see new faces at the tryouts. All men interested in trying out for a part in the play are urged to attend the tryouts.

"Desperate Hours" will go into rehearsals approximately a week after the completion of casting and will be presented in the Prospect High School Theatre on Oct. 25, 26, 27 and 28.

Theatregoers who have not yet secured their season tickets may do so by telephoning the Village Theatre Box-office at Cl 9-3200 between 9 a.m. and 12 noon. (Bill

Des Plaines Art Club Sets Varied Schedule

A variety of Chicago-area artists will appear before the Des Plaines Art Guild during the 1962-63 season which begins Monday, Sept. 10, according to Art Wetter of Des Plaines, vice - president and program chairman.

Meetings are held the second Monday of each month at 8 p.m. in West Park fieldhouse, Wolf Road and Greenview, Des Plaines.

AMONG THE better known speakers and demonstrators scheduled to appear for the Art Guild this year will be Edgar Miller, nationally famous for his murals and one of the most versatile of today's artists, and John W. Amon, vice-president and director of the Art Department of Needham, Louis and Brorby, Inc.. advertising agency.

Amon, 707 Glendale Lane, Mount Prospect, is nationally recognized as a creator of outstanding advertising, an author and authority on art and advertising. He will discuss this subject at the Art Guild's Oct. 8 meeting.

Other outstanding artists will give demonstrations in oil painting techniques, watercolors, pastels and ceramics at the monthly Art Guild meetings from September through June at West Park fieldhouse.

The ceramics demonstration on April 8 will be by another Mount Prospect resident, Mrs. Ruth Kastner, 208 S. Albert.

TO ROUND out the varied program will be Davo, the caricaturist, who always has a smiling audience whenever he performs.

Davo was a popular attraction at the Art Guild's recent outdoor art fair on Aug. 12 in Des Plaines.

The Des Plaines Art Guild has been most fortunate to acquire the best available talent in the Chicago area for its programs in the past, and this new season will carry on this high tradition of excellence, according to Wetter.

BUILD officers are looking forward to a splendid year, and invite all persons in the northwest suburbs interested in art and creative crafts to attend the meetings every second Monday night at 8 p.m. in the fieldhouse. Family membership is $6 a year, which includes a $2 initiation fee.

Golden Anniversary Date Marked by Family Supper

In any newspaper family, "putting the paper to press" comes first above all else, and typical of this was the golden anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Daniels of Arlington Heights.

Their 50th wedding date was Tuesday, Aug. 17, but Mrs. Daniels being the former Daisy Paddock of the local publications family, the party was set for last Thursday after the Paddock papers went to press.

IT WAS THEN that 17 members of the family gathered for supper in the Daniels home at 805 N. Dunton St. to honor the couple.

Although their daughter, Jeanne Daniels of Miami Beach was unable to be present, others of Mrs. Daniels' family were there. Among them were her brothers, Stuart of Inverness and Charles of Arlington Heights, and her sister, Lucile Paddock, who makes her home with the Danielses.

ANOTHER SISTER Dr. Jeannette P. Nichols of Philadelphia, had visited here with her husband, Roy, in July en route home from a trip around the world, so they were not here for the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels have lived in various homes on Dunton Street for 40 of their 50 years of wedded life. Both lived in Palatine before their marriage.

Theirs was the first wedding in the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, in what is now the chapel of the church. The bridegroom's brother, George, and the bride's sister, Lucile, were their attendants, and Rev. George Young united the pair.

THE ANNIVERSARY couple moved around the country a great deal during their first years together, but they always returned to Arlington Heights in between times. Mrs. Daniels recalls that they moved 18 times during their first 13 years of marriage.

Mr. Daniels is a fire protection engineer and only last year became semi-retired. He still works a day or two whenever his firm needs him. He has two brothers, Howard of West Palm Beach and George of Naperville, and two sisters, Mrs. Frances Paxson of Claremore Okla., and Mrs. Zelda Bennett of Palatine.

On their actual anniversary date Mr. and Mrs. Daniels entertained friends at an open house.

Handful of Trouble

Mom Is Key Person In Selection of Pup

by BETTY AINSLIE

Never go to just "look" at puppies, like you shop around for a piece of furniture, because it's a cinch you'll be hooked by a pair of soft, brown eyes, a moist sand papery tongue and a minute ball of soft fur — the sharpest little salesman in the world has cast a spell and you'll come home with a handful of trouble.

Our very special Springer Spaniel "Mac" was a victim of the allergies that plagued a good share of his nine years, but this family doesn't learn a lesson very well and our house wasn't to be dogless for long. I had two specifications. No more Springers as no one could ever take "Mac's" place, and short hair this next time please.

WE FOUND first of all inflation gone to the dogs. Pups maybe plentiful but plush, and each one could walk right in and steal your heart on the spot.

A dog book from the library helped in describing the size and weight of the grown finished project so we wouldn't be misled by say, a cute and cuddly 6-week-old Great Dane.

There was quite a difference in opinion around here about who wanted what. Di was all for a Basset Hound. Son No. 1 a Malemute (he got that out of a dog book and they're a beautiful and popular, smaller version of a Husky). Son No. 2 a Sheepdog—me a Schnauzer and Pop a ten foot boa constrictor—his pocketbook wasn't in favor of any kind of a dog after he learned the prices of pups.

FIRST A small word of caution. A dog is a long term investment so go to a reliable breeder. In short follow the private ads in the paper for dogs rather than pet shops or roadside stands. You'll find your selection more apt to be guaranteed and the pups generally have already received their shots and worming. In a roadside stand you pay as much for a good dog and run the chance that some other dog in the bunch may be ill or a carrier of some illness.

Well, the decision finally became almost unanimous to get a Basset puppy (we ignored Pop's vote). Just one look at the bow legged, long eared, sad eyed Basset hound had everyone sold—even Pop although he sighed when he pulled out the checkbook.

So one brown, black and white pup came to our house to completely disrupt the family as much as if we'd suddenly brought a brand new baby home. First there was the problem of a box. She tipped over all the small cardboard numbers we had and her long ears and anxious eyes peering above the edge had us all rushing to take her out. Di settled the problem by getting a giant sized cardboard affair that takes up most of the kitchen.

WE THOUGHT of calling her Pandora as she let all the troubles loose in the world, or Body a suggestion from Pop from a queen Boadicea found in the cross word puzzles. We call her Sheba, because she thinks she is "the queen of ——," and there hasn't been a dull moment for three weeks.

In my tireder moments, I'm positive "Mac" never was this much trouble, but she has our combined hearts in the palms of her big feet. There are probably fuzzier and fluffier pups but not one as cute as Sheba.

Her ears are butter soft and in doggy circles are called drapes, they sweep the grass and trip her large economy sized feet unless she holds her head very high. Her eyes are a melting chocolate brown and she seldom lifts her head when I talk to her merely rolls those dark eyes in my direction. Her face is wrinkled and sad as if she's already discovered there are too many "no's" in this world. She's long and she waddles. Sheba is bowlegged and knock-kneed and when she walks her rope-like tail forms an arc over her back. She looks every long inch like an out of shape aristocrat in a long brown raincoat.

SHEBA'S favorite rooms are the ones declared "off limits" to her and she can stretch out to unbelievable thin lengths to squeeze her puppy bulk through the barriers which keep her corralled in the kitchen. Until she becomes trustworthy and socially acceptable only portions of the house are hers, and I've found myself doing all sorts of stove and cupboard cleaning to keep Sheba company in the kitchen.

Pups readily take to spoiling and like favored and pampered children pups grow up to be obnoxious and demanding dogs. That's what I keep telling myself when Sheba begs to climb into my lap and I help her—or plays so cute with a toast crust from the table that I give her more

Remember, of course, all those promises that every member of the family made about taking care of the new pup will evaporate into thin air after about a week. Even the novelty of a cute pet fades mighty fast when it comes to fifteen minute interval trips to the backyard in rain or shine, changing box papers or blotting up wet spots on the floor.

SUDDENLY, mom, you'll find the dog is all yours and yours alone—yours to feed, to walk and to pick up after. The kids will be around to do the playing but disappear if work should be involved.

So pick a dog you're going to enjoy because that pup will learn quickly which side his bread is buttered on. He'll be under your feet, trying to lick your hand and barking for your company because you've been picked and selected. Romping with the kids he enjoys, he obeys Pop's commands because he's smart but you mom with his feeding dish in your hand—you're the one he loves. (S

Marriage Counselor?

Sec. Freeman Issues Pointers to Brides

WASHINGTON, D.C., (UPI) —So now the secretary of Agriculture is casting himself as a marriage counselor, Rep. H. Michel, R-Ill., snorted.

Michel, in a brief house speech last week brandished the department's "Packet for the Bride," a collection of helpful hints all done up in a pink-and-white folder.

Enclosed, he reported with ascending eyebrows, were 10 pamphlets with such tips for the little woman as how to buy eggs, butter and cheese; what to do with the frozen food she brings home from the grocery; and how to prevent and remove mildew.

THE INDIVIDUAL pamphlets long have been available for congressmen to mail to their constituents, Michel said, but Secretary Orville L. Freeman suggested in a letter to members of Congress that they might want to send out the assembled packet to brides.

In case the congressman wants to send along a letter, Freeman recommended the department's "Regular List 3." It is a chatty note beginning "Dear Bride," and suggesting the enclosed pamphlets would be helpful "In your new experience of shopping for two."

Freeman told the congressman by letter he would be glad to have his comments.

Commented Michel: "A ridiculous attempt to curry the favor of urban centers and their representatives in the Congress for support of the department's programs."

YOU AND YOUR PROBLEMS

Husband 'Balks' at Wife's Clothes Cost

by DR. GERARD G. NEUMAN

Dear Dr. Neuman:

I need some new clothes for fall, but I hate to even mention it to my husband, because he'll make such a scene. I know just what he'll say, because we've been through this so many times before.

DR. NEUMAN

He'll say, "What, again!" Then he'll ask, "What happened to all those things you bought last year?" He can't or won't understand that sytles change and that I can't go on wearing the same old dress to every PTA meeting and bridge game.

Isn't it a sign that a woman is well-adjusted when she tries to be attractive and look her best?

Mrs. S.

How a woman dresses and feels about her appearance naturally gives us some clue to what kind of person she is and where she may have her problems. However, this is just one of many observations and factors that must be put together to get an over-all understanding of a person's pattern of adjusting.

Either extreme would probably indicate some problems. The woman who spends a great deal of time and energy on clothes and make-up and her physical appearance is revealing her anxieties and conflicts, just as a total lack of interest in personal appearance may occur where there are difficulties in adjusting.

HOWEVER, the way a woman feels about clothes is something most men can't understand. Men and women are very different in their feelings about clothing. Men will generally wear the same suit year in and year out. They won't think of replacing it as long as there is good wear in it. In general, the older and more used a piece of clothing is, the better they like it. They part with it reluctantly and then go out to buy something just like it.

Men dress to look alike, where women want to look different. A man who isn't dressed like the others at a gathering feels out of place, while the worst thing that can happen to a woman is to have someone wear a dress like hers.

WE KNOW from history that men used to dress in elaborate, elegant, colorful costumes. There was a great change in men's dress about 250 years ago. People who study the history of clothing believe that men's clothing changed as a result of social changes brought in by the French Revolution. With the new ideals of equality and fraternity, men no longer dressed to emphasize their social status and their wealth. By simplifying clothing and making it more uniform, men were showing their new democratic belief in the brotherhood of men.

For the most part, women are more inclined to use clothing for social status and position. The leaders in fashion are generally highest on the social scale, and women try to dress like them to become leaders in their own group. Women often use clothing and hair styles and makeup as a way of competing with other women, which explains why being "in style" is so much more important to women than to men. (S

French Honeys

The French are famed for the creation of imaginative looking candies. Available now are such charming bonbons as honey-filled "bees," imitation birds' eggs with luscious liquid centers, chocolate cigarettes, and "flowerpops" which are lollipops made to look like flowers.

Angelica

Used for party decoration, Angelica is the crystallized stalk of a plant cultivated mainly in Auvergne, France. It grows to a height of about six feet and resembles a giant stalk of celery.

Neatly packaged as it comes from France, the jewel-green angelica is cut in strips 2 inches wide and ⅛ inch thick. From this all kinds of decorative stems and leaves can be cut.

Quite Contrary by Mary

New Science Resource?

Science is making a big mistake. It is not utilizing its greatest minds to the fullest extent. That is, the minds of small, very small, children. Somewhere in all the welter of strange things they do must be the kernels of great discovery and invention. Or just plain orneriness which is more like it.

MARY

This line of thought started the other day when a friend of mine came over and, with eyes bugging out of her head, told me that her son had been playing with the vacuum cleaner. I couldn't see that this was so much to get all steamed up about as our small one loved the vacuum above all things. She agreed that it was indeed a fascinating toy, albeit expensive. But, she continued, had my sonny ever sucked up all the water in the biffy with ours? No? Well, hers had and it put quite a strain on the disposable bag. And her nerves.

Another of my friends has a daughter whose pet trick was locking her out of the house. Maybe a psychiatrist can get something out of this like the child secretly wanted to live alone but it is pretty maddening to go out to hang up clothes and find yourself locked out. Every time. One day little cherub had locked Mama out. Mama had put some grease on to heat for popcorn. The grease caught fire and there was Mother beating on the door and watching small one with her long curls up on a chair watching the pretty fire. The story ended happily although daughter didn't sit in comfort for some time.

Then there is the time one of my small ones coated an entire wall as far as she could reach with cold cream. Which wasn't what I had in mind for a decorator scheme. What really goes well with cold cream except skin. Another one took clay and built figures coming out from the wall. Made quite a surrealistic effect but left some interesting grease spots.

Another curious one of mine while surreptitiously going through the cupboards in search of forbidden goodies, got cayenne pepper in her eyes thereby devising her own punishment. Retribution was swift and effective. Father grabbed a big spoonful of mustard mistaking it for peanut butter when he was small. When his eyes went back in his head, everyone had a good laugh.

I was a good little thing and I'm glad my Mother lives too far away to make a liar out of me. (SF

Carol Crookes, Groom To Reside in Michigan

In a candlelight service Aug. 18 in First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights, Miss Carol Nadine Crookes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Crookes Jr., 109 N. Forest Ave., Mount Prospect, became the bride of a Western Michigan University classmate, Charles Burnell Morlan, son of Mrs. Glen Morrison of Schoolcraft, Mich.

The bride was graduated with honors from Bronson Hospital School of Nursing, Western Michigan University, with a B. A. degree. Mr. Morlan, also a WMU graduate, is a member of Beta Beta Beta, and served in the Navy. After Sept. 1, the newlyweds will be residing in Jackson, Mich. where the bride will be associated with the Jackson Board of Education and the groom will be teaching biology and coaching football.

DR. HUGHES B. Morris officiated at the 3 p. m. service amid a setting of white glads, carnations and mums. "O Love Divine" and "The Wedding Prayer" were sung by Mrs. Clyd Ruch, who was accompanied at the organ by Charles Jenks.

The bride chose an informal-length gown of white silk organza fashioned with sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The empire line of the bodice was accented with a delicate rose and a slightly-belled skirt. A shoulder-length mantilla of Spanish lace and a cascade of white roses with ivy completed her ensemble.

Mr. Crookes gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Gary Evans of Kalamazoo served as the bride's only attendant and Mr. Evans served as the groom's best man. Ushers were Thomas Horn, also of Kalamazoo and Merle Halsey of Fulton, Mich.

MRS. EVANS wore an informal-length gown of pink taffeta with sabrina neckline and short sleeves. She carried a cascade of pink roses with ivy. The bride's mother chose a gold linen sheath with matching shoes and white accessories while Mrs. Morrison chose an apricot, pink and white sheath with apple green accessories.

Phalaenopsis orchids made up Mrs. Crookes' corsage and cymbidiums, Mrs. Morrison's corsage.

A reception for 50 guests was held at Plentywood Farm, Bensenville. The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Leora Hooper of Detroit, was among the guests.

Family Vacationing

Dear Peg:

It was almost 6:30 p.m. before we reached Black River Falls, Wis., and we were beginning to see "No Vacancy" signs in front of the motels. We had been driving since 12:30, making only a few stops for lunch and refreshments and now we were all tired and all becoming quite fussy!

Just a couple of miles on the other side of Black River Falls we saw a very nice motel and attached dining room called The Pines that still had a "Vacancy sign. Happily the weary travelers drove in. But, not so happily the weary driver heard the price for two rooms. One was $13 and the other was $9. If it had been any earlier I'd have taken a chance and gone on. But, discouraged by the passing of filled up motels, I didn't dare take the chance. As it was, we took the last two rooms in the place.

Our rooms were very nice and the girls were thrilled to be together in one room — the first motel room any of them had ever stayed in.

A quick perusal of our financial situation convinced me that the eight of us couldn't afford to eat in the dining room. I remembered passing a 19 cent hamburger place just before we reached the Pines, so, after washing hands and faces, back we went and for about $5 all of us had two hamburgers, french fries and a milk shake a piece.

The following morning we were up and ready for church at 6 a.m. St. Joseph's is a lovely new stone church, set impressively at the top of one of the town's steep hills.

We made excellent time from Black River Falls to Superior, over the rolling hills and through the lush forests of northwestern Wisconsin. By noon we were in sight of Lake Superior. What a thrill to see, for the first time, this great lake sprawling out in front of us and to cross the immense, high bridge that connects the towns of Superior and Duluth.

After crossing the bridge, we zig-zagged up one of the many steep — and I do mean steep — hills on which Duluth is built. Excitedly, we had a "count down" of the last 10 miles and before long we were turning into the gravel road which would lead us to the back door of Aunt Dot's cottage on Pike Lake.

My love,
Patty

Mount Prospect Juniors Open Membership Drive

When the Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club returns its meeting place to the Mount Prospect Village Hall for its first meeting of the '62-63 season Wednesday, Sept. 12, at 8:15 p.m., it will be to inaugurate its first membership drive. The club has met for the last year and a half at the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Mrs. Kenneth Odmark, club president, commented on the move, "By meeting again in our village we hope to emphasize our many civic projects in Mount Prospect and to attract new members who are interested in working for their own village. Among our current local projects are: co-sponsorship of the Senior Citizens Group, the Library Story Hour with the Friends of the Library, our annual scholarship to a Prospect High School graduate and our work on various drives throughout the year."

MRS. MELVIN Levers, second vice - president and membership chairman, explained that the club by-laws had been ammended to allow an increase in maximum membership from 75 to 100 members. "We have kept our membership small up until now to get a nucleus of workers on which to build a really effective service organization. As a member of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, we feel we have a great deal to offer the younger woman who is looking for a way to contribute on a local, state and national level.

"Through our contributions to Brain Research, our scholarship to teachers of exceptional children, our nursing scholarship, Lincoln Lodge, the Park Ridge School for Girls, veterans service and other national projects, she can reach beyond her local community in an organized, effective manner. Because we meet at night, baby-sitting is rarely a problem," she commented.

A Mount Prospect couple, Marilyn J. Petke, daughter of the Fred Petkes, 913 Na-Wa-Ta, and Thomas W. Lytle, son of the Walter Lytles, 307 N. Russell, became Mr. and Mrs. July 28 when united in marriage by Rev. R. O. Bartz in St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights.

Miss Linda Ruhnow served as soloist for the ceremony and organist was Don Herrmann. "The Lord Is My Shepherd" and "Where Thou Doest Go" were the selections sung by Miss Ruhnow.

THE BRIDE'S street-length gown, made by her mother, was of cotton silk featuring a lace bodice and lace skirt panel. Feathered carnations with sprays of green ivy made up her bridal bouquet.

The attendants' street-length dresses with lace bodices, were also made by the bride's mother. Serving as matron of honor in yellow was Mrs. Jean Raymond of Schenectady and serving as bridesmaid, in green, was Mrs. Carol Zimmer of Rolling Meadows. Both attendants carried white nosegays with green ivy.

The bride's mother was in a beige embroidered lace dress with accessories of multi-colored greens, browns and pinks. A mint green chiffon with matching shoes was the choice of the groom's mother and both Mrs. Petke and Mrs. Lytle chose white orchid corsages.

SERVING THE groom as best man was Phil Deming of Tulsa and Bernard Zimmer of Rolling Meadows was usher.

Mr. Petke also stood with the bridal party until he gave his daughter in marriage.

The new Mrs. Lytle was graduated from Taft High School and the University of Illinois and is now with Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association. Hospital Fund-Raising Graduates From Mud-Sloshing to Premiere

After months of sloshing through mud, snow and cold to operate a canteen for workers during construction of Holy Family Hospital, plus teas, card parties and luncheons, members of the hospital's auxiliary will top their fund-raising activities Saturday, Sept. 8, with their fourth annual benefit, a gala Premiere Dinner Dance at Randhurst.

The party will include a gourmet buffet in Carson's new Pavillion Restaurant, a fashion showing of imported and domestic items, dancing to the music of Frankie Masters and his orchestra and a dance demonstration of the "Wheeling," a new step designed to outmode the "Twist."

THE BENEFIT heralds the success of the auxiliary's past three years during which the group operated the canteen to raise $7,000 of its $10,000 pledge to benefit the nurseries of the hospital. Further contributions added a gift shop to the architect's plans, the electronic patient-contact equipment in each room, and now, the sharing of the cost of the quarter-million dollar air conditioning system.

Membership in the auxiliary now totals more than 450 members, and includes residents of Palatine, Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights and Mount Prospect, as well as residents of Chicago, Glenview, Niles, Skokie, Park Ridge, Morton Grove and Des Plaines, the home town of the hospital.

MODELING HATS which are part of the imported and domestic fashions to be introduced for the first showing at the Carson Pirie Scott Fashion Show at the Holy Family Hospital Auxiliary Premiere Dinner Dance are Mrs. Otto Sherr, Mrs. William Sommers and Mrs. Marce Starch of Mount Prospect. The Auxiliary is holding its fourth annual benefit at the new Randhurst in Mount Prospect Saturday, Sept. 8. The fashion show will begin at 8:45 p.m. with cocktails available at 8. Dinner and dancing to the music of Frankie Masters will be held at 9 p.m. (S

Child-Aid Society Backing Adoption

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society is encouraging applications from young married couples who would like to adopt a baby.

In making this announcement, Miss Rita Dukette, director of the society's adoption division, stressed that this does not mean for every couple applying there is a child waiting.

THE DEMAND still exceeds the supply.

The society, through its many years of experience, knows that it must have a large selection of interested families from which to chose if it is to find exactly the right home for every child who is waiting to be adopted.

"Prospective adoptive parents should be contented and happy," stated Miss Dukette, "and they should be able to accept and love an adopted child as their own.

"Couples we are looking for will have already investigated the medical aspects of their inability to have children of their own. They will have been married long enough to be adjusted to one another and will be able to add a new member to their family without financial strain."

INTERESTED couples who apply will be informed within a reasonable length of time about the prospects of receiving help from the society.

Additional information may be had by calling the Adoption Intake Caseworker at WHitehall 4-3313 or writing to the Adoption Division, Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, 1122 N. Dearborn Street, Chicago 10.

The Society is supported by voluntary contributions and is one of the largest child placing agencies in the State.

Founded in 1883 its services are non-sectarian and its program dedicated to the care of children whose parents are unable to provide for them. (S

Super Marts Have Need for Grads

The modern super market industry has openings for more than 20 professions and skilled vocations, declares Don Parsons, executive director of Super Market Institute, in urging that high school and college graduates give thought to this industry in choosing a career.

"People tend to think only of 'storekeeping' in relation to the super market indsutry," Parsons said. "This used to be true, but today the super market industry has become a highly complex field, requiring the services of many more professional and administrative personnel than in its early days."

Salaries of the professional or skilled workers are as good or better than in other fields, and the industry has the added attraction of stability in good times or bad because "people have to eat whether business is good or not."

FRINGE BENEFITS such as company-paid insurance, paid vacations, pension funds and profit-sharing plans are on a par with other fields.

Here are some of the professional and trained skills, most commanding at least "five figure" salaries, required by modern super market companies:

Accounting, administration (executive positions from store manager to president), advertising, architecture, art (signs and displays), baking, buying (buyers usually specialize in meats, produce, groceries or non-foods), engineering, home economics, journalism (publicity and house organs), labor relations, market research, merchandising (merchandisers also specialize in various categories), personnel administration, pharmacology (complete drug departments are becoming more and more common in super markets), real estate management, safety engineering, store and warehouse security officers, transportation (many companies operate their own truck fleets), and warehousing. Another Travel Tip

Jamaica Has Much to Offer The Vacationer

by JEANNE WELCH

When Jamaica celebrated its new status of independence earlier this month, not only was Princess Margaret on hand, but some 120 representatives of the press as well. Undoubtedly more copy carrying a Jamaica deadline was filed in that period than in any other comparable period of days in Jamaica's long history.

In contrast to the violence and upheaval which often accompany such events in other countries, Jamaica's change of government was accomplished in a dignified and sedate manner. The lights were dimmed briefly during the ceremonies, while the British flag which has flown over the island for 300 years was lowered.

As the lights came up again the Jamaican flag fluttered in the breeze and Jamaica was at last independent. It remains, however, a member of the British Commonwealth.

THE EYES OF many varied interests are now on Jamaica, including those of the many-faceted travel industry. It is too early to predict what changes may occur, politically and economically, but it is safe to say that tourist business will continue to be encouraged. As the island's third largest industry it provides badly needed employment.

Predictions are that the coming winter season will be a big one all through the West Indies and Jamaica, with its stable government and strong pro-American attitude, hopes to increase its share of visitors from the United States.

Certainly Jamaica has much to offer the vacationer—beautiful scenery, wonderful climate, the charm of a "foreign" country. Perhaps before too long midwesterners may be able to fly non-stop from Chicago. As of now we must go via New York or Miami.

MUCH HAS been written about the luxury of Jamaican hotels, so much that perhaps many people think of a Jamaican trip as beyond their vacation budget. It's not really that expensive, particularly at times other than mid-December to mid-April, "the" season. Don't just assume it's too expensive. Make some inquiries.

Then, too, if you normally spend a lot of money for Christmas gifts you can do your shopping in Jamaica at free port prices and effect substantial savings. How about a nice bottle of the famed Jamaican rum for Aunt Agatha?

While passengers on cruise ships seldom see more of Jamaica than its capital port city of Kingston, many of those who fly there go directly to Montego Bay, largest of the settlements of the island's north shore resort area. Kingston and Montego Bay are only 113 miles apart but Jamaican roads are not good by our standards.

MANY PLANE passengers see only the Kingston airport unless they take a sightseeing limousine which takes in Montego Bay, Ochos Rios and Kingston.

If you have time and can tear yourself away from beautiful Montego Bay try to include Kingston and its Institute of Jamaica where you will gain a good over-all picture of the past and present Jamaica.

In the resort areas of Montego Bay and Ochos Rios you will swim, sail, fish and perhaps take a horseback ride to see ruins of old plantations and the beautiful vegetation. At "Mo Bay" you will also visit the straw market and haggle for merchandise (don't accept the first price), and watch the banana boats loaded.

JAMAICAN women carry the bananas on their heads, with infinite grace, a picturesque sight but one you may have difficulty capturing on film for the women are sensitive about their appearance in the old clothes they must wear for such work and do not like being photographed.

When you shop for merchandise other than clothing—French perfumes, English china, leather goods, cameras, etc., at free port prices, you'll not receive the merchandise then. To be eligible for tax-free purchases you must give the date and manner of your departure. Your purchases will be delivered to your plane or ship.

Don't take too many sport clothes with you. You'll want to buy some in Jamaica where offerings are colorful and inexpensive.

THE JAMAICAN money standard, of course, is the British pound sterling, but your U.S. paper money will be accepted eagerly. Take your change in shillings for U.S. coins may be discounted.

One last tip. You may take into Jamaica one carton of cigarettes for each of your party, including children. I'd advise you to take the limit, for American cigarettes are expensive, about 68 cents a package.

Unless you like English cigarettes, (and from the eagerness with which the Britishers in Jamaica accept our cigarettes it would seem that even the British don't) take your favorite brand with you. Take matches, too, or a lighter and fluid. Because of a high tariff matches are likely to be scarce or expensive. (T

Juniors Plan Indoor Membership Tea

Wheeling Junior Woman's Club has virtually eliminated the problem of inclement weather in planning this year's membership tea for Sunday, Sept. 9. They will hold their seventh annual tea from 3 to 5 p.m. in the library of the Jack London Junior High School, 1001 W. Dundee Road, Wheeling.

Cloudy skies presented a threat in previous years when teas were held in the gardens of members' homes. Last year, however, despite fair skies, the temperature soared upward, leaving members and guests somewhat "wilted."

"THE JACK London School should be ideal for this event," concurred Mrs. William J. Hayden Jr., club president, and Mrs. Robert Steinman, second vice president in charge of membership. "The library is large enough to hold a capacity crowd, while the adjoining atrium provides a beautiful setting in any season.

"Our guest list has already approached the 100 mark," continued Mrs. Steinman. "Most of the guests will be prospective members from the Wheeling area, although invitations have also been extended to representatives of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs, Seventh District."

THE ANNUAL tea has a dual purpose. It gives newcomers to the area an opportunity to learn of the local club, its Federation affiliation and its purpose. In addition, it gives former members a chance to become re-acquainted following the summer club recess, explained Mrs. Hayden.

Mrs. Hayden will welcome guests and introduce officers, board members and special guests. The refreshment table will be staffed by members of the Social Committee, headed by Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Any woman requesting additional information on the tea may call Mrs. Steinman at LEhigh 7-1966. (S

Arlington AAUW Holds 'Coffees'

Late summer activities of the Arlington Heights Branch of the American Association of University Women include several informal "coffees" for prospective members. Purpose of the coffees is to acquaint qualified women with the organization.

Coffees were held Aug. 22, by Mrs. Phillip Haag, 5 S. Gibbons, and Aug. 28, by Mrs. Garrett Duel, 16 S. Forrest. Next Wednesday evening, Sept. 5, Mrs. John Wallschlaeger, branch president, will entertain a group of prospective members at her home, 707 S. Ridge. A morning coffee is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 7, at the home of Mrs. Donald Novaria, 716 S. Dryden.

INTERESTED women in this area who are graduates of approved colleges and would like to know more about AAUW are invited to telephone Mrs. Wallschlaeger, CLearbrook 5-8435, or the branch membership chairman, Mrs. Ted Meyer, 205 S. Louis, Mount Prospect, CLearbrook 9-1049.

French Candies

Many of the flowers grown in southern France for the perfume industry also provide fragrant nectar for that country's exquisite honeys. Acacia, heather, lavender, rosemary and mountain flowers are among the most popular ones. Richer, stronger honeys come from fir and pine tree regions.

Restful Garden

To make your garden look more restful and inviting, add a small garden bench built of Douglas fir 2x4s. The most simple design is best. (SH

Roast Beef Sandwiches In Checkboard Pattern

Many homemakers pick an occasional cool day during the warm months to cook a roast—a nice big one. For the next few days, meals can be breezy and good, using left-over meat.

Most every family likes roast beef sandwiches. This nourishing and delicious meal appears on family menus often, but the problem is a way to make it just a bit different.

CANNED MUSHROOM gravy is the answer, for combined with a dash of horseradish, it makes a perfect mealtime companion for roast beef. And to give the whole sandwich a face-lifting, try cooking it in the waffle iron.

Surprise your family with a crunchy, fresh Caesar salad, brew tea for icing and set out a pitcher of cold milk for the children, and you have a delicious meal sure to satisfy every appetite.

CHECKERBOARD SANDWICH

8 slices white bread
Prepared mustard
4 slices cooked beef
¼ cup melted butter
1 can (10½ ounces) mushroom gravy
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish

Spread 4 slices of bread with mustard, top each with beef and bread. Brush outside surface of sandwiches with butter. Toast in waffle iron at medium heat until lightly browned.

In saucepan combine gravy and horseradish. Heat, stirring now and then. Pour over sandwiches; makes 4 servings.(SH

Orange Skin

The "complexion" of an orange doesn't affect its juiciness or flavor. While all oranges on the market are fully mature when picked, regardless of color, some fruit may have considerable greenish tinge, others a russeted look.

Quality is not influenced one way or the other. Some oranges are "glamorized" by the addition of a harmless coloring. Such oranges must be stamped "color added." The word "zest" comes from the French "zeste," meaning lemon or orange peel.

Sweet-Sour Beets

While beets are available all year, their peak season begins in May and continues through October. To prepare sweet-sour beets, cook, slice and marinate them in equal parts of sugar, vinegar and water, which has been simmered briefly with salt and a teaspoon or two of mixed pickling spice. Raw onion may be added; let stand for several hours or overnight before serving.

Green Magic

The darker the green of vegetable leaves, the greater their food value. Deeper colored outer leaves of crisp head lettuce, for instance, have more vitamins A and C than do the blanched inner leaves.

Blackberries

Today's blackberries are the result of 150 years of selecting and hybridizing the best of our native fruits.

A 10-day trip to California, en route to their new home in Norwalk, was the honeymoon for Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Wodrich, who were married July 28 in the Lutheran Church of St. Luke in Itasca. The bride, the former Dorothy Irene Plass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Plass, 220 S. Maple, Itasca, and her groom, son of the Earl L. Wodriches, 2332 W. Palatine Road, Palatine, both expect to teach in California, the groom already having been engaged as sixth grade teacher in the Norwalk-La-Mirada School District.

Both young people were graduated from Valparaiso University and the bride has been teaching for the past year at Trinity Lutheran School in Hicksville, Long Island.

BEFORE AN ALTAR decorated with blue-tipped chrysanthemums and white glads, the couple repeated their vows at 6 p. m. with Rev. Kurt V. Grotheer officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of organza with floor-length skirt and chapel train. The bodice was covered with Alencon lace as were the elbow-length sleeves and full skirt featured a front panel of horizontal pleats. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a crown headpiece and she carried a cascade of white carnations with a center gardenia corsage, tinted blue.

In keeping with the blue and white theme of the wedding, the attendants were gowned in Copen blue organza over taffeta, street-length dresses, and in headpieces of blue-tipped feathered carnations. They also carried bouquets of the blue-tipped carnations on a white lace fans.

MISS KAREN Droegemueller of Itasca served as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Gerdes of Teaneck, N. J. and Miss Belva Droegemueller of Fairmont, Minn.

Kenneth K. Wodrich of Palatine served as his brother's best man and groomsmen were Robert Tomb of Gary and Allen Plass of Palatine. Ushers were Jerald Snick of Itasca, Kurt Lenz of Columbus, Ohio and William Harris of Chicago.

Following the double ring service, a reception and buffet dinner for 200 was held in the Waterfall Room of Frederick's Restaurant, Bensenville. Both mothers received the guests in dresses of pink, Mrs. Plass' in a mauve pink and Mrs. Wodrich's in a salmon. Mrs. Plass' sheath dress was of silk organza and was complemented with a pink feather pillbox while Mrs. Wodrich's dress was of chiffon. She also wore a matching feather hat. (Funk Photo (SSD

Greek Family Retains Heritage in Cooking

PASTICCHIO

½ pound large macaroni
¼ cup melted butter
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Romano or parmesan cheese or Kesalotere and Mitzithra

Cook macaroni in unsalted boiling water until tender but not too soft. Drain well and add butter, salt, pepper and cheese. Place in a large baking dish, 12x8x2 inches. Prepare the following:

1 pound ground lamb or beef
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
1 small can tomato sauce
2 tablespoons white wine (optional)

Saute ground meat in butter for about 7 minutes or until brown but not dry. Season with salt, pepper, nutmeg and cinnamon. Cook for about 2 more minutes. Add tomato sauce and wine.

Pour over macaroni in baking dish. Add:

2 large beaten eggs

Blend well and sprinkle top with:

¼ cup grated cheese

Bake in a pre-heated oven, 350 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes. While macaroni is in oven, prepare custard topping.

½ cup butter, melted
½ cup sifted flour
3 cups warm milk
1½ teaspoons salt
3 large eggs, beaten slightly
½ cup cheese

Place butter over moderate flame until melted. Add flour and stir until smooth. Slowly add warm milk. Cook until thick and simmer for several minutes. Add salt. Let stand about 10 minutes and add sauce to slightly-beaten eggs very slowly to prevent curdling. Stir continuously while blending sauce with eggs.

Pour custard over partially-baked macroni and sprinkle top thickly with grated Romano or other cheese. Bake an additional 30 minutes. If top is not brown after 30 minutes, place under broiler for a few minutes. Watch closely.

Remove from oven and let stand for 30 to 40 minutes before cutting into squares and serving. Serves 8 to 10.

KAPAMA
(Stewed Chicken)

4 pounds chicken or lamb shanks or combination of both
¼ pound butter
½ cup tomato paste
1 small can tomato sauce
1½ cups boiling water
Juice of ½ lemon
½ cup wine (optional)
1 large cinnamon stick
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut chicken into serving pieces or cut each shank into two pieces. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Let stand for 10 minutes.

Brown chicken or lamb in butter. Mix tomato paste and sauce with boiling water in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and carefully place browned chicken in pan. Pour pan drippings over chicken. Add wine and cinnamon stick. Simmer for approximately one hour or until meat is tender. If necessary, add more water. Serve with macaroni.

Boil macaroni and drain well. Mix with grated Kesalotere and Mitzithra cheese. (Parmesan or Romano may be used.) Serve the sauce over macaroni. Serves 4 to 6.

STIFATHO
(Beef Stew with Onion)

2 pounds boneless chuck beef
4 pounds small onions, about 1 inch in diameter
½ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon whole pickling spices
1 small can tomatoes
½ cup vinegar
5 cloves garlic (do not peel off skin)
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut meat in serving pieces. Brown slightly in oil. Peel onions, leave whole, and brown in oil.

Place meat and onions in a saucepan with vinegar, tomatoes, garlic, salt, pepper and about one cup water. Wrap pickling spices in a small cloth, tie with a thread and place in saucepan with other ingredients.

Cover tightly and cook until meat and onions are tender and liquid is reduced to a delicious gravy. Add more water if necessary. Serves 4 to 6.

LQUKOUMATHES
(Drop Doughnuts)

2 packages dry yeast
½ cup warm water
¾ cup scalded milk
1 teaspoon salt
3½ cups sifted flour (approximately)
1 quart cooking oil or vegetable fat

Add yeast to water and let stand.

Pour hot milk into a large bowl. Add salt and blend together. Cool mixture to lukewarm. Stir yeast mixture well and add to milk and salt.

Mix in flour until the consistency of batter is soft enough to drop from teaspoon. Beat vigorously until smooth. Cover and let rise about 30 minutes or until double in bulk. Stir down and let rest while grease is heating in deep pan. The dough may be placed in the refrigerator after the first rising and stored there until ready to use. Stir down before using.

Drop batter by teaspoons into hot oil or grease. Turn balls when edges show color. Fry to a deep golden color on both sides. Dip spoon into a glass of water each time before dipping into batter to prevent sticking.

When fried, drain on absorbent paper. Arrange on a platter and drizzle honey which has been diluted with a little warm water over the doughnut balls. Sprinkle with cinnamon or powdered sugar and serve warm.

Makes from 50 to 75 doughnuts. (SH

Bread Recipe Prize Winner

What happens when a woman wins a prize for her bread baking? Other women admire her skill and want to try her recipe in their own kitchens. Mrs. Opal Hayes of Franklin, Ill., who won the top yeast baking award at the Illinois State Fair, the "Fleischmann's Yeast Best-Of-Show Award," shares her recipe here with homemakers who enjoy the traditional art of yeast bread baking.

BEST-OF-SHOW WHITE BREAD

1 package or cake Fleischmann's Yeast, active dry or compressed
1 cup warm water
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup milk, scalded, and cooled
6 cups sifted flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Combine sugar, salt and shortening in milk. Add to yeast mixture. Measure flour in mixing bowl, make nest in center and pour in all liquid ingredients. Mix until all flour is combined.

Turn out on floured board and knead for 10 minutes. Let rise until double in volume. Punch down and let rise again. Shape into two loaves. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 50 minutes. (SH

Spicy Dishes Have Intriguing Names

by LOIS SEILER

A Grecian heritage plays an important role in Mrs. Peter Kalogeras' culinary endeavors, for both she and her husband, who is also of Greek parentage, delight in the rich and flavorful dishes of their ancestors.

Pasticchio, often called Greece's national dish, is one of Mrs. Kalogeras' favorite recipes to make for a special occasion.

Either lamb or beef can be used in preparing this unique and appealing dish. The ground meat is browned, mixed with a tomato-wine sauce and spiced with nutmeg and cinnamon. It is combined with a cheese-macaroni mixture and beaten eggs and baked for 15 to 20 minutes.

A creamy custard sauce is then poured over the partially-baked macroni, the top is thickly sprinkled with cheese, and the dish is returned to the oven for an additional baking period.

Pasticchio must stand for at least a half hour or longer before serving. It should be sliced in squares, and if cut too soon will spread.

"I like to make this dish in advance and re-heat it as it cuts better," Mrs. Kalogeras commented.

Pasticchio can be served as the main course, but Mrs. Kalogeras likes to use it as an accompaniment for roast lamb or baked ham for buffet dinners. It is delicious with chicken, too.

For family meals this capable cook has two Greek specialties which she especially likes. One is called Kapama, or stewed chicken, and the other is Stifatho, a beef stew with onion.

The Kapama can be made with lamb shanks, too, or a combination of lamb and chicken. The browned meat is simmered in a savory tomato-wine sauce flavored with a cinnamon stick. This spicy sauce is especially good served over macaroni which Mrs. Kalogeras mixes with two Greek cheese, Kesalotere and Mitzithra.

Stifatho was originally made with wild game such as pheasant or rabbit, but for practical reasons Mrs. Kalogeras makes it with beef. After browning the beef and onions, they, too, are simmered in a spicy gravy.

"The gravy is good with mashed potatoes," Mrs. Kalogeras said, "but a tossed salad and French bread are all that is really necessary as accompaniments for this meal."

Because most of the Greek dishes are rich and spicy, Mrs. Kalogeras seldom serves dessert immediately following a meal. However, two or three hours later she might fry some Loukoumathes, delectable Greek drop doughnuts.

The batter for these yeast doughnut balls can be made several hours ahead of time or even the night before. However, they are best served hot, so this good cook fries them in deep fat just before serving. They are drizzled with honey and sprinkled with cinnamon or powdered sugar.

Loukoumathes are a tempting treat for coffee parties, too, and always make a hit with adults and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Kalogeras and their daughters, Connie, 14, Cathy, 12, Gigi, 7, and Joanne, 3, moved from Chicago to their home at 300 N. Clark Drive in Winston Park, Palatine, last January.

Mrs. Kalogeras is very active in the Women's Auxiliary of the Greek Archdiocese Welfare Foundation and has worked diligently with this group for 10 years in an effort to raise funds to build a Greek Old People's Home. The family belongs to St. John Greek Orthodox Church.

Peaches and Milk Drink a Refresher

Appetizing and refreshing is the only way to describe this peaches, milk and cream drink for an afternoon or evening refreshment. Fresh or frozen peaches are blended with milk and cream to make a delightfully smooth and nourishing drink with a bit of spice for a garnish.

A generous supply of milk for in between meal family pick-ups is a must, but particularly so during the summer months when increased activities at work or play bring about weariness or fatigue.

A MILK drink with butter cookies or a small piece of cake will give a lift to either young or old, and will include a part of the milk needed daily for nutritional needs.

For a peach of a drink—you will enjoy this recipe.

PEACHY DRINK

1 1-pound package frozen sliced peaches or fresh sweetened peaches
½ pint whipping cream
1 tablespoon sugar
Drop of almond extract
1 pint chilled milk*
Cinnamon or nutmeg
Whipped cream
Mint

Combine defrosted peaches including juice, cream, sugar, salt, and almond extract in electric blender. Beat until mixture is thick and smooth. Pour into pitcher. Add chilled milk and stir until thoroughly mixed. Pour into tall glasses. Top with a spoonful of whipped cream, sprinkle with spice and garnish with fresh mint.

If no blender is available mash peaches with fork or put through food mill. Whip cream. Fold peaches into cream. Proceed as directed above. Makes 4 servings.

If a less rich drink is desired an additional cup of milk may be added. (SH

Week's Best Food Buys

prompts the weekly University of Illinois consumer service to take a long-range outlook. Indications are that consumers will find little change in the food purchasing dollar for the Prevailing market stability balance of the year.

General seasonal abundance of staples, without spectacular pricing gyrations, is an outstanding feature of this summer's marketing pattern. This is pointed up as retailers begin to signal traditional food features for the approaching holiday—hams, fryers, turkeys, beef steaks, luncheon meats, potato chips and other picnic-time trimmings.

THE LONGER-RANGE viewpoint reflects the U of I's regular sampling of 1,100 basic checkpoints—covering growers, shippers, processors, wholesalers and retailers—which week in and week out provide a basis for current consumer information on money-saving, menu-making consensus food values.

The market survey yardstick weighs food availability, quality and prices—the resultant value suggestions indicating the most food-per-serving for dollar spent, based on actual market conditions. Individual promotions that may be based on a special store advantage or policy are discounted in determining any given week's consensus of food value.

Thus it is, for instance, that cuts of meat often considered as high priced can be termed a market buy in preference to lower costing ground beef or short ribs, when measured by the servings-per-pound/cost/quality ratio. In this way, consumers can generally obtain the most mileage from t heir food budgets or plan menus based on prevailing market advantages.

OTHER FACTORS influence market forecasts, too. Current production is evaluated in relation to the—

Increasing population of 1¾ per cent per year; rising consumer income; upward trending marketing costs, and offsetting this—

Cold storage and freezer stocks of 5.3 billion pounds, currently setting a new record high.

Realities of scheduled farm production that augment storage stocks.

MEAT OUTPUT for the balance of 1962 is expected to be slightly larger than a year ago. Cattle on feed is larger generally, but this larger number tends to be offset by lighter weights. On balance, prices will hold at about year-ago levels at least until October or November, before any real price drop can be expected. The total picture suggests that the beef line will probably be the better buy.

Although veal is not considered a major market factor at retail, there will be more of it available from the 4 per cent larger calf crop, but probably not enough extra to change the consumer outlook in most meat departments.

WHILE THERE are at least as many hogs on farms as a year ago, the age distrubtuion is different. Considering that it takes six to eight months to finish a hog for market weight, consumer prices will be about the same as prevailed last year. Any short term variations will be noted from week to week.

Lamb production is less than a year ago, but the count exceeds production averages—to pose a generally steady price outlook for the foreseeable future.

The wail of the turkey industry has been one of over-abundance and depressed prices. The new supply outlook for the September to December period indicates a 10 per cent drop in production, followed by anticipated price increases.

THE FRYER industry also has reversed its field. Since early June, chick placement has been consistently below year ago levels. A reversal of this trend should be considered a possibility, as egg settings are now on the increase. Discounting the egg factor, and considering that it takes from eight to 11 weeks from hatch to market, fryer prices can be expected to prevail well above the level of last summer and fall, allowing for those occasional variations that make it profitable to keep posted on market fluctuations.

The outlook for eggs tells the rest of the story. Total egg and flock production is up, consumer demand is off, and prices are below a year ago. The farm response is the smallest number of replacement chicks on record. This ultimately could raise consumer prices, but not this fall.

IN FRESH produce, potatoes will be cheaper but not as low as was reached because of last year's large crop. While current potato production is 8 per cent below a year ago, the total is a healthy 20 per cent above average according to most estimates.

A smaller crop of apples is on tap for this year compared with last, but retail prices are expected to be about the same.

Frozen vegetables are a total 7 per cent over year ago, and frozen fruits are well above the same period. And there's about 20,000,000 more gallons of frozen orange concentrate.

These key lines point up the abundance factor of fresh and processed fruits and vegetables that generally prevails to help balance the often noted impact of weather and other considerations affecting fresh supplies that change food buying opportunities week to week. (SH

Fragrant Melons Now at Peak of Use

Between now and the end of October there will be a delicious variety of muskmelons, not only the mighty cantaloupe, but smaller amounts of casabas, crenshaws, honeydews and Persians. They should be picked with care to get the prime quality in each type.

A good cantaloupe is covered with a well-raised, coarse, grayish network. The background under this webbing is faintly yellow.

WHEN BUYING honeydew, look for creamy yellow or off-white color and a velvety feeling when you run your hand over it. A too-smooth hard surface indicates that the melon was picked too green.

Color is no indication of ripeness in crenshaws, though a velvety feeling is. They also have a lovely sweet aroma.

While Persian melons should have a bright fresh look, the color and feel aren't important. Even though ripe, a Persian will have little aroma.

CASABAS, TOO, have little aroma, but color is once more a clue to ripeness. It should be mostly yellow with possibly a wash of green at the stem end. If the rind is definitely white-green, the melon was picked while immature.

One sign of ripeness applies to all muskmelons: when melons yield to gentle pressure over-all—a sort of springiness—juicy ripeness has been achieved.

CANTALOUPE FRUIT BOWL

3 small cantaloupes
1 cup fresh blueberries
1½ cups green seedless grapes or seeded grapes in season
2 cups fresh strawberries
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

Wash cantaloupes, cut in half and remove seeds. Combine blueberries and grapes. Spoon into cantaloupe cavities. Wash strawberries. Remove caps and push through a coarse sieve. Add sugar and lemon juice. Spoon over blueberries and grapes. Chill 2 to 3 hours. Garnish each with a whole fresh strawberry and a fresh mint leaf.

Yield: 6 servings.

CANTALOUPE FRUIT SALAD

1 cup diced cantaloupe
½ cup seeded grapes
½ cup sliced fresh strawberries
½ cup sliced bananas
½ cup diced fresh oranges
½ cup diced celery
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
3 tablespoons sour cream
Head lettuce

Chill fruit, drain and combine with celery, lemon rind and sour cream. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with cantaloupe balls.

Yield: 6 servings.

MELON FIESTA

Wash small cantaloupe, cut in half, crosswise and remove seeds. Cut out melon balls from each half, leaving the holes intact. Fill holes with cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelon balls. Sprinkle each with a tablespoon anisette, white wine or grenadine. Serve as appetizer or dessert course.

Yield: Allow ½ cantaloupe per serving. (SH

Cheeseburger Kabob 'OK'ed For Teenage Cookout Fare

Summertime and eating outdoors seem to go together just like teenagers and cheeseburgers. Speaking of the latter combination, here is the answer to a teenage cookout that will top the hit parade.

Prepared before leaving home, these protein-rich meat-cheese kabobs are grilled on a portable barbecue grill or open fire, allowing the cheese centers to melt and the meat to obtain that unbeatable charcoal-grilled flavor. The kabobs are quick to serve and easy to eat in a buttered hotdog bun with your favorite garnish. Raw green onions and quartered tomatoes and green pepper slices lightly grilled on skewers go along well with them.

WITH THE help of a portable cooler it is easy to take along plenty of ice cold milk and chocolate flavored milk drink. A carton of cottage cheese and a can of pineapple slices added to the insulated cooler will make available ingredients for just the right salad. Such a salad will help to add the high quality protein, vitamins and minerals supplied by this popular dairy food.

This cookout idea is not only good for teenage get-togethers—the whole family will love to try these meat-cheese kabobs.

MEAT-CHEESE KABOBS

1½ pounds ground beef
¾ cup uncooked rolled oats
3 tablespoons minced onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
½ cup milk
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ pound sharp American cheese cut into 16 squares
8 buttered hot dog buns

Combine all of the ingredients except the cheese and buns and mix well; chill. Shape meat mixture into 16 meatballs, each one around a square of cheese. Thread meatballs onto skewers sealing meat closely around skewer; chill, if possible.

Broil 4 to 5 inches from glowing coals, turning as needed to brown and cook evenly, 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 8 servings. (SH

Cabbage is rich in vitamin C and since we eat great amounts of this vegetable in the course of the year, it is one of our most important sources of ascorbic acid.

To Arms, Landlady!

Almost any man worthy of his salt would fight to defend his home, but no one ever heard of a man going to war for his boarding house. — Mark Twain.

Mount Emblem
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850
The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctively different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.
"It is better to have it and not need it—
Than to need it and not have it."

LABOR DAY
The coming holiday reminds us that we have achieved greatness as a nation through the strength of our arms and the sweat of our brows.
Let us never forget the dignity of honest labor.

Guidance
"Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it." Psalm 127:1
EVERY year the country observes a National Family Week, the purpose of which is to focus attention on the need to strengthen American family life.
We use the above quotation to illustrate our family unity and strength.
Without religious guidance in the family we can not have a Christian society and, without a Christian society, we have a gang of monsters roaming the streets.
Children learn and develop their pattern of behavior from parents and for this reason parents must show them the way.
Parents must take their children by the hand and walk into church with them. This Sunday attend the church of your choice; attend it with your entire family.

Public Aid Facing Political Onslaught

Economic well-being is needed before social welfare if the problem of public aid is to be met effectively, C. Virgil Martin, former chairman of the Illinois Public Aid Commission, said in an interview with Paddock Publications' editors last week. A full report on the press conference will be published next week.

Martin, president of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., squarely summarizes the public aid "crisis" in this statement. It shows that relief recipients are the victims rather than the cause of the mounting costs of the public aid program.

As Martin notes, we are in the throes of a 20th Century industrial revolution in which machines are increasingly taking the place of humans in the productive process. The great migration from the South can be traced to the automation which had been introduced to the cotton fields. This — even more than the desire for social justice — is driving Negroes up the Mississippi Valley into Chicago and St. Louis in droves.

The myth persists, Martin said, that public aid is a current problem, even though there were one million people on the relief rolls back in 1941.

Because of the belief that public assistance is a relatively new phenomenon, it makes it especially vulnerable to political cynicism. Politicians, aware of its unpopularity and the fact that it has no lobby to defend it, are fond of charging that the relief rolls are made up primarily of chiselers and immoral women.

A classic example was Gov. Otto Kerner's demand for a 10 per cent cut in relief spending at a time when the state payroll continued to rise. An independent Public Aid Commission successfully thwarted the governor's unreasonable edict.

Kerner would like to see the Public Aid Commission abolished and its responsibilities discharged by a code department. Martin's response to this suggestion is typically blunt and realistic: "You can't solve an economic and social problem by changing the bedsheets."

The Public Aid Commission has been remarkably free of scandal; it has maintained an independence in a thankless job which requires a certain freedom of action. Placing its duties under a code department would open the dykes to patronage, and would be extremely attractive to political office holders because of the vast amounts of money and people involved.

It is hoped that Arnold Maremont, the new chairman of the IPAC, will continue the long-range program launched under Martin of education and job retraining in order to make relief recipients self-supporting members of society.

It has to be acknowledged, however, that Maremont, a wealthy Chicago industrialist, was one of Kerner's supporters during the governor's election campaign, and that Kerner unsuccessfully backed Maremont in his bid to be selected as the Democratic party's standard bearer against Republican Sen. Everett Dirksen in the November elections.

Instead of abolishing the Public Aid Commission, it should be strengthened. Martin recommends having one Democrat and one Republican appointed every biennium for six-year terms rather than naming a whole commission every two years. In this way, members could maintain a degree of independence and learn their jobs.

It would be disastrous to the long-term solutions charted for the relief problem; to the cost of the program and, ultimately, to the taxpayer to allow the public aid program to become another political patronage plum for the party in power.

'Eeny-Meeny'

Gov. Otto Kerner recently portrayed two different characters in a role which required approximately the same interpretation. There was Kerner the recluse who refused to commute the death sentence for convicted slayer James Dukes.

Earlier, there was Kerner the actor who appeared in the bright glare of television's klieg lights to spare the life of convicted slayer Paul Crump by means of executive clemency.

In playing his role, Kerner did not appear to be beset by the self-doubt of, say, the melancholy Dane, although the question remained the same: To be or not to be. A cynic might even assume that he resolved the problem more simply by going "Eeny-Meeny."

The governor's even-odd choice of permitting the execution of one man, Vincent Ciucci, allowing the next, Crump, to live, and then ignoring the pleas of the next in line, Dukes, could be interpreted to mean that Dukes' successor to the electric chair has a good chance of survival. The one following this fortunate fellow occupies an unenviable spot, numerically speaking.

There will be those who will criticize Kerner for being inconsistent in sparing Crump and permitting Dukes' life to be snuffed out. But what could be more consistent than the governor's apparent system of having one killed, the next let off, etc.?

In comparing the cases of Paul Crump and James Dukes, there are some interesting facts to consider. Kerner said Dukes received full court consideration; he said the same thing about Crump, yet decided the two cases differently.

Kerner said Crump appeared to be rehabilitated, yet failed to comment on evidence showing that Dukes might also be rehabilitated. (Dukes' attorney claimed his client was "even more" rehabilitated than Crump.)

Dukes expressed remorse for his victim and over what he had done; Crump did not. Dukes' crime was committed in the heat of passion when a detective tried to stop him from beating a woman; Crump killed a plant guard in a crime plotted and planned in advance. One wonders if the intent of the crimes were taken into consideration in weighing their disposition.

Crump had the organs of publicity thumping the drums for him; Dukes did not.

Claude R. Sowle, assistant dean of Northwestern University's Law School and a frequent legal advisor for the governor, commented: "A cynic might say that Dukes died because he was never vicious enough to win the attention, time and support of those whose stature and advancement are enhanced by the working of miracles in the area of criminal rehabilitation."

Whether all these factors were considered is known only to the governor himself. But it appears to the outsider that he is applying a rather simple yardstick which can best be summed up as "Next!"

The seven murderers remaining in death row in Cook County jail are probably jockeying for position now. The foe of capital punishment, Otto Kerner, is going "Eeny-Meeny."

Critic's Corner

Suburbs Lose Their Charm

by JIM CARNS

Back before suburbia got its name, when everybody who lived there had his own well and septic tank and problems, there were a lot of things that made that kind of life worth all the trouble.

The nights were dark without street lights, but even in all the darkness a man could distinguish his house from his neighbor's —and he didn't even have to paint it pink or put a glittering initial on his screen door.

AND THERE were trees in his yard. He had three, let's say, and his neighbor had the same number perhaps; but it's a good bet they weren't the same kind and the same size and in the same position.

HIS HOUSE was perhaps two stories (a bi-level) or three stories (a tri-level), or maybe it didn't have stairs (or ramps) and just sat there smugly ten feet tall.

It might have been set back anywhere from 20 to 200 feet from the road, and with any sort of luck this man could look directly out his side window at something other than his neighbor's side window.

And glamor? His house probably had a barrel of it—the individual kind, not the collective, impersonal kind on an ornate sign two blocks away inscribed "Hollywood Moonlight Vista Manor Estates."

How about today's suburban home? Well, for a fact Hollywood, glamorous as it may be, is more than 2,000 miles away; and the distance from such a home to the nearest estate can probably be figured in miles also.

And hundreds more of these homes are coming in—well marshalled and guarded by scientifically set saplings which will be beautiful shade trees about when urban renewal comes to Arlington Heights.

YEARS AGO the suburbs could probably have been called expansive buffer zones between corn fields and city congestion. Now a primary concern within the suburbs is buffer zones to seperate industrial from residential zones.

But the real rising need is for buffer zones between neighbors. Developers constantly bargain with village officials for favorable annexation conditions. Smaller lot sizes are definitely favorable —to the developer.

Land is at a premium in this area, but building materials don't come so high. The obvious result is more lumber on less land in the form of more houses—for more profit.

Think land is the only thing at a premium? Then consider originality of design.

Going to a party next door? Don't let the exterior variations fool you, you will still know precisely where all light switches, built in appliances and two and a half baths are located.

And if you go three or four houses down the block you probably won't even be confused by the minor exterior variations. Mass production is a wonderful thing.

THE PRACTICALITY of the modern subdivision is overwhelming. Why are the houses bi- or tri-level, two or three stories? If all the many levels were spread out onto the ground, the homeowner would probably have to barbecue on his roof.

The disturbing question is where current trends in suburban dwelling are leading. Will presently undeveloped land be transformed completely to cement, brick and board?

Village planners speak of maintaining the personality of their community through architectural conformity in business districts, but isn't this superficial?

If they are to concentrate so heavily on this area, they should perhaps also set aside grassy areas with trees for use by suburbanites in 10 years when lawns have become past policy.

Chicago has its municipal parks.

Slide Rule Answers

Science Solves All?

by BOB CUMMINS

So great is the American's trust in science, that he is shocked when the slide rule produces two different answers to the same problem.

Such was the case after reports were received from two engineering firms on the effect of Arlington Heights' new storm sewers on flooding along Weller Creek.

Mount Prospect and Des Plaines trustees and aldermen feared that the new storm sewers in Arlington Heights would increase flooding along Weller Creek.

So the engineers went to work.

CUMMINS

Suhr, Peterson, Peterson & Suhr, the firm serving Arlington Heights, reported that the sewers would have little, if any, bad effect.

Greeley & Hansen, the engineers hired by Mount Prospect, concluded from their data and graphs that both the intensity and frequency of flooding would increase.

I hope the scientific community can get together on this thing. Otherwise, we're in for trouble of the sort that may be illustrated by a tableau or two.

TABLEAU I

(A salesman for a firm manufacturing breath analyzers to be used on suspected drunk drivers is in the office of the mayor.)

SALESMAN: This is a revolutionary new device. It will enable you to keep the "brass" in your town happy.

MAYOR: Keep talking, daddy.

SALESMAN: It works this way. Supposing your "brass" is Republican. Then you want our Model 721-R.

With this machine, if your driver is a Republican, you press the "R" button. Now when you do that, the machine will read only .001 even though the guy drank a six-pack of Bullfrog beer, seven martinis and a bottle of Lavoris.

But if you press the "D" button — now get this — the machine reads .25 even though the guy just spiked his tea with a drop of rum! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!

MAYOR: Wonderful! This is wonderful! How did you do it?

SALESMAN: Our engineers devised an intricate series of eccentric cams operating on co-axial bar rags.

TABLEAU II

(The scene is the school superintendent's office. The "chief" and his science teachers are gathered in conference.)

SUPERINTENDENT: Fellows, we're wading in live steam up to our navels. Last month the mayor's son flunked in two subjects, the judge's boy flunked three and mine flunked four! We've got to do something about these report cards!

SCIENCE TEACHER: Eureka! Eureka! I've got it!

SUPERINTENDENT: Come back here, Archimedes, you fool! Don't run out in the street without your clothes on. Now, sit down there and tell us about it.

SCIENCE TEACHER: We can apply Sweeney's Formula to grading the tests. Assuming the mayor's son to be slightly ignorant, and noting his blatant errors of reasoning, represented by k in the equation, then G equals E (YK/EY) where E equals the boy's ignorance and Y equals a passing grade.

SUPERINTENDENT: Does it mean the mayor's son will pass?

SCIENCE TEACHER: Precisely.

SUPERINTENDENT: Archimedes, you have a great future in education. Why, I'm going to talk to Ray Page about you!

2 Executions Contrast Told

(United Press International Reporter Wesley G. Pippert staffed both executions held this year at Chicago's Cook County Jail. Here is his story of the contrast between them.

(UPI)—It doesn't take long for even the electric chair to become common place.

James Dukes died in the electric chair in Cook County Jail last Friday, Aug. 24. He was only the second person to be executed in Chicago in several years. Vincent Ciucci in March was the first.

But the difference in the reaction of the town, the witnesses and even the executioners was almost unbelieveable.

WHEN CIUCCI died, it was front page news in the Chicago newspapers all that day. Dukes rated only the inside in some of the papers.

The several dozen witnesses who saw Ciucci die were frisked three times by officials at Cook County Jail for such things as miniature cameras. Most of them—newsmen—were not allowed even paper and pencil.

Last Thursday, they were given one thorough going over, and jail officials distributed paper and pencils—free.

BUT THE BIGGEST, and most appalling, change was in the newsmen themselves.

There was a tense, quiet pall that seemed to permeate the Ciucci group. No wisecracking, little moving about in the 90 minutes they were gathered together before going into the witness chamber.

Last Thursday night, the newsmen laughed, smoked and talked, even as they walked down the long corridors to the witness chamber. Inside the chamber, there was conversation right up to the moment the hooded Dukes was led into the room and thrust into the chair.

There had been dead silence when Ciucci died. One newsman was overcome.

THE NEWSMEN crowded into the rear of the witness chamber when Ciucci died, leaving the front bench, closest to the chair, almost empty.

This time, they crowded to see how many could get into the front row.

Senator's Senator

Praise Rings For Dirksen

by MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON, (UPI) —Sen. GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, running for a third senate term this year, was honored by his colleagues Wednesday, Aug. 22, as a "senator's senator."

Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., who is retiring from office this year, started the tributes to the 66-year-old Republican floor leader. Bush said Dirksen's 28 years in Congress, 16 in the House and 12 in the Senate, have made his life a "gold mine of political history."

"He is truly a senator's senator and a great American as well," Bush told the Senate.

SENATE Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., joined in praising Dirksen for his "wit and wisdom" and his "scholarly erudition and homespun simplicity."

"There is only one Demosthenes in the senate — one Dirksen," said Mansfield. The Democratic leader noted that he had been the beneficiary of Dirksen's help on many occasions.

Mansfield said that Dirksen had served the GOP brilliantly for 30 years and "our country even more."

Dirksen is given a definite edge this year over his Democratic opponent, Rep. Sidney R. Yates. There have been indications the Kennedy administration will not extend itself to help Yates and defeat Dirksen, who has come to the aid of administration foreign policy proposals—most notable the United Nations bond issue bill.

BUSH CALLED attention to Dirksen's dramatic speech supporting the U.N. bond bill. He also noted that hanging in Dirksen's office is a picture of President Kennedy, a former senator. It is enscribed, "For a valued public servant."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a veteran Republican, praised Dirksen's "real courage and patience." He wished for him a "very large majority in the coming election."

The senior Republican member, Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., also a candidate for reelection this year, told the Senate:

"If I were a resident of Illinois, I'd be out working for Everett Dirksen because this country needs him."

The tributes continued for more than an hour with Republican after Republican, plus an occasional Democrat, heaping praise on the GOP leader.

Senate GOP Whip Thomas H. Kuchel, Calif., Dirksen's deputy, lauded Dirksen as a "responsible voice in the affairs of the country." Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., said "No man in Congress today has been able to achieve the heights of oratory and eloquence that (Dirksen) has achieved."

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., said "In the great things, he has been humble; in the small things he has been great." Prouty said "In each period there are but a few who walk with the strides of giants in affairs of men . . . they are the stars to whom we look for guidance."

SEN. KARL E. Mundt, R-S.D., lauded Dirksen's "energy . . . vision . . . erudition." Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said it was a "privilege and blessing" to have served with Dirksen.

Sens. Hugh Scott, R-Pa.; Norris Cotton, R-N.H.; Everett Saltonstall, R-Mass.; John O. Pastore, D-R.I., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., also joined in as the tributes continued.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., praised Dirksen's leadership ability and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., took note of the minority leader's oratory skill. "He is one of the few public men of our time who understands the virtuosity of words—a successful Senate leader and I think one of the very best we've ever had."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., said all senators could think "better of ourselves because we belong to a community of public service which has produced Everett McKinley Dirksen."

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, added their praise of Dirksen as the tributes continued.

Intentional Fires Menace

House burning is not good practice for firemen, as your August 23 issue states.

Instead, intentional burning of structures is as dangerous as accidental burnings, and both types should be avoided.

Just recently, the Janesville, Wisconsin, fire department set fire to a two story building, "and then battled the flames to save a building across the street as heat resembling a mammoth blow-torch erupted."

Several firemen suffered burns, high tension wires and power transformers were damaged in the street, and to top it all, some fire department vehicles suffered paint blisters from the intense heat!

A COUPLE OF years ago a northwest suburb set fire to a building. Hazardous traffic congestion resulted, neighboring lawns and shrubbery were trampled by on-lookers, and damage to a newly-painted home occurred.

Firemen, regulars and volunteers, have a most vital and valuable service to perform. They are deserving of the maximum of cooperation and assistance. But let's not encourage them to engage in exercises that may be injurious to their lives, and the lives and property of others.

For Homeowner

Garden Guide Is Helpful

GARDENING THE EASY WAY, by Edwin F. Steffek. Pyramid Books. 192 pages. 60 cents.

By MARIANNE SCOTT

Even the city apartment dweller has heard of rotaries and reels, and homeowners can expound on the pros and cons of either, but how many have ever heard of the other two types of mowers—the hammer-knife and the sicklebar?

Does the average homeowner know that most mowers are designed to be used counter-clockwise for easiest mowing, or that plants of questionable hardiness are safer grown on the north side of the house rather than the south or east?

AND MOST gardeners have heard of the new plastic sprays for winter protection of evergreens and the fertilizers that are aprayed on the plant leaves instead of added to the soil, but how many know the difference between organic and inorganic matter and which is best for where?

"Gardening the Eary Way," by Edwin F. Steffek, horticulture editor of Popular Gardening, is a comprehensive, all-season guide from which the beginning gardener as well as the devotee of long standing can garner a few pointers. It is chock full of gardening short cuts, easier ways and down-to-earth solutions to everyday problems.

FOR OWNERS sporting a brand new house and a bigger mortgage this reference work takes up his problems beginning with chapter one, "After the Builder Leaves," and helps him through all his immediate problems plus gives him several pointers on extras such as garden walls, walks, fences, water gardens and driveways.

Rose growing, pruning, and selecting the best trees, bushes, flowers and grass for particular purposes all have a place in this compact, well-organized, readable book that covers every phase of home gardening.

Found: An Authentic Jazz Book

THE SOUND, by Ross Russell. MacFadden Books. 192 pages. 50 cents.

I can think of only two other books — "Young Man With a Horn" and "Really the Blues" — in which the night sounds of jazz come through as clearly and movingly as in "The Sound."

Pseudo-jazz novels with pseudo-hip personalities abound, but in this story of a tormented, larger-than-life Negro genius on the horn, the characters are real, the story valid.

The New Sound

Ross Russell traces the education of Bernie Rich, a talented pianist who was with all the big swing bands before the war and came back to a new scene, with new heroes like Billy Eckstine, Dizzy Gillespie, Charlie Parker — and Red Travers, man with a trumpet.

Bernie finds the new sound confusing and subtly exciting, a whole new concept of phrasing and rhythm. He meets Zaida Desmond, Red's woman, who finds a meaning in life through her complete absorption into the jazz stream.

In and out of the action weaves Hassan, the little Negro drummer who bridges the gap between Red and Bernie — not quite a genius of the new sound yet the next thing to it.

Vividly Real

Throughout the novel the sights and sounds of the hip world are seen and heard with stark clarity. The easy love-making, the release of marihuana and torture of heroine, the smoke-filled nightclubs and sparsely-furnished pads in Harlem.

Anyone with even the slightest interest in jazz will find hard to puttiCMFWYWYCFMPest interest in jazz will find it hard to put this book down, and although the names are changed, this is the true story of an American art form and a moving history of its development.—J.D.

Police Chief Charges Should Be Aired in Public Session

Let's play village.

You be president and campaign to take over the water works.

Why else? Have to have an issue, but the rates are high.

You be police chief. Here's "two pencils and a pad of paper." If you see any bad guys, rub 'em out.

You be police commissioner. Make up the rules for use of the pad and paper — but don't go near the gun powder.

The days wear on; the game grows dull. Then says him of he that he must go or me.

Now this is the way the game of "Village" is played in Hoffman Estates, where an open feud between the chief of police, village president and chairman of the police commission now is being resolved in "closed session" — and the local department not even having the security of a lockup.

FIRST OF ALL, Police Commissioner John McLaughlin has a lot of nerve to get up at a public board meeting, say that Police Chief Mark Orlick should be canned, and then turn around a week later to say the issue will be resolved in "closed session."

As Chief Orlick said, the charges are damaging to the "running of the entire village," and the public has a right to know how this stigma-creating grievance is to be resolved.

And President Edward Pinger! Noble public servant, do you really think enough of your position and responsibilities to jump into the child's game of "it's him or me?"

One man resigning from the board because his was a voice of well-needed dissent is too much even for an unconcerned public to take. Your threat to resign if Chief Orlick is canned is something less than humorous. You did take an oath or something, didn't you?

AND MAYBE the police morale is low. I didn't read where you said you checked into the charges made by commissioner McLaughlin.

And maybe the troops are having trouble because they can't keep up with the type of insignia that the chief may be wearing.

Anyway, one can't help but wonder why there has been a relatively high turnover of police officers on the Hoffman Estates Police Department. And why must the Schaumburg police go to the Elk Grove police for radio service? Isn't there some advantage in having this type of cooperation between Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates?

MAYBE, WHEN things are dull, you can go back and check on how to play by the rules of "Village." And, in checking, if you find the rules are outmoded, then maybe you can get together like nice children do and devise some appropriate regulations.

And remember, when you play in a public playground, there may be some unsympathetic taxpayer watching from beyond the fence. Now maybe these comments are unjustified in view of all the facts that you may have—you who play the game, that is.

But if you "review" the facts where we can all see, the game might really take on meaning.

Prospect Hts. Joins Appeal

Mel Gustadt of Glenview, president of the Kidney Disease Foundation of Illinois, has expressed the gratitude of the foundation membership for KDFI inclusion in the Prospect Heights Annual Appeal as a participating agency.

This non-profit health agency, supervised by a laymen board of trustees and a medical advisory board comprised of local doctors who are prominent in the field of kidney disease, has carried on an ever-broadening program of direct service, medical research, and both public and professional education since its inception, March 2, 1949.

THE FOUNDATION has three "drug banks" in operation in Chicago to serve kidney disease sufferers whose treatment includes prescribed steroid drugs. Two of these banks went into operation in June of this year. Any family fighting kidney disease, regardless of rate (high or low) of income, can obtain an application for registration on the drug bank program by contacting the foundation office, 6501 N. Sheridan Road, telephone ROgers Park 1-7000. The foundation sends an identification card to the patient, enabling purchase of monthly supplies of prescribed steroid drugs at absolute cost. Because these drugs are purchased in large quantities at the national level in cooperation with drug firms, the low cost effected for these drugs represents a tremendous savings to families trying to cope with the various long-term expenses of kidney disease.

To date, the Kidney Disease Foundation of Illinois has furnished more than $200,000 in research centers. Foundation research grants are allocated only to "pilot" projects in the field of kidney disease. Each project must first be reviewed by a medical advisory board at both state and national levels for worthiness of support; possible duplication of effort; and elimination of any other source of support...to avoid any waste of research dollars. Although research efforts are international in scope, the causes and cures of almost all serious kidney diseases are still a mystery.

A NEW FACTOR in KDFI's public education program is the recently printed 22-page booklet, "Your Kidneys - Master Chemists of the Body," which is available free of by contacting the foundation office. This booklet was written and supervised by doctors eminent in the field of kidney disease.

The Kidney Disease Foundation of Illinois is on record with the Better Business Bureau of Chicago and has recently applied for membership with both the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry. KDFI is also an affiliate of the National Kidney Disease Foundation and a member of both the Advertising Council and the National Information Bureau.

In order to help gain the necessary funds for its over-all program (and avoid the high cost of individual campaigns) the Kidney Disease Foundation of Illinois recently sought support from suburban united including Prospect Heights Annual Appeal are helping to support this agency.

'Saint' Lacks Vitality

IMMIGRANT SAINT, THE LIFE OF MOTHER CABRINI, by Pietro Di Donato. A Chapel Book, by Dell Publishing Co. 319 pages. 60 cents.

By JOAN METTE

It is difficult for sinners to understand the burning ardor and devotion of a saint. Pietro Di Donato in his biography of Mother Cabrini, the United States' first canonized saint, attempts to convey this to his readers and fails.

He resorts to flowery, psuedo-poetic phrasing. ". . . bud forth as the rose planted by the brooks of waters, give ye a sweet odor as frankincense. Send forth flowers as the lily, and yield a smell, and bring forth leaves in grace . . . " does little to convey the true spiritual experience to the worldly reader.

Instead of letting the story of a truly remarkable woman carry its message, De Donato insists on driving his points home with didactic messages of his own.

This is particularly true of the first part of the book as Francesca Cabrini is growing and developing. She is portrayed as such a saintly, subservient girl that a non-saintly reader finds it difficult to make any identification with her. The inner steel that must have been there for the accomplishments of her later life is missing.

When Di Donato is on the surer footing of the actual accomplishments of Mother Cabrini's work among the immigrants of the United States, he drops much of the offensive overly poetic, overly explanatory. Mother Cabrini did so much that perhaps the author just didn't have the space to expound on his own.

The true story of the work of Mother Cabrini is fascinating. It's the saving grace of this book. Most readers will find the chronicle of her work and travels exciting in themselves. Certainly the biography is well documented and thorough.

However, even this section is spotty. The author seemed to have difficulty in deciding on a style. He switches from first person narrative to third person descriptive, from past tense to present tense, from stream of conscious to simple direct. It's just too much of everything.

It is to be hoped that another author will take up the story of Mother Cabrini and this time do it justice.

Insecticides Are Dangerous

Mr. Daniels, I believe you are wrong when you say insecticides are dangerous only to those who carelessly and thoughtlessly use chemical sprays. Just ask an allergist about this and you will get a true report. For instance, Dr. Theron G. Randolph, M.D. of Evanston has many many patients who wouldn't dare touch a chemical and who must take great pains to avoid breathing them or they become seriously ill, even when the so-called "experts" of the mosquito abatement company are handling the sprays in the cities and towns. Many of his patients become so ill just from one "whiff" of a spray that they have to be hospitalized, due to sensitiveness to chemicals in the air and on our foods. How many hundreds of others, also, must be made ill from chemicals but do not realize this is the reason. Read Dr. Randolph's book "Human Ecology and Susceptibility to the Chemical Environment." This doctor is only one of many who have spent years of extensive study on this subject.

WE CANNOT believe statistics either if they are directed by or connected in any way with chemical companies. They will say anything in order not to lose a customer. For example, when I wrote a letter to my children's school complaining about their contaminating the air of the rooms with fly spray just before the young children enter school they answered ridiculously that the salesman "claims it is so harmless he would drink a bottle of it himself." Yet it does kill insects!

Let's leave nature alone, Mr. Daniels, so she can get back into balance. God knows what He is doing—Man does not.

Village Faces Water Crisis

Where is the water going from the Palatine area wells, ranging from 130 to 250 feet deep. In the last two years the water table has dropped from 35 to 40 feet. Home owners have been forced to resort to large expenditures of money to put in larger and larger deep-wells, pumps and sink the intake pipes deeper and deeper into their wells.

At the rate of withdrawal (approximately 20 feet a year at current rate) from this shallow well pool, in eight to ten years all users of water at this depth, including Palatine municipal wells tapping this strata, will be out of water. What then?

If the municipality of Palatine goes ahead with their plans to put down an even larger capacity well and pumping system, the date on which wells will dry up in this area may be advanced as much as three to four years.

CAN IT BE that the city fathers of Palatine are so short sighted that they are willing to spend thousands and thousands of dollars on wells with only a few years life expectancy? This is saying nothing of the problems that individual well owners will experience.

What will happen to the countryside areas like Inverness, Plum Grove Estates, Plum Grove Woods and others who depend on individual home wells for domestic water supply. Where will these areas get their water? Can each homeowner afford the cost of driving a well to the 1000 to 1200 foot depth? The only ones to profit from Palatine's short-sighted policy will be the well drillers who will be assured of a continued work load for many years to come.

THERE APPEARS to be no way anyone can prevent Palatine from draining this precious water pool with their big wells and pumping systems. Economics alone should prove to the Palatine city officials the fallacy of their short-sighted planning.

It appears that it would be more economical in the long run for Palatine to sink their wells, as other municipalities in the area are doing, to the deeper water stratas beyond 1200 feet where there is a much larger water pool and would not endanger the smaller individual wells that must depend on this shallower pool for their domestic supply. In the long run it would certainly cost the village of Palatine much less.

Foxy Gentlemen Kid on Taxes?

Re: your Aug. 9 issues on tax discussions by Mr. McGrew and Redmond.

Now who are those two foxy gentlemen kidding? The two most important facts — and very understandable to any normal mind — were left out. They are: (1) Give in figures the new taxable sources, to be included in 1962 tax rates. Or in common language — how many new homes, businesses, etc. will be first taxed in 1962? Also other sources. (2) How much of old taxes are off the books — or reduced?

THERE ARE many, many other "things" besides "services" which raise our taxes. Payrollers for instance, per the ample publicity exposing this unnecessary work procedure. "Temporary help" laws are needed.

Oh! It would be wonderful if you'd make an outline in names and titles of our Republican and Democrat machines. The secret "cell" informer and worker in each block — so gullible citizens would wake up! A sucker swallows most anything!

People who pay to shop

Most retailers, we suspect, would shudder at the idea of charging customers an admission fee to shop in their stores.

Yet, we do it regularly. Readers buy this paper for the news and features, but they also buy it to see your advertising. They want to know what you are selling, what your prices are, and compare this with what another merchant is advertising.

Readers are shoppers, and people who pay to shop, shop to buy.

Your advertising reaches them as an invited guest. They study it at their leisure, and they will respond if what you have to say interests them.

Who measures this paying audience?

As members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, we submit our circulation records to regular inspection by traveling ABC auditors. This is an organization of nearly 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers, whose sole purpose is to give accurate and factual circulation reports.

ABC measures our circulation audience, in accordance with the highest industry standards.

Its reports tell how many shoppers buy our paper, where they buy it, what they pay, and many other facts to help you know our paying audience.

For full details on the people who pay to shop, ask to see a copy of our latest ABC report.

Invest In YOURSELF!

GABRIEL RICHARD LEADERSHIP COURSE TO BE GIVEN IN ARLINGTON HEIGHTS THIS FALL

DO YOU WANT TO BE MORE CONFIDENT . . . MORE SURE OF YOURSELF? Have you considered what you could accomplish if you were able to stand in front of any person or audience and convey your thoughts as easily as if you were conversing with friends?

THE GABRIEL RICHARD LEADERSHIP COURSE CAN DO THIS FOR YOU. It develops your unused abilities. It makes it possible for you easily and without temerity to give what's in your mind to other people, because it is a unique participation course.

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE? Because it is a "Learn by Doing" course. You participate from start to finish.

THE GABRIEL RICHARD LEADERSHIP COURSE IS FUN! Cross out of your mind any preconceived ideas. The course is absolutely absorbing and fascinating. You will enjoy every minute of it and wind up each session eager for the next one to start. As you go through the nine action-packed evenings, you will see yourself progressing as you would not have believed possible. Thousands of people like you have taken the course, some of whom were too embarrassed to stand up and say their names. It has made them into competent speakers — eager to participate and able to express their views.

HOW MUCH IS THE GABRIEL RICHARD LEADERSHIP COURSE WORTH? Many say it is the most valuable thing that has ever come into their lives — has changed them and what they do completely. But what does it cost? Tuition which includes all reference materials, is $22.50. A special rate of $8.00 for second member of family! The course is a non-profit operation.

THE GABRIEL RICHARD LEADERSHIP COURSE will be held at St. Viator High School for nine weeks beginning Friday, September 21 at 7 P.M. Subsequent sessions will begin at approximately 7:00 P.M. each Friday.

If Friday nights are bad for you, DON'T give up on the course as it will be held at various locations on other nights of the week, including downtown Chicago (Conrad Hilton Hotel).

Remember — There is never any obligation to continue the classes after the first session. FOR REGISTRATION or further information contact:
